PRESSURE ON MADRID INCREASES City Now In State Of General Panic LOYALISTS THREATENING MASSACRE OF FASCISTS

Avila, Nov. 9.

Resistance by the Spanish Government forces and General Francisco Franco's desire to do as little damage to Madrid as possible, are considered the reasons for the delay in the capture of the capital; but insurgent circles here state that the Nationalist pressure is growing minute by minute.—Reuter Special.

WILL FIGHT TO GRIM END

Madrid, Nov. 9.

Instructions have been issued by the militia commanders that in the event of the insurgents entering the capital every inhabitant must be provided with bottles of petrol which must be set alight and thrown from the roof-tops against the invaders.

Secondly, it is ordered that persons belonging to the Fascist "column" still remaining in Madrid must be immediately annihilated if the rebels enter the city.

Civilians must organise street fighting and assist in trench digging and barricade building and the inhabitants must convert their houses into fortresses which must only be sold dearly.—Reuter Special.

Embassy Statement

London, Nov. 9.

The Spanish Embassy here has made contact with the Government in Madrid, and at 2 p.m. to-day was informed that the insurgents had made no appreciable advance during the past 24 hours.—Reuter.

Methodical Occupation

Rabat, Nov. 9.

The occupation of Madrid is proceeding methodically, according to a Seville radio despatch which says that although the Government militia is putting up a determined resistance, the insurgent advance guards have taken the principal bridges across the Manzanares River, and have entered the capital proper from the south-west.—Reuter.

Complete Panic

Madrid, Nov. 9.

Reuter's correspondent here states that the inhabitants of the capital are now in a complete state of panic, generally. Shells are falling at the rate of three per minute around the Government's defences. Both the War Office and the Opera House are packed with high explosives and a direct hit on either building would mean the end of a large portion of Madrid.

The Casa de Campo, the former private park of the Kings of Spain, is now largely in the hands of the insurgents.

Aircraft have lately dropped 17 bombs on the Salamanca quarter, and 27 were killed or wounded during the bombing of Valdecas, five miles to the south-west of Madrid.—Reuter.

Fresh Troops

Gibraltar, Nov. 9.

An insurgent cruiser and aeroplanes are transporting thousands of fresh, regular troops from Morocco to the Spanish mainland.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Convicts To Fight

Hendaye, Nov. 9.

A Madrid radio message says the Government intends to open the goals and release convicts, enabling them to join in the defence of Madrid. Rightist planes are reported to have bombed Bilbao, one missile striking a crowd leaving church and inflicting many casualties.—United Press.

Oil Tanks Afire

Gibraltar, Nov. 9.

Flames over 500 feet high can be seen leaping from blazing oil tanks at Almeria. It is believed that the tanks were set on fire by a bombardment by insurgent aircraft and the cruiser Canarias. It is stated that four large tanks containing roughly a million gallons of petrol and Diesel oils are blazing. The tanks are situated on the north mole, owned by the Campsa Company, which carries a monopoly for oil distribution in Spain.

ORGANISING AIR ATTACK

Bombs are also reported to have fallen on the Company's gasometers and power station which supply Almeria with gas and electricity.—Reuter.

New Flag In Berlin

Berlin, Nov. 9.

The National red and gold flag has been hoisted at the Spanish Embassy here, where the former Ambassador, Senor Agramonte, who resigned representation of the Madrid Government in July, has again assumed control on behalf of General Franco.

It is officially stated that Senor Agramonte will, for the present be regarded merely as "a foreigner of distinction".—Reuter.

Commander Wounded

Lisbon, Nov. 9.

Colonel Castellan, commander of one of the insurgent columns attacking Madrid, is reported to have been wounded. He is, however, said to be recovering.—Reuter Special.

Tilden Advocates "Open" Tournaments Otherwise Amateur Sport Will Probably Decline

"I believe the time has come when a voice, and not a weak one will be raised, not by the International Federation; not by Great Britain, who naturally desires to protect its Wimbledon; nor by the little group of clubs in New York and Forest Hills; nor by the two or three little Associations in France and elsewhere, but by those tennis players all over the world, who will tell the International Federation that the time has come for open tennis tournaments with amateurs and professionals competing together."

LEWIS WHIPS HARVEY

CORNISHMAN FAILS IN TITLE BOUT OUTPOINTED BY NEGRO

Wembley, Nov. 9.

In the Empire Stadium to-night, before a crowd of 12,000 persons, Len Harvey, the Cornish veteran, fought through 15 gruelling rounds with the American negro, John Henry Lewis, for the light-heavyweight championship of the world, and lost the decision. He was outpointed by the title-holder.

Lewis weighed 172 and Harvey 173 pounds. Harvey started the fight with an advantage; Lewis had a damaged right eye before he came into the ring and it was heavily plastered.

The Cornishman led off with a straight left and hooked and boxed confidently. Lewis was several times warned for holding infractions during the first six rounds, and Harvey was warned when, after the referee had spoken to both men, he hit out at Lewis.

Harvey at first concentrated on his opponent's head, causing the negro's seconds to work over his eye between rounds.

SUPERB DEFENCE

Lewis changed his tactics, finally, and concentrated on Harvey's body, for the other was boxing superbly and allowing few openings. Lewis fought in close, where Harvey was slightly quicker than the challenger.

Harvey, with a long, hard left, prevented many of the American's rushes, but Lewis twice got through and knocked back the Cornishman's head, following up with a right hand hook that was just off the mark. The challenger was boxing beautifully all this time, and particularly in the eighth round when he checked the American's offensive.

GUARDS HIS EYE

Lewis was guarding his damaged eye closely now. Harvey, after manoeuvring, feinted and struck when Lewis dropped his guard, and landed an inch or two under the bad eye, on the cheek.

Lewis got Harvey in a corner and caught him with a left to the jaw and a right to the head as he rebounded from the ropes. The fight was tedious at this stage.

The tenth and eleventh rounds were fought at very close range. Harvey had a damaged left eye, which was badly swollen and almost closed. Lewis blocked and cuffed with open gloves.

FOUGHT TOE-TO-TOE

In the fourteenth round they stood and slugged toe-to-toe. Lewis had the better of the exchange in the first furious spate, but Harvey stung his opponent with straight lefts to the face. The pace was terrific. Harvey landed a left and right to the champion's jaw. The Cornishman hooked repeatedly and perfectly into the American's ribs.

The fifteenth started in whirling fashion. Harvey landed a right with a sickening thud and Lewis staggered and appeared badly dazed. Harvey continued to punish him with lefts and rights to the head.

Thus did William T. Tilden envisage the future of first-class competitive tennis in delivering a thought provoking speech at a complimentary dinner held under the auspices of the Hongkong L.T.A. last evening. Tilden also forecast that unless there was future co-operation between the professional and amateur ranks of tennis, and the official amateur bodies were prepared to relax their antagonism towards professionalism, the world's best amateur players would become absorbed into the professional ranks so that famous stadiums such as the Stade Roland Garros and Forest Hills would be empty and would become white elephants.

Tilden also stressed how essential it was for young players like Budgie, Henkel, Quist, McGrath, Hare, Wilde, Tuckey and others, who were now on the verge of competing with the leading amateur players of the immediate past. Unless they were afforded such opportunity, these players could not hope to raise their game to the standard which it should become.

In paying a tribute to the efforts of the Hongkong L.T.A. in arranging for him and Vines to give exhibitions, Tilden said such a gesture was quite likely to be the thin edge of a driving wedge, the effect of which would be felt all over the world and would make an important contribution towards bringing about open tennis tournaments.

The speech is reported in full on page 8, and is special to the Telegraph.

FASCISM WILL SURVIVE BRITISH LEADER PROMISES

London, Nov. 9.

"No lawyer's tricks can extinguish Fascism," declared Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the British Fascists, in a speech at Birmingham.

Sir Oswald said the Government were taking action against the victims, instead of the aggressors, and he emphasised that the abolition of the black shirt would not hurt their movement.—Reuter Special.

BILL INTRODUCED

London, Nov. 9.

The House of Commons to-day gave formal first reading to the Public Order Bill prohibiting the wearing of political uniforms in connection with political objects and the maintenance of associations of a military character.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

Scots Steal Wallace's Great Sword

Stirling, Nov. 9.

Four masked Scottish nationalists to-day locked the curator in a side room of the National Wallace Monument, smashed the glass of the case and stole the great sword Sir William Wallace used when he expelled the English from Scotland after the Battle of Stirling Bridge in 1297.—United Press.

PRIEST KILLED

News has been received that the Rev. J. Novak, O.P., uncle of Fr. F. R. Novak, O. P., Procurator of the Spanish Dominicans, who has been resident in Hongkong for many years, has been killed by the Reds in Madrid. He was an old man of seventy-five years of age, and it is stated that he was put to death for no reason than that he was a priest. Fr. Novak has also a brother a parish priest in Madrid and he fears that he may have met with a similar fate.

MARITIME STRIKE SPREADS

SHIPYARDS JOIN WALK-OUT NEGOTIATIONS RESUMED

New York, Nov. 9.

The maritime strike has spread to San Francisco's shipyards, the Joint Strike Committee to-day announcing the walk-out of approximately 6,000 workers from the three Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation plants.

Ships strike-bound on Pacific coast are being allowed to proceed to their home ports.

New York harbour was calm during the week-end. The strikers assert over 200 vessels and 17,000 men are idle in Atlantic and Gulf ports alone, but ship-owners say these figures are exaggerated and that only 11 ships are actually tied up.

Meanwhile, Mr. F. W. McGrady, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Labour, announces the resumption of conferences between ship-owners and at least one of the striking unions.—Reuter.

Fisheries Convention Achieved RUSSO-JAPANESE AGREEMENT

Moscow, Nov. 9.

It is learned that the Russo-Japanese Fisheries Convention will be initiated to-morrow, and probably signed on November 20.

The conclusion of the Convention after two years of the most difficult negotiations, is regarded as an important step towards the improvement of Soviet and Japanese relations.—Reuter.

N. E. I. EXPORT IMPOST

RUBBER IS TO PAY NEW TAX

Batavia, Nov. 9.

A bill introduced into the People's Council provides for an export duty of two per cent. on certain Netherlands East Indies' products, including rubber.

Exempted products include leather, nutmeg, white pepper, husked rice, resin, timber, coffee, gambir, ethereal oils, sugar, tobacco, rattan, gold and silver.—Reuter.

ONE SURVIVOR PICKED UP CABIN BOY SAYS WHOLE CREW PERISHED

London, Nov. 9.

A message from the survivor picked up from the Hamburg-America freighter, Isis, is a seventeen-year-old cabin boy.

The boy reports that the Isis was founded, about 200 miles from Land's End, and it is believed that the crew of 39 is drowned.—Reuter Special.

Able to Proceed Home After Attention

BALDWIN SPEAKS AT LORD MAYOR'S ENTERTAINMENT

London, Nov. 9.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the former Prime Minister, collapsed in a faint at Mansion House to-night, during speeches at the Lord Mayor's banquet.

He received attention from Lord Dawson of Penn, and thereafter was able to walk to his car leaning on the arm of a policeman, and to drive to his home.

Traditional magnificence characterised the Lord Mayor's banquet. Loud cheers were given for Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, as he made his way through the brilliantly uniformed crowd of guests.

In a speech after dinner Mr. Baldwin said that Great Britain would support all attempts made to reduce the obstacles in the way of international trade. She had already made a contribution to this end by undertaking not to indulge in competitive devaluation and by her non-exclusive imports policy.

After welcoming the new Anglo-Italian trade agreement, the Prime Minister said the two nations' relations in the Mediterranean were not divergent but complementary. It was unnecessary to say, as much as usual about foreign policy, he added, seeing that it was recently explained in the House of Commons. But one matter was engaging the particular attention of the Government: namely, the Locrano Conference.

PERRY TO EARN FAT SALARY

BACKED BY FORMER DAVIS CUP MEN

ON ROAD TO HOLLYWOOD

This conference, he said, Britain hoped would constitute the first step in a European settlement.

He was particularly gratified, said Mr. Baldwin, at the similarity of the British and American economic policies, which were designed to liberate the world from the shackles now impeding international trade. They took particular exception to the restrictions on trade instituted during the world's depression, and both had a keen desire to help the cause of world peace.

Aid To Stability

The Anglo-Egyptian treaty, declared the Prime Minister, should constitute an enduring element of stability in the eastern Mediterranean. He welcomed Egypt as a new ally, he said, amid cheers.

With regard to Spain, Great Britain will continue playing a prominent part in persuading both sides to avoid unnecessary suffering for the civil population of the land.

Greeting the Polish Foreign Minister, Colonel Jozef Beck, who is at present visiting London, Mr. Baldwin said he looked forward to close Anglo-Polish collaboration.

In conclusion, the Prime Minister dwelt upon the inconceivable folly of the whole of Europe piling up arms and thereby delaying the recovery of international trade on which, alone, could the improvement of the conditions of the people of Europe be based.

"I am prepared to devote all efforts, regardless of costs, to our defence, but I am conscious all the time of the folly of all of us," he declared.—Reuter.

His first contest will be against Vines on June 1, 1937.

The English star has signed up with Hunter and Voshell for competitive play only and has reserved for himself all other rights and privileges as a professional. At the moment he is en route to Hollywood by train.—Reuter.

It is noteworthy that Mr. Tilden has further predicted that England's loss of Perry on the Davis Cup team will cost the nation that trophy. Moreover, the veteran master of the sport has asserted that Vines and Hans Nusslein will "murder" Perry when they meet him in professional tennis.

Big Year For Labour

ROOSEVELT MAKES PROMISES

Washington, Nov. 9.

President F. D. Roosevelt to-day predicted that the coming year would be an outstanding one in the annals of Labour legislation.

Delivering a message to the third National Conference on Labour Legislation, he said he believed the United States had just given a mandate to the legislators and executives of the country for the adoption of this much-needed labour legislation. He believed the mandate directed the legislators to proceed along these lines until the workers in every station throughout the country were assured of decent working conditions.—Reuter.

OPPOSITION'S CRITICISM

London, Nov. 9.

The House of Commons, by 369 votes to 125, rejected the official Labour amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The amendment, inter alia, denounced the means test and regretted the absence of proposals necessary to create a Socialist Commonwealth.—Reuter.

Tichborne Case

ARTHUR ORTON, reputed son of a London butcher, in 1865 announced himself Roger Tichborne, heir to rich Tichborne estates, believed lost at sea, 1854. Roger's mother persuaded herself claimant was her son. Chancery action ended 1874 with non-suiting of plaintiff, who was sent to penal servitude for 11 years. Many of his contemporaries still believe he was Roger Tichborne.

BRITISH 'PLANES FOR TURKEY Benefit To Trade After The King's Visit

NEGOTIATIONS are in progress between the Turkish Government and British aeroplane manufacturers for the supply of British aircraft for the re-equipment of the Turkish Air Force.

"The negotiations have followed the King's recent visit to Turkey," it was stated at the Turkish Embassy in London recently, and there is every reason to believe that there will be further developments in Anglo-Turkish trade.

When Prince of Wales, the King, speaking at a dinner of the Royal Society of Arts, and referring to his world travels, declared:

"I am very proud of having been called Britain's commercial traveller."

The present negotiations are of the greatest importance, as since the war trade with Turkey has been difficult.

Although there have always been a number of British-made aeroplanes in the Turkish Air Force, the greater number have been supplied by France and the United States.

Attempt On High Record 'PLANE WITH SPECIAL ENGINE

By An Aeronautical Correspondent

An attempt to improve upon the height record figure established by Squadron Leader F. R. D. Swin last month, will be made during the next three or four weeks.

A second aeroplane, which has been built for high flying, is being prepared; but it may not be used for the attempt. It differs from the first machine in many ways, and is fitted with a Rolls-Royce Kestrel Special liquid-cooled engine.

The calculated service ceiling of the first machine is 54,000ft. At this height the rate of climb should fall below 100ft. per minute. It should, therefore, be possible to obtain a height of over 54,000ft. if the conditions are good, and everything goes according to plan. The existing record is a little below 50,000ft.

ECHO OF GREAT LAWSUIT

By CLIFFORD LEWIS

ALONE in a dingy bed-sitting-room, a sad-eyed woman of 70 told me a story that brought back echoes of the greatest sensation of Victorian times—the Tichborne case.

She is known as Mary Agnes Theresa Doughty Tichborne and is the daughter of Arthur Orton who was sentenced to 14 years penal servitude for claiming to be Sir Roger Doughty Tichborne and to have the right to the family fortune, title and estates.

From May, 1873, to February, 1874, this famous case lasted, filling the newspapers and exciting our parents, and running up a bill of £250,000.

This woman who has so close a connection with one of the most expensive litigations known, opened her purse before me. Three coppers fell out.

"That's all I have in the world," she said, "except my memories—and my story. Let me tell it to you."

Fight for Father

And then this grey-haired woman who lives in a bed-sitting room in a quiet village outside London told me how for 30 years she has been fighting to prove the innocence of her dead father.

"I was seven when my father went to prison," she said. "When he was released I kept house for him and later, as his secretary, I toured theatres and lecture halls. After that we had very little money, so I decided to go on the stage."

The 70-year-old daughter of Arthur Orton smiled sadly.

"I was a beautiful girl, then," she said, "fair, with good colouring and a fine figure."

She told me of the times when she sold flowers outside Burlington Arcade, carrying a basket with her name upon it.

"People used to argue with me in the street about my father's case, I did not mind."

Refused to Marry

She never married. "I did not want to," she explained. "I wanted to devote my whole life to my father's case."

'Duce Names His Successor—Count Ciano

Berlin, Oct. 25. Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Mussolini's son-in-law, is to visit Berlin shortly, to see Hitler.

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt publishes the statement that Count Ciano is to be appointed Italian Prime Minister in the near future. Mussolini holds the titles of Prime Minister, "Duce" (leader), and head of the Government.

"Count Ciano," says the newspaper, "whom Mussolini thus indicates as his successor, will also continue to hold the office of Foreign Minister."—Reuter.

FILM ACTRESS INJURED

Hollywood, Oct. 14. Miss Claudette Colbert received a slight basal fracture of the skull when she collapsed to-day on return to work after a motor-car accident last month.—Reuter.

Life to establishing my father's innocence.

This fragile woman, even in recent days, has saved her scant coppers so that she might visit London and consult museum records in the hope that she might alight on some clue which would prove her father's case.

For the last 15 years she has worked as a sempstress and lately as a cook, but "I am too lame now to be a cook," Arthur Orton's daughter looked up at me with a fragile gesture. "God knows," she said, "what I can do now."

Insured Persons' "Bottle Habit" MILLIONS MORE PRESCRIPTIONS

An increase of millions in the number of prescriptions dispensed for insured persons, attributed to the growth of the "bottle habit," was mentioned by Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister of Health, at the conference at Bournemouth recently of the National Association of Insurance Committees.

In 12 years, he stated, the number of prescriptions issued in England and Wales had increased to 62,400,000, and the total cost from £1,325,000 to £2,100,000. The increase was out of all proportion to the increase in the insured population. "The matter was being considered jointly by the Ministry of Health and the British Medical Association."

The country was still a long way from a condition of things with which a Minister of Health could be satisfied.

"The steady increase in the number of open spaces and places for recreation is one of the best signs of the times." It is a good thing in my judgment, that some millions were spent on recreation grounds and swimming pools last year. We want more of both.

BODILY FITNESS

"All these things help to bring about that cult of bodily fitness which is in the interest of a healthy race and a happy and profitable life."

He believed that when the Government's plans for the coming session of Parliament were announced, a Bill to deal with the gap between school-leaving and the entry of youths into insurance would be included.

Sir Kingsley Wood gave the conference "a first-hand account" of the recent serious outbreak of enteric fever at Bournemouth, Poole and Christchurch. The outbreak caused the illness of over 500 people and about 40 deaths.

"The outbreak is now ended," he said, "and, except for a few secondary cases, we have seen the last of this tragic occurrence. Within a few hours of the arrival of Dr. Shaw, of the Ministry, it became established that milk was the cause of the infection. All primary cases of typhoid fever in the three boroughs consumed raw milk from one dairy which received milk from several farms. Pasteurisation of the milk immediately cut short the outbreak."

Gigantic switches and transformers will soon control the world's greatest flow of low-cost power from Boulder Dam across 200 miles of mountain and desert into Los Angeles. In above photo the final connection is being made on one of the huge transformers, six of which have been installed.

BRITAIN GAINS LEAD IN VAST FILM MERGER

By A Special Film Reporter

TWO statements, issued last month, have brought to a climax the four-months' battle for control of the £13,000,000 Gaumont-British Corporation.

Said Mr. John Maxwell, chairman of Associated British Pictures:

"Negotiations between Messrs. Ostrer and Associated British Pictures in regard to Gaumont-British have been proceeding for some time with a view to preventing it from passing under foreign control. Negotiations are now practically completed and a joint statement of the position will be issued on Monday."

Said Gaumont-British: "It is not accurate to say that a deal has been completed between Gaumont-British and Mr. John Maxwell. Discussions are proceeding. The outcome of these will, it is expected, be the subject of a joint statement early next week."

The proposed £50,000,000 film merger between Gaumont-British, Fox-Twentieth-Century, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been the subject of statements and counter-statements since the end of June, when it was first announced.

The Atlantic has been crossed alternately by the Schencks (American interests) and the Ostrers (British).

Details have been announced, only to be denied. Questions have been asked in the House of Commons.

All-British?

Latest statements at least seem to indicate that British interests have finally replaced American interests, though it is still possible that a court case may follow an all-British deal.

The whole transaction has been a case of the tortoise and the hare.

—John Maxwell being the tortoise.

Four years ago, any one suggesting that John Maxwell, with his relatively small and struggling business, could possibly negotiate with the Ostrers for control of Gaumont would have been laughed at.

But year by year Mr. Maxwell has plodded on, gradually improving his position: reducing bank loans; strengthening his finances.

Associated British now have an invested capital of around £15,500,000, against £13,750,000 in the case of the Gaumont company.

The transaction involves the purchase by Mr. Maxwell's company of the controlling share interest owned by the Ostrer Brothers in the Metro-Goldwyn and Bradford Trust.

The trust owns 2,915,000 Ordinary shares of 10s. each of the Gaumont Company.

More On Monday

Mr. Sidney Kent, president of Fox-Twentieth-Century, is in London. He told me that he, too, would be making a statement later.

Gaumont-British Picture Corporation own 350 cinemas and cafes in England.

Cinemas owned or controlled by Associated British Picture Corporation number 263.

It is also the parent company of British International Pictures at Elstree.

MYSTIC DIDATOR

Although a statesman and a great economist, Oliveira Salazar, a great philosopher and a great moral philosopher, he admits drawing inspiration from Maurras, at present the most active and belated exponent of the royalist idea in France. He does not share Maurras's "royalist obsession," but he does share with him the difference between democracy and demagoguery and the evil wrought by the confusion of these two terms. "We all love the people," he said, "but just because we love it we cannot allow the dispersion of government. Social science teaches that regimes change and vary with times and conditions. There is no ideal political order good for all times and all peoples. On the other hand, there are certain fundamental principles without which true government is impossible and which are applicable in all regimes."

I wanted to know his explanation of the fact that all modern dictators come from the ranks of the people. "It may be a simple coincidence," he said, admitting, however, that this fact raised a number of interesting problems. "It is just possible that the upper classes have exhausted their mission. For the rest, no social class forms a closed community today. The nobility is rejuvenating by drawing fresh blood from the lower classes."

He feels that we pay too much attention to learning to-day. Learning does not necessarily make for happiness. One may be illiterate and yet be very happy. "They mistake learning for intelligence," he declared, "and erudition for culture. Erudition is within everybody's reach but it does not mean much. Culture, on the contrary, is the development of intelligence which alone can teach man how to cope with the fundamental problems of life."

Mr. Salazar shares the view of many statesmen that the study of the classics is an essential element of true culture. The linguistic perfection of Greek and Latin is a moral

KEELUNG AFFAIR GOVERNMENT VIEWS MATTER SERIOUSLY

London, Nov. 9. Charles Cawyer asked what satisfaction the Foreign Secretary received in reply to his representations of ill-treatment to British sailors. Lord Cranborne, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, on behalf of Mr. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, said the Foreign Secretary intends to take the earliest opportunity of making a full statement on the incident. The Government were still in discussion with the Japanese Government and he was therefore unable to make a statement to-day. Mr. Winston Churchill asked when Mr. Eden was likely to make his statement. Lord Cranborne replied that Mr. Eden fully recognised the seriousness of the question. The statement would be made at the earliest opportunity. —Reuter.

teaching by itself. The ancient knew how to think well and how to control their thoughts well. One cannot study Latin without thinking logically. And it is most essential for men to think well because they cannot know everything. Mr. Salazar believes. According to this principle the Portuguese dictator thinks a long time before he writes something, but once he sits down to write it is the final version. He very seldom corrects anything in his proofs. "True culture," he concluded, "does not consist in stuffing the brain with notions but in shaping the mind and notions to observe, think and draw its own conclusions. I excuse my younger secretaries from knowing much but I insist that they think."

ACTION FOR LIBEL CHINESE PAPER SUED BY SPORTS WRITER

A libel action, claiming $954 as damages, was brought by Leung Kam-hoo, of 280 Tai Nam Street, third floor, against the Tai Chuen Yat Po before Mr. Justice J. J. P. Braga.

The plaintiff also claimed $10 as balance of wages for the month of June, 1936, $30 for one month's wages in lieu of notice, and $9 for one month's food allowance, thus bringing the total amount of his suit to $1,000.

Mr. F. I. Zimmerman appeared for the plaintiff, and the defendants were represented by Mr. G. S. Hughes-Jones. Mr. Zimmerman said that as regards the claim for wages and food allowance, the defendants had paid $7 since the commencement of the action. They admitted liability for that amount only. The plaintiff had been accepted by the plaintiff with prejudice to his rights to proceed with the balance of the claim. The claim for libel, which was for $954, was in respect of an advertisement which was published by the defendants in their paper on June 28 last. The notice referred to in this paper, Leung Kam-hoo, alias Siu Ngan, sport news correspondent of this paper, is dismissed on account of a certain matter. Anything that person may do hereafter shall have nothing to do with this paper.

The plaintiff continued Mr. Zimmerman was a young man of 24, and had been employed by the defendants since the establishment of the Tai Chuen Yat Po, which was some time in March, 1934. He was employed at a monthly salary of $20 a month, with an extra $5 for provisions. After having been with the paper for four months, the plaintiff resigned in order to go to Shanghai where he had intended to settle down. He found, however, that the climate did not suit him and accordingly he was re-engaged by the defendants. His salary was then increased to $21 a month. Four months later his salary was again increased, this time to $25.

The plaintiff, who was employed throughout his service as a sports news correspondent of the paper, and up to the time when his salary was increased to $25 he was asked to take further duties by assisting the assistant advertising manager, for which he was given another $5. This salary was dismissed by the publication of the notice.

His Lordship: Do you admit that he was dismissed? Mr. Hughes-Jones: I think we would shorten the case considerably if we decide the issue at this point. The plaintiff contended he had been dismissed by the notice. My case is that the notice was perfectly true. If he admitted he was dismissed I would submit that the notice was legal.

Mr. Zimmerman: If my friend admits the publication of the notice, the only issue is whether or not the words were capable of bearing a defamatory meaning.

His Lordship: Do you admit he was dismissed? Mr. Zimmerman: It is a very important point. The complimentary badges given to my client and which entitled him entrance to bathing sheds, football grounds and other sporting centres were taken away from him on the day of the publication of the notice.

Mr. Hughes-Jones: All we are interested in now is whether the plaintiff was dismissed or not.

Dismissal Agreed. Mr. Zimmerman: The only issue now is whether or not the words contained in the notice, as a whole, were capable of bearing a defamatory meaning.

Mr. Hughes-Jones: I don't agree. There is no innuendo pleading at all. The only point is whether these words, in themselves, were defamatory or not. I submit that they cannot be considered defamatory. I ask your Lordship to give a ruling on this point.

Mr. Zimmerman: I think your Lordship should first decide whether or not the notice was capable of bearing a defamatory meaning.

Mr. Hughes-Jones: This question does not arise because there is no innuendo pleading. All we are concerned in is whether or not the words were defamatory. For instance, a person might say that I have come out of the Victoria Gaol. That in itself is not defamatory but it is capable of being so if I have actually been in the gaol for committing a crime. In that case it is a reasonable inference to draw that I am a criminal. I have no such suggestion here at all. The suggestion is that these words are defamatory, and the issue is whether or not they are constituted so.

Mr. Zimmerman: For instance, a person might say that I have come out of the Victoria Gaol. That in itself is not defamatory but it is capable of being so if I have actually been in the gaol for committing a crime. In that case it is a reasonable inference to draw that I am a criminal. I have no such suggestion here at all. The suggestion is that these words are defamatory, and the issue is whether or not they are constituted so.

Mr. Zimmerman: I ask your Lordship to give the ruling after hearing the evidence.

Mr. Hughes-Jones: The evidence has bearing on this. It is a point of law.

No Innuendo Pleading. His Lordship: I consider that I shall give a ruling on this question now. There is no innuendo pleading. Mr. Zimmerman: It was intended by the defendants merely to convey to the public that the plaintiff had been dismissed they could have said so in a different way. They could very well have said "Mr. So-and-so is now longer with us" or "has covered his connection with us." I submit this is the most common form for such notices. I agree with my friend's submission on the point of innuendo, but unfortunately the solicitor who issued the writ had overlooked the matter. But I submit

HOMUNTIN CEMETERY HON. MR. BRAGA REQUESTS THAT GROUND BE CLOSED

Objectionable disclosures made during the August typhoon at the Homuntin Cemetery were mentioned at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon, by the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga.

Serious wash-outs, said Mr. Braga, had revealed a "state of affairs that would not be suitable to discuss around the Council table."

Those present The Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North, presided over the meeting at which the following members were present: The Colonial Treasurer (Hon. Mr. E. Taylor, C.M.C.), Director of Public Works (Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson), Hon. Mr. J. J. Patterson, Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, O.B.E., Hon. Mr. S. W. T's'o, C.M.C., L.L.B., Hon. Mr. T. N. Chiu, Hon. Mr. S. H. Dodwell, Hon. Mr. M. T. Johnson, Hon. Mr. A. W. Hughes, Mr. D. M. MacDougall (Deputy Clerk of Council) for $4,000 to provide a national burial space in the New Kowloon Cemetery because of the collapse of certain parts of Homuntin Cemetery during the heavy rain of August and September, more than 100 bodies were found in the Homuntin Cemetery. It was too optimistic to hope that this vote would be the first indication of the closing down of the Homuntin Cemetery for future burials.

The Colonial Secretary said that he would look the matter up.

Lord Plessey: This vote is extremely satisfactory from many points of view, particularly with regard to the nuisance caused by the heavy rain during the typhoon of August 17. I do not want to draw too lurid a picture of the conditions existing at the time, but I hope that whatever measures have been adopted in building up certain levels of the ground will obviate anything like what was disclosed at the last heavy rains. The next disagreeable thing is that Homuntin is becoming more and more a residential area in what I may call the upper levels of Kowloon. This cemetery with its objectionable features around it has really become a nuisance, to put it mildly. The Government should take it into consideration as it is not in the interests of public health and does not induce to the development of the area.

The Colonial Secretary: Why do you say it is a nuisance?

Hon. Mr. Braga: It made disclosures that I do not think are suitable to discuss around this table.

Hon. Mr. Braga: Were there dismembered bodies?

Hon. Mr. Braga: It would be literally true to say that the coffins were floating.

Hon. Mr. Hughes: That does not seem a very serious matter. It is not a very serious matter. It is not a very serious matter.

Hon. Mr. Braga: I would be satisfied if the Government would abandon the cemetery. At the same time I can realise Government's position. I remember the day that Sir Murdoch Fletcher looked over Kowloon for a cemetery site. We had no idea then that this particular area would develop to the extent it has done, so it cannot be said that the Government lacked vision, but there is no getting over the fact that the inhabitants have grown to such a large number that it is the least desirable place for a cemetery to be located.

The Colonial Secretary: You would approve of the expenditure, however.

Hon. Mr. Braga: I welcome it. Votes totalling $36,000 were approved.

that the wording "dismissed on account of a certain matter" in the notice conveyed the impression to the public that this young man had committed a most heinous crime.

His Lordship: It is capable of an innocent meaning also. In fact it is in favour of an innocent meaning.

Mr. Zimmerman: I ask your Lordship to look at the notice as a reasonable member of the public. What possible meaning could it possibly convey apart from the fact that it was intended to show the public that the plaintiff was dismissed on account of a certain matter?

His Lordship: On account of what? Nothing was mentioned in the notice.

Mr. Zimmerman: The very word "dismissed" would imply that the plaintiff had committed an offence. It is the only possible meaning.

Mr. Hughes: We do not allege any offence in the notice at all.

Mr. Zimmerman: Every reasonable person cannot help to gather from the notice that the plaintiff had committed an offence for which he was dismissed.

Defamatory Notice. After considering for about ten minutes, His Lordship said: I rule that the publication of the notice was defamatory. The words "dismissed on account of a certain matter" to the mind of a person of ordinary intelligence the impression that an imputation was being made against the plaintiff.

Mr. Zimmerman: The only question then, as regards the claim for libel, is as to damages.

His Lordship: Yes. Giving evidence, the plaintiff said he wrote his sports news for the paper under the non-de-plume of Siu Ngan (small parrot). He first learned of the notice on the evening of June 27 from a friend. As a result he saw Yan Put-ming, the managing director of the paper, asking him not to publish the notice. Yan refused and further told him to seek protection of the law if he wished.

The following day, when he came to the office, Yan asked him to return all the complimentary badges. He had never done anything which entitled the defendants to dismiss him. He took the publication of the notice as dismissal.

In reply to Mr. Hughes-Jones, the plaintiff said every employee was

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE MARKET UPWARD YESTERDAY

New York, Nov. 9. S. C. & F. Dow Jones summary of yesterday's markets:—The market today was irregularly higher. The business background, however, continues to be bullish due to Christmas buying, which is likely to be the best for many years since 1920. The advance in the price of bar silver continues. Favourable dividend action made for continued good interest in the market. The Bonds Market was irregularly higher, while stocks on the Curb Exchange were also higher.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment:—General Motors are expected to increase their dividend to-day and Chrysler and several steel companies very soon. Easy money, subsidies and consumer demand remain the market's build factors. Brokers say that the political news should stimulate the buying of steel and cement. Copper shares, Anaconda and Kennecott, are expected to be popular. The buying of telegraph and telephone companies is due to plans of expansion next year.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: Sentiment to-day was slightly mixed, but the undertone continues to be strong. General Motors sales for October amounted to 44,274 units as against 68,500 units for October of last year. The Times Business Index for the week amounted to 101.1, which was unchanged from last week, but which compared with 100.4 for the same week of last year. Bonds on the Big Board of the New York Stock Exchange were valued at around 543.179 000/100 as of November 1st.

Cotton: The Government crop estimate of 12,400,000 bales was unexpectedly high, but the effect was minimised by heavy Trade buying, reports of excellent mill business and rumours that the Brazilian crop had been over-estimated.

Wheat: Sentiment was moderately bullish, but Europe is not pressing purchases. Argentine reports from the Argentine were without effect. There has been a visible decrease of 825,000 bushels.

Corn: Unfavourable weather continues to stimulate cash demand, delays the movement of the crop and accelerates December short covering. There has been a visible increase of 531,000 bushels.

Rubber: There is a tendency towards profit-taking on any upturns. Dutch exports for October amounted to 27,810 tons. Exporters' stocks amount to 6,697 tons. There has been a decrease in English stocks of 2,542 tons.

KILLED BY LORRY

ACCIDENTAL DEATH OF CHINESE

At the Central Magistracy yesterday, Mr. K. Keen conducted an inquiry into the death of a Chinese, Ho Sin-moon, 39, who was killed when he was knocked down by motor lorry No. 318 driven by Nang Shui-fan, on October 8, in Bonham Strand East.

The jurors were Messrs. Henry Gilbert Mance (foreman), Ernest Funck and Wong Wah-ding.

Traffic Sergeant G. Fryer was present for the Police.

Dr. R. S. Begbie, of the Government Civil Hospital, in evidence said that he examined the body of the deceased on October 9, and found that the man had numerous wounds and abrasions on the body. The wounds affected the whole of the left side of the head and face and also the chest and neck. There were abrasions on the right arm and shoulders.

Abrasions were also present on the left leg, knee and ankle. There was a cut a quarter of an inch above the outer end of the left eye brow. Another cut was present on the left arm overlying the fracture of a bone. The internal examination revealed that there was a compound fracture on the left side of the head between the eye and the ear, and the main fracture passed across the base of the skull to the right ear. There were extensive abrasions on the brain. Abrasions were found on both lungs and a deep tear was present on the root of the right lung. Several ribs were broken.

Witness went on to say that on further examination, a nail stone was found in the gall bladder, and clonorchiasis was present in the liver. Cause of death was compound fracture of the skull and bruising of the brain. Concluding Dr. Begbie said that the injuries of the deceased were consistent with the man walking into a moving lorry. It was also possible that a wheel of a lorry had passed over deceased.

Driver's Evidence

Nang Shui-fan, lorry driver, said that on October 8 as he was driving his car in Bonham Strand East a ricksha suddenly ran across his vehicle. He swerved to avoid it and in so doing heard a loud noise as if his vehicle had hit against something. He stopped the lorry and on alighting found that a Chinese male had been knocked down. The man was lying on the ground some eight or nine feet from his car and appeared to be dead. He called to a policeman who had just arrived with the Central Police Station. When the traffic sergeant arrived, the body of the deceased was removed and he was taken to the Central Police Station.

Ho Mang, ricksha coolie, stated that he was pulling the ricksha in Bonham Strand on October 8 when the accident occurred. He came in front of the lorry and it had to swerve to avoid hitting him. He did not see deceased being knocked down.

Cho Chai, a coolie travelling on the lorry at the time of the mishap, stated that he did not see deceased being hit by the vehicle, but he felt the right rear wheel jump just after the lorry had swerved to avoid hitting the ricksha.

Pun Kwok-kei, cousin of the deceased, testified as to identification of the body as that of Ho Sin-moon, his cousin.

Giving evidence, Sergeant Fryer said that when he arrived on the scene of the accident he saw deceased lying apparently dead on the road and with blood coming from the mouth. The man was removed to the Public Mortuary.

After this evidence, the jury returned a verdict of "accidental death."

"DEFENCE PAGEANT"HISTORY OF LONDON VOLUNTEERS

London, Nov. 9. A "Defence Pageant," showing the history of the London Volunteers from the 16th Century to the present time, was a feature of to-day's traditional Lord Mayor's procession following the proclamation of Sir George Brouncker as the new Lord Mayor.

Detachments depicting the Volunteers at the time of Nelson preceded men in the khaki kit of the Boer War and the Great War, and anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, tanks and armoured cars of the modern Army. Although the traditional representations of the historic City Companies was omitted, the opinion was expressed that the procession was the most colourful display of recent years.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

EMPLOYMENT ON UP-TRENDBETTER FIGURE FOR OCTOBER

London, Nov. 9. Official returns show that the number of people in employment on October 28 was 1,103,000, an increase of 21,000 compared with September, the unemployed numbered 1,011,010, a decrease of 12,520.

Improvements were recorded in the coal-mining, engineering, shipbuilding, metal goods, textile and tailoring industries, whilst declines were registered in building, public works, and the contracting, transport and distributive trades.—Reuter Special.

1,676 NUNS

DISMISSED

NAZI TEACHING PURGE
SCRAPPED

Munich, Oct. 30. The so-called "Communist compromise" reached by Nazis and Roman Catholics in August utterly collapsed here to-day with a Cabinet order dismissing 1,676 Catholic Sisters from teaching positions.

The vacancies will be filled by unemployed members of the Nazi Party from the National "Nazi Teachers' League."

This sweeping Nazi action affects the foremost 400 Catholic "cloister schools" in Bavaria—among them the world-famous institutes of the Franciscans, Dominicans, Benedictines, Ursulines, Clisterians, and the Order of the English "Frauleins" (originally founded by English Catholics). In effect it suddenly transforms the ranks of teachers in these schools from black robes and cassocks to brown shirts and swastika-badges. All the new instructors are men possessing brown Hitler uniforms.

The action has drawn a vigorous formal protest from the Catholic Church that it is "a particularly flagrant violation of the Concordat." Nothing may be expected to come of this, however, since the Bavarian order is issued "with the full approval of Herr Hitler's Minister of Education in Berlin."

"FREE VOTE" FARCE ENDED

To-day's seizure of cloister schools marks a new departure in Nazi methods. Hitherto Catholic institutions have been made only after "a free vote"—as prescribed by pre-Nazi laws—had been staged to show that a majority "preferred a Nazi school." Any school is now liable to appropriation by the State at any time.

The reasons officially announced as behind the action are illuminating. They are as follows:

(1) "To ensure that the youth of our unified new Reich will have unified new training—in marching, fencing, &c., and in our new principles in history, natural science and biology (sterilisation)."

(2) "To provide instruction equally acceptable to Protestants and Catholics in all State-supported schools."

(3) "To give jobs to the many unemployed lay teachers who are Nazis through and through."

The greatest significance of the sudden clean sweep of sisters, nuns and monks from age-old Catholic institutions is that it marks the scrapping of the "August truce." At that time the Catholic bishops of Germany, in emergency council assembled, resolved to lend all Catholic pupils to Herr Hitler's anti-Red propaganda. In return radical Nazi legislation prepared for the Nuremberg congress—"banning all monks and nuns from teaching German youth because of their proven immorality in recent trials"—was quashed.

But that legislation has now arrived. Bavarian Catholics, disillusioned and nervous, feel that the cloister schools "purge" is the opening barrage of a new anti-Catholic offensive.

GIRL GUIDES

ANNUAL REPORT OF ASSOCIATION

In writing the General Report of the activities of the Girl Guides Association this year, Mrs. G. A. C. Herklot, Division Commissioner, states that early this summer the Guides lost both their Colony and Division Commissioners, Lady Southern and Mrs. C. E. L. Grist. "Lady Southern," she says, "who for ten years had been at the helm of Guiding in Hongkong, was energy personified. In her we had a guide, counsellor and friend who was never known to be too busy to spare time for anyone in need of help or advice. Perhaps, as so often happens, we are only beginning to realise fully how much Guiding in the Colony owes to her now that she has had to leave us."

Of Mrs. Grist, Mrs. Herklot writes, "She gave almost five years of work to Guiding here, first as Colony Secretary, then as Division Commissioner, and was an example to us all in devotion and unselfishness."

Lady MacGregor has become President of the Guide Association and Mrs. T. H. King has been appointed Colony Commissioner.

Training Classes

Guiders' meetings are to resume on September 21. They have been held on the third Monday of each month from September till June. The programme consists mainly of training in Guide and Brownie work. In February of this year, Lady Southern entertained Vice-Presidents and friends to tea on the occasion of the presentation of the Medal of Merit to Mrs. Grist. The second function, in April, was a Farewell Party to Lady Southern and was again attended by Vice-Presidents.

The last annual general meeting was held at Sandilands Hut on November 20, 1935. This year's meeting is planned for November 25. The Girl Guide Association is particularly happy to report the development of the Social Service side of Guiding in the Colony. Dr. Nash suggested that Chinese, or Chinese speaking, Guides might visit the Chinese hospitals to cheer the children there by teaching them games, singing, &c. Mrs. Herklot immediately took up the matter with her own Company and, with the co-operation of the parents of the Guides, Miss Chan and two Patrol Leaders visit the Tung Wah Hospital every week. Miss Bachel has done a great deal to help and was instrumental in providing toys and a toy cupboard. The older girls do sewing and the boys drawing.

The Library

The Library is greatly increasing in size and popularity. Mrs. Moore kindly donated a complete edition of Shakespeare and Mrs. Herklot hoped this year to bring back the newest and most useful publications from Imperial Headquarters. The Association are grateful to Mrs. T. J. Draper for undertaking the work of Hon. Librarian.

The Association have been glad to welcome several visitors from time to time. Among them were Mrs. Hill Smith from Brisbane; Miss Nancy Britton; Miss Burgess; Miss Dines; Miss Festing; Miss Vere Smith; Miss Driver, a Brown Owl from Hainan; Miss Brown who helped with the Guide Rally; Miss Paynter who gave a talk at a Guiders' Meeting; and Miss Carson from India who carried out a programme of practical training at the last Guiders' Meeting of the season.

Changes in Executive

In addition to the newly appointed Colony Commissioner, already mentioned, Mrs. G. A. C. Herklot has become Assistant Colony Commissioner, vice Mrs. Grist, and Miss Duckwell has taken Mrs. Herklot's place as District Commissioner. Hongkong, Mrs. W. J. Anderson has resigned and Mrs. J. R. Higgs is now District Commissioner, Kowloon. Prior to going on Home leave Mrs. R. H. Wild resigned as Hut Secretary and Mrs. M. E. Burslem is her successor.

During the year Mrs. Bruzler-Creagh left for India leaving the Library in the capable hands of Mrs. D. J. Draper.

The number of Badges taken this year is greater than that of any previous year, this particularly gratifying as some Companies have been without Captains and others mainly composed of recruits.

The Association thank Dr. (Mrs.) G. R. Nash for the arrangement of lectures in First Aid and Sick Nursing for the Guides, and Mrs. A. Baggott, Miss M. Mustill, Miss Wong and Nurse Sham for lecturing. They also express their thanks to the Committee of the Victoria Recreation Club for allowing the use of their Swimming Bath for Life-Saver and Swimming tests.

They gratefully thank the following ladies and gentlemen who acted as examiners:—Miss B. E. Abraham, Mrs. W. J. Anderson, Mrs. L. C. F. Bellamy, Miss D. Bicheno, Miss D. P. Burslem, Dr. S. Y. Cheng, Miss A. M. E. Cheung, Mrs. B. S. Church, Mrs. E. Cook, L/C P. E. Connolly, Mrs. F. M. Deacon, Miss M. Fleuty, Yeoman of Signals Gale, Mrs. V. R. Gordon, Mrs. C. E. L. Grist, Mrs. E. L. Groom, Miss H. Hancock, Maj. F. Hogg, M.A.C.V.S., Mrs. G. F. Hole, Mrs. H. Owen Hughes, Inspector R. J. Hunt, Mrs. T. H. King, Miss A. Kwok, Mrs. T. J. Lum, Mrs. Q. A. A. Macfadyen, Mrs. E. W. G. Malcolm, Miss S. G. Merriman, Dr. (Mrs.) G. R. Nash, Mr. E. Nelson, Dr. I. Newton, Mrs. A. R. H. Phillips, Mrs. K. S. Robertson, Mr. B. S. Rogers, Miss A. E. S. S. S. N. Swift, and Mrs. Kennedy Skiplon.

Special Thanks

Special mention of thanks are given by the Association to Mr. E. Higgs who audited the accounts; Mr. Tang Shiu-kin for repeated kindnesses; Mrs. W. B. A. Moore for gifts to the Hut; Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster and the late Mr. C. E. L. Grist for help with the Ordinance; Dr. Herklot for gifts of trees and good advice in the garden; Mr. K. E. Greig for the gift of an engraved brass plate; Mrs. J. W. Riddoch, Mrs.

LICENSING BOARD

WOMAN REFUSED

Because of the number of liquor licences already granted to establishments in the Tsimshatsui district, the Licensing Board at its meeting yesterday rejected an application by Mrs. Violet Lotice Spink, nee Armstrong, for a publican's licence at No. 22, Hankow Road, Kowloon.

Members of the Board present were the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North (Chairman), the Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C., the Hon. Mr. J. B. Dowbiggin, O.B.E., Mr. C. Champkin, Mr. T. A. Mitchell and Mr. W. G. Harrison (Secretary). The Hon. Mr. T. H. King (Inspector General of Police) was present in an advisory capacity.

Mr. King said the police objected to Mrs. Spink's application on the grounds that there were already sufficient licences in the vicinity. There was nothing against the applicant herself, although it was not considered that she had had previous experience in running full licensed premises. The main objection was that it was most undesirable to increase the number of full licences as there were already eight licences within a short distance of the proposed premises.

Mrs. Spink said she was a widow and proposed keeping an establishment for seafaring men in an endeavour to support herself. A restaurant adjunct licence was of no use, she said, as the clientele she expected would be men from ships who would be coming to her hotel throughout the day.

Col. Dowbiggin said the Board had consistently refused liquor licences for that area, and that it would not be fair to those who had been rejected in the past to grant the applicant a licence.

The application was accordingly refused.

Gloucester Bar

An application by Paul Chessex for a full licence for the Gloucester Hotel was granted despite opposition from Mr. King, who said that hitherto the premises had had no bar and that it would be a reversal of a Government policy adopted many years ago not to grant new bar licences in the central district.

When the Gloucester was built, said Mr. King, a bar was erected but it had never been used, and had been rolled off from the lounge.

"I urge that the no-bar policy should be maintained," added Mr. King, "as people drink more in bars than in hotels."

Mr. Oscar Enger, for the Gloucester Hotel, said the bar was a distinct lounge, and being on the eighth floor it was not the spot to which the man in the street would be attracted by the lights and bottles.

The Board granted the application on the condition that the bar was not removed from the eighth floor. Mr. C. A. d'Almeida Remedios made a plea on behalf of Bunshichi Kawahara, of the Kawahara Restaurant, Peking Road, for the removal from his licence of a clause prohibiting the sale of liquor other than beer and sake. Mr. Remedios said that his client, who catered for Europeans seeking saké, had had to turn away about 50 per cent. of his clientele because of this restriction. The application was granted.

Walter Greenburg, who applied for a publican's licence without bar, for the Hardhaven Hotel, Nathan Road, was granted a hotel keeper's adjunct licence.

Miss Hanako Akiyoshi, of the Fukuzumi Hotel, Canton Road, was warned that she must not sell liquor without a meal.

List of Licences

The following licences were granted: Publican's licence.—Frederick Charles Barry (Repulse Bay Hotel), Alfonso Georges Piovaneli (Hongkong Hotel), Aubrey Kieran Dimon (Peninsula Hotel), Isaac Levy Goldsberg (Palace Hotel), Cheung Kiu-long (Kowloon Hotel), Edmund Herbert Patrick White (Repulse Bay Hotel), Paul Chessex (Gloucester Hotel).

Publican's licence without bar.—Paul Lee (St. Francis Hotel), Donald Arthur Webb (Cafe Wiseman), Chan Wai-chuen (Hotel Cecil), Charles Foxman (Marcel Cafe), Yu Mancho (David's Cafeteria). Hotel Keeper's adjunct licence.—Walter Greenburg (Hardhaven Hotel), Chan Hon (Tung Shan Hotel), Paul Kam-hang (Hotel Asia), Ma Tai-sun (Hotel Asia), Yung-wai (Mee Chow Hotel), Chui Chi-pan (Sun Sun Hotel), Chan Cheuk-wan (Great China Hotel), Mui Man (Hotel Nathan), Peter Tong (New Asia Hotel), Chan Cheuk-kin (Luk Kok Hotel), Takdieh Mito (Tokyo Hotel), Isakichi Seki (Chitose Hotel), Mrs. Fungyo Seki (Chitose Kwan Hotel), Miss Hanako Akiyoshi (Fukuzumi Hotel).

Restaurant adjunct licence.—Kaijiro Suhara (Tokyoan Hotel), Taisuke Yamakawa (Nagasaki Hotel), Mrs. Kate Suya (Asahi Beer Hall), P. K. Leung (Prince's Cafe), S. F. Shum (Canadian Confectionery), Aaron Landau (Jimmy's Kitchen), Yuen Hee-hing (King's Restaurant), Bunshichi Kawahara, (Kawahara Restaurant, Kowloon), Mrs. Giori Saka (Kawahara Restaurant, Wanchai).

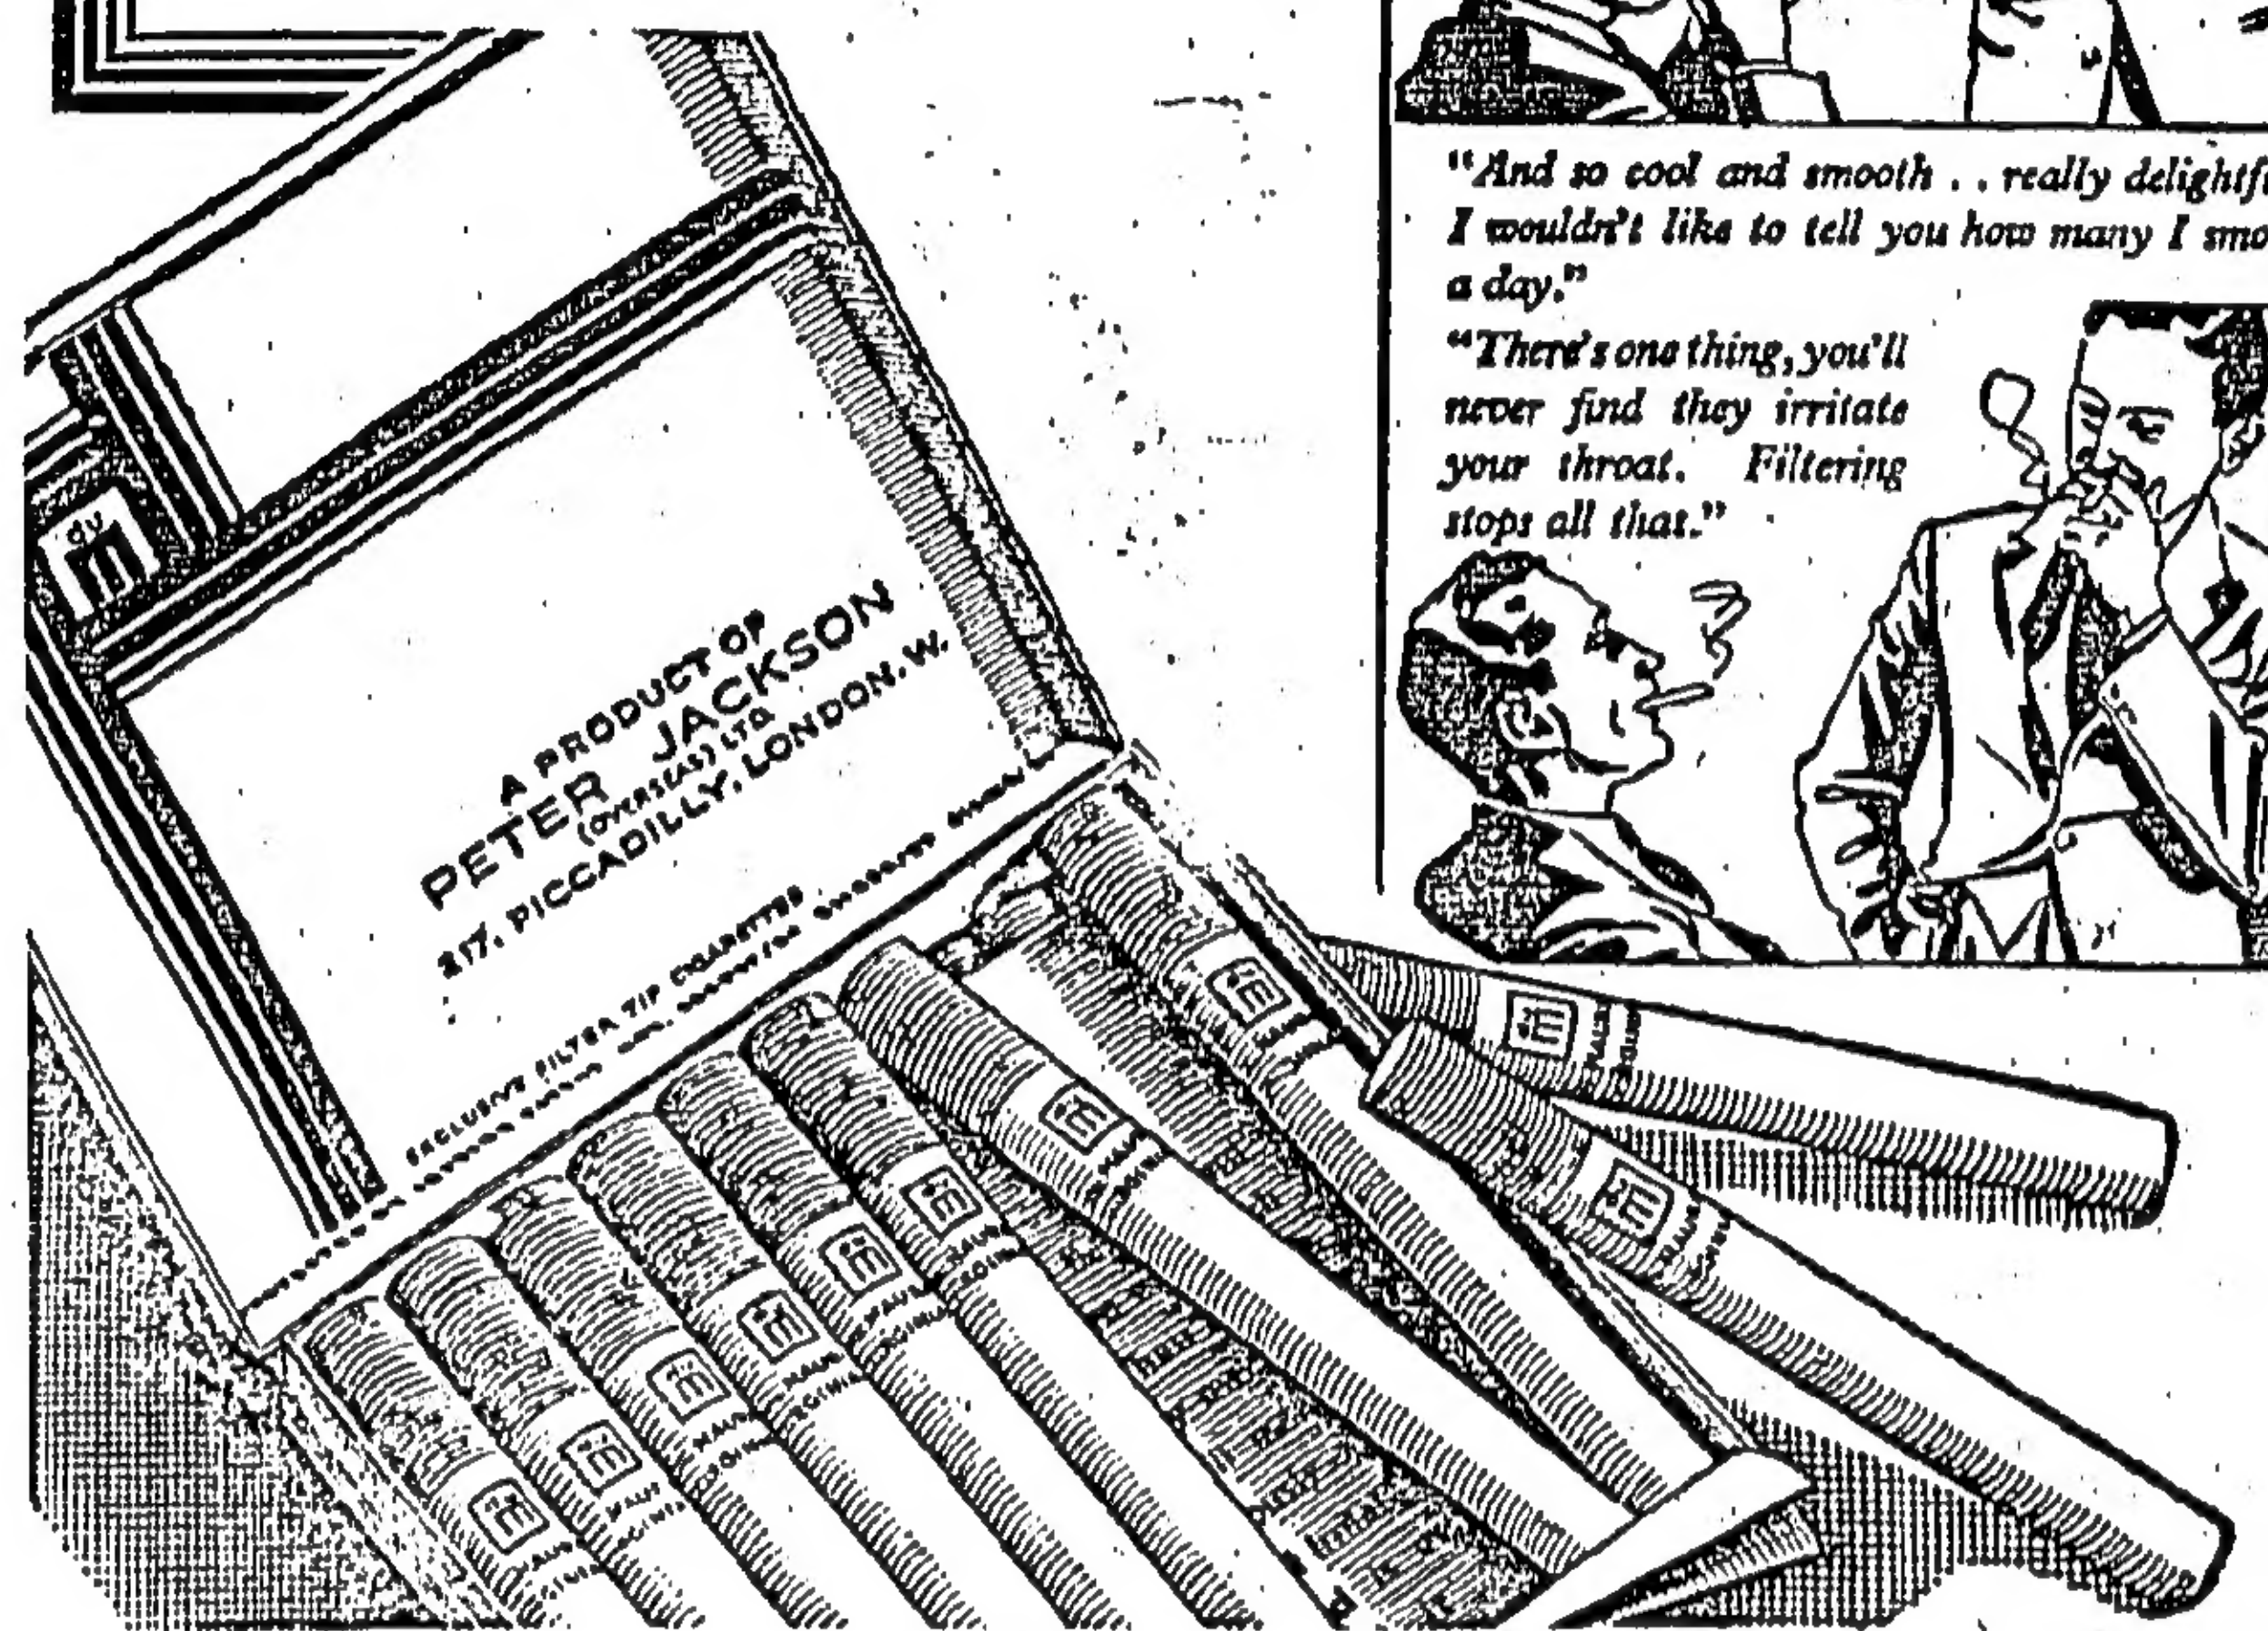

T. H. Lunson, Miss Alabaster and Miss Monkton for assistance at the Hut; and Mr. A. B. Didsbury for assistance with the annual report. Thanks are also given to Messrs. Lane Crawford Ltd., Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co., Ltd., and the Dairy Farm Co., Ltd. for generous terms of catering.

The Association acknowledge a donation from Mrs. P. S. Cassidy and an anonymous gift of $300 towards the upkeep of the Hut. To the Press, the Association are grateful for sympathy and help.

ITALY'S TRADE WITH ABYSSINIA

It is not easy to ascertain many of the facts about the administration by Italy of her newly-occupied territory in Abyssinia, for communications have never been good, and to-day Italy is exercising a very thorough censorship of the news that is allowed to get abroad. But in certain matters the purpose, or, at any rate, the result of her policy is being very clearly revealed. She has, for instance, officially fixed the exchange rate of the lira to the native dollar at 5 to 1, although the "natural" value of the dollar is at least twice as great. It has, moreover, been declared to be a criminal offence to change currencies at a rate more in accordance with intrinsic values. Two results follow at once. In the first place, internal trade is continually hampered. The peasant tends as far as possible to withhold the dollars, and the lira increasingly takes its place. The purpose here might conceivably be to substitute Italian coinage for that of the country in order to strengthen Italy's hold. This, however, can hardly be the objective when the effect on existing foreign trade is considered. It is obviously impossible for the trader to pay for his goods from the producer of raw materials in the dollars that the up-country man demands, and receive for them from the foreign business man lira at a value only one-half of their real one in relation to dollars. It might be clear to the Italian rulers that the result of their artificial rate is very rapidly to destroy the existing foreign trade altogether and to expel the foreign trader. With what purpose? Can there be any other than to clear the ground for a new type of trade, flowing in a single channel exclusively through Italian hands between Addis Ababa and Rome? If that is the goal, it affords a second recent striking illustration of the world's economic policy of Fascist States. The

THE popular Kent skipper who captained England's team when we won the Ashes in 1926, and also on the victorious visit to Australia in 1928-29, here sums up our chances during the forthcoming Test tour.

THE M.C.C. team now in Australia has not less than an even chance of regaining the Ashes. It is solid in batting strength; it has variety in bowling; it should be exceptionally good in the field.

The five Test Matches, the first of which will begin at Brisbane on December 4, are each likely to last six days.

They will be tremendous trials of endurance, and although on the face of it an Australian team in its own country should be better able to stand up to a gruelling ordeal of this kind, actually and disadvantage to the visitors tends to disappear as the tour progresses.

Physical Strain

THE way in which a touring team fits together, becomes a well-knit unit, gets an intimate knowledge of its own strength and weakness—these are factors which help to cancel out any difficulties of climate, and each week shows the balance in these matters more favourable to the visiting side.

When the team captained by A. E. R. Gilligan was in Australia in 1924-25 we played three Test matches in succession—at Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide, with only one up-country match in between.

Two of these Tests lasted into the seventh day and the other was completed in six. The 30 days spent in the field and in travelling involved a physical strain which was almost unendurable.

The present tour has been arranged with much greater care, and in my opinion the England team has been chosen with discretion and judgment. The selectors have shown much patience and devoted considerable time to their task.

I would have preferred to see Todd, the Kent all-rounder, among the seventeen, but that apart, the Selection Committee, at a period when English cricket is not on a very high plane, has done its work admirably.

Australian wickets, under normal weather conditions, are the best in the world. They are faster than ours, do not lend first, of course, was given, at Nuremberg, when Herr Hitler announced his four-year plan to make Germany self-sufficient. Signor Mussolini aims similarly at making his new colony a jealously-guarded Italian preserve. The contrast is expressed in theory in the recent Reports of the Economic and Finance Committees of the League of Nations—who advise exchange stabilisation with the exact opposite ideal of encouraging trade between nations on the basis of the world being one open market for all—and in action by the recently-concluded agreement for this purpose, reached between Britain, France and America.

Our Men In Australia Have Started

A. P. F. Chapman's Final Words to the Test Team

the middle, and whatever form our Test teams take there should be plenty of runs down to Number 9.

are merciless at any time towards loose balls; in the last two hours of the day, with bowlers tired, they are capable of scoring so rapidly as to make all the difference between losing and winning a match.

Hammond is quite able to put up the shutters at one end. It is imperative, in my view, that this policy should be carried out by others of our bowlers during the last two hours of the day. The fact that 17 players are making the tour need not worry us. Form in the early matches—six against States or representative elevens will be played before the first Test—will solve some of the difficulties of selection, and there is no question of the loyalty or keenness of any of the men chosen.

It will, I imagine, be found that as many fast bowlers as possible, without weakening the batting unduly, will be included in the Test sides; and if all goes well the following may be found in the first Test in December (though not in this batting order):

G. O. Allen	Ames
R. W. V. Robins	Fishlock or
R. E. S. Wyatt	Hardstaff
K. Farnes	Barnett
Hammond	Fage
Leyland	Verity

Even though it means the omission of that brilliant wicket-keeper Duckworth, the recovery of Ames, who has been batting splendidly, and seems to have shaken off all the effects of his early season illness, is, I am sure, going to be most opportune for England.

The team has left England with our best wishes; there is an exceedingly good chance that they will return to receive our heartiest congratulations.

themselves to spin, and, unless there is a thunderstorm followed by hot sun—the type of wicket on which Verity would be unplayable—are full of runs.

Two Decisive Hours

THE only Australian I know who could spin the ball dangerously on these wickets was Arthur Mailey. He was infinitely a greater thorn in our side out there than Grimmett could ever hope to be, in spite of his immaculate length and untiring persistence.

In bowling we appear to be much better off than Australia, although the State matches may reveal something which we do not yet know.

In batting Australia will be tremendously powerful, but the M.C.C. side looks impressive in

MYSTIC DICTATOR

E. Frederic
Lefevre

I HAD an appointment with him at 9.45 p.m. Every evening, Mr. Oliveira Salazar, former university professor and now Portugal's mystic dictator, takes a long walk in the suburbs of Lisbon and on that night I was to accompany him.

The car was already waiting in front of his modest cottage when I arrived. A young servant girl opened the door. There were no guards and none of the precautions with which the apprentices in dictatorship like to surround themselves. As we were talking hands I felt that our interview would be different from what I had imagined—more significant. As soon as he had said a few words I ceased seeing the dictator. Before me was a man in whose eyes burned the flame of superior resignation and absolute disinterestedness and honesty, such as may be found only in a few very great mystics, the fire of Sacred Surrender to a mission he had not chosen himself and from which he derived neither profit nor pride and perhaps not even joy. Quite naturally he had given up his chair at the University of Coimbra to serve his country and one felt that he would just as naturally take it up again tomorrow.

Just now, however, Salazar is ruling Portugal and to this work he gives himself unconditionally, without reserve and without any shadow of doubt, on the goodness of his policies and attitude. And because he so generously gives himself to his country, the mystic dictator demands much also from his people.

We spoke of the crisis, the menace suspended over the world and its various causes. Salazar does not clothe his ideas in concise formulae but I gathered from his words that, of all crises, he considered the moral crisis as the most serious and that it was to him first and foremost a crisis of religious conscience.

A staunch Catholic, Salazar believes that Catholicism is still the only force capable of ending the crisis and victoriously fighting greed and the excesses of luxury, in other words, he believes that only religion can revive in the soul the taste for the true and simple things of life and thereby regenerate mankind. It was apparent, however, that he drew a sharp line between the powers of church and State and did not in the least consider it his task to evangelize Portugal. His sole concern is the maintenance of the financial, economic and political order which he considers the essential premises of moral order.

I mentioned that the Belgian Labour Minister, the socialist Henri de Man, had spoken to me of the necessity of reviving the "spirit of poverty" in the soul. Salazar shares this view but he thinks it is a difficult task requiring long and patient educational work.

"You believe then," I ventured, "that men should be saved in spite of themselves by a strong power, a dictatorship?"

"I am convinced," he replied, "that the economic crisis will be a necessity, because it is the only regime which can teach people that they need very little to be happy, after all."

He then proceeded to explain his views on political dictatorship, which becomes a vital need when individual freedom is trampled upon and men surrender to the occult forces of parliamentarism and powerful financial oligarchies. Only a dictatorship can assure the freedom from the State and through that of the individual. Freedom means respect for law and right and if the State is unable to impose this respect there can be no freedom. The State is not free in a parliamentary regime, because the ministers are the slaves of Parliament, and the members of Parliament the slaves of the electorate, while the treasures of the political parties are fed by financial groups and economic oligarchies. "I don't want to make prophecies," he said, "but I guarantee that in twenty or thirty years hence there will not be one Parliament invested with legislative powers. As a former professor of law I know from theory and practice what a complex task is the elaboration of even the least important law, and I assure you that no assembly can legislate seriously, for this would be contrary to human nature. Moreover, the parliamentary system excludes personal responsibility which is a most important factor of progress and raises men above themselves. In a parliamentary regime nobody gives the maximum of work, initiative and inventiveness of which he is capable because a member of Parliament is not personally responsible."

Portugal, however, Mr. Salazar pointed out to me, is not and is not going to be a so-called "totalitarian state," neither on the economic nor on the spiritual plane. He does not believe that the State should play merchant, manufacturer and bank initiative is still the most fecund factor of the economic progress of a nation.

"The modern State demands asceticism," he explained. "Just as saintliness flourished in the most depraved countries, so to-day the statesmen must do penance. But," he added thoughtfully, "I doubt whether many of them realise it and live up to it."

Supremacy In Pacific Is Prize In Fight Between Ships Of Four Nations

Speedier And Bigger Liners

WITH the selection of Tokyo as the site of the 1940 Olympic games, all American, Japanese, Canadian and British steamship lines on the Pacific have launched tentative plans for a large increase in and modernisation of their Pacific fleets in order to meet the vastly increased travel demands which are expected at that time.

Not only will the number of boats in the trans-Pacific service be increased, but they will be of a greater speed, a greater tonnage and up to the latest standards of modernization in ocean travel.

Up to the present time, the Canadian Pacific, according to authoritative sources in Pacific coast shipping circles, has progressed the farthest towards the actual launching of their new programme.

This calls for the construction of five new ships, all with a tonnage of about 25,000 tons and a speed of 25 knots an hour.

Two of the proposed new ships will be placed in the Canadian-Australian service while the other three will be put in the trans-Pacific service for the purpose of replacing the present Empress series. The Empress of Russia, the Empress of Canada, and the Empress of Japan, the three latter ships will either be utilized on other lines or kept in the trans-Pacific service on a lower grade of service according to the demands for travel existing by the time the Olympic games come on.

The next company that appears to have made the most progress towards the construction of new ships for the Olympic service is the N.Y.K. Line. Initiative for the construction of new boats for this line, appears, according to authoritative statements from Japan, to have been taken by the Japanese government itself in an effort to bring all services up to the standard necessary to meet the 1940 demands.

The Japanese ministry of communications is now negotiating with the N.Y.K. for the construction of two 26,000-ton liners for the California Orient service. The proposed ships would have a speed of 24 knots an hour at half capacity load and would be ready for service prior to 1940. These ships would be 10,000 tons larger than the present Chichibu Maru class.

The construction of these two ships, however, is only a part of a building programme which the Japanese government is sponsoring that would put 52 new merchant ships in various trades from Japan.

The British-owned Canadian-Australian line, operating out of Vancouver has also made known tentative plans for two new ships to replace the Niagara and the Aorangi.

BUILT IN ENGLAND

Like the Canadian-Pacific line, it is understood that these new ships would probably be constructed in English ship yards along the Clyde, but would necessarily be ready for the increased trade by 1940.

In the meantime, while the Matsui and the Dollar line, the two principal American companies operating in the Pacific have prepared tentative programmes to meet not only the travel rush of 1940 but also the competition of the foreign companies, all of their projects are being held up, pending the settlement of two very vital points that affect American shipping on the Pacific coast.

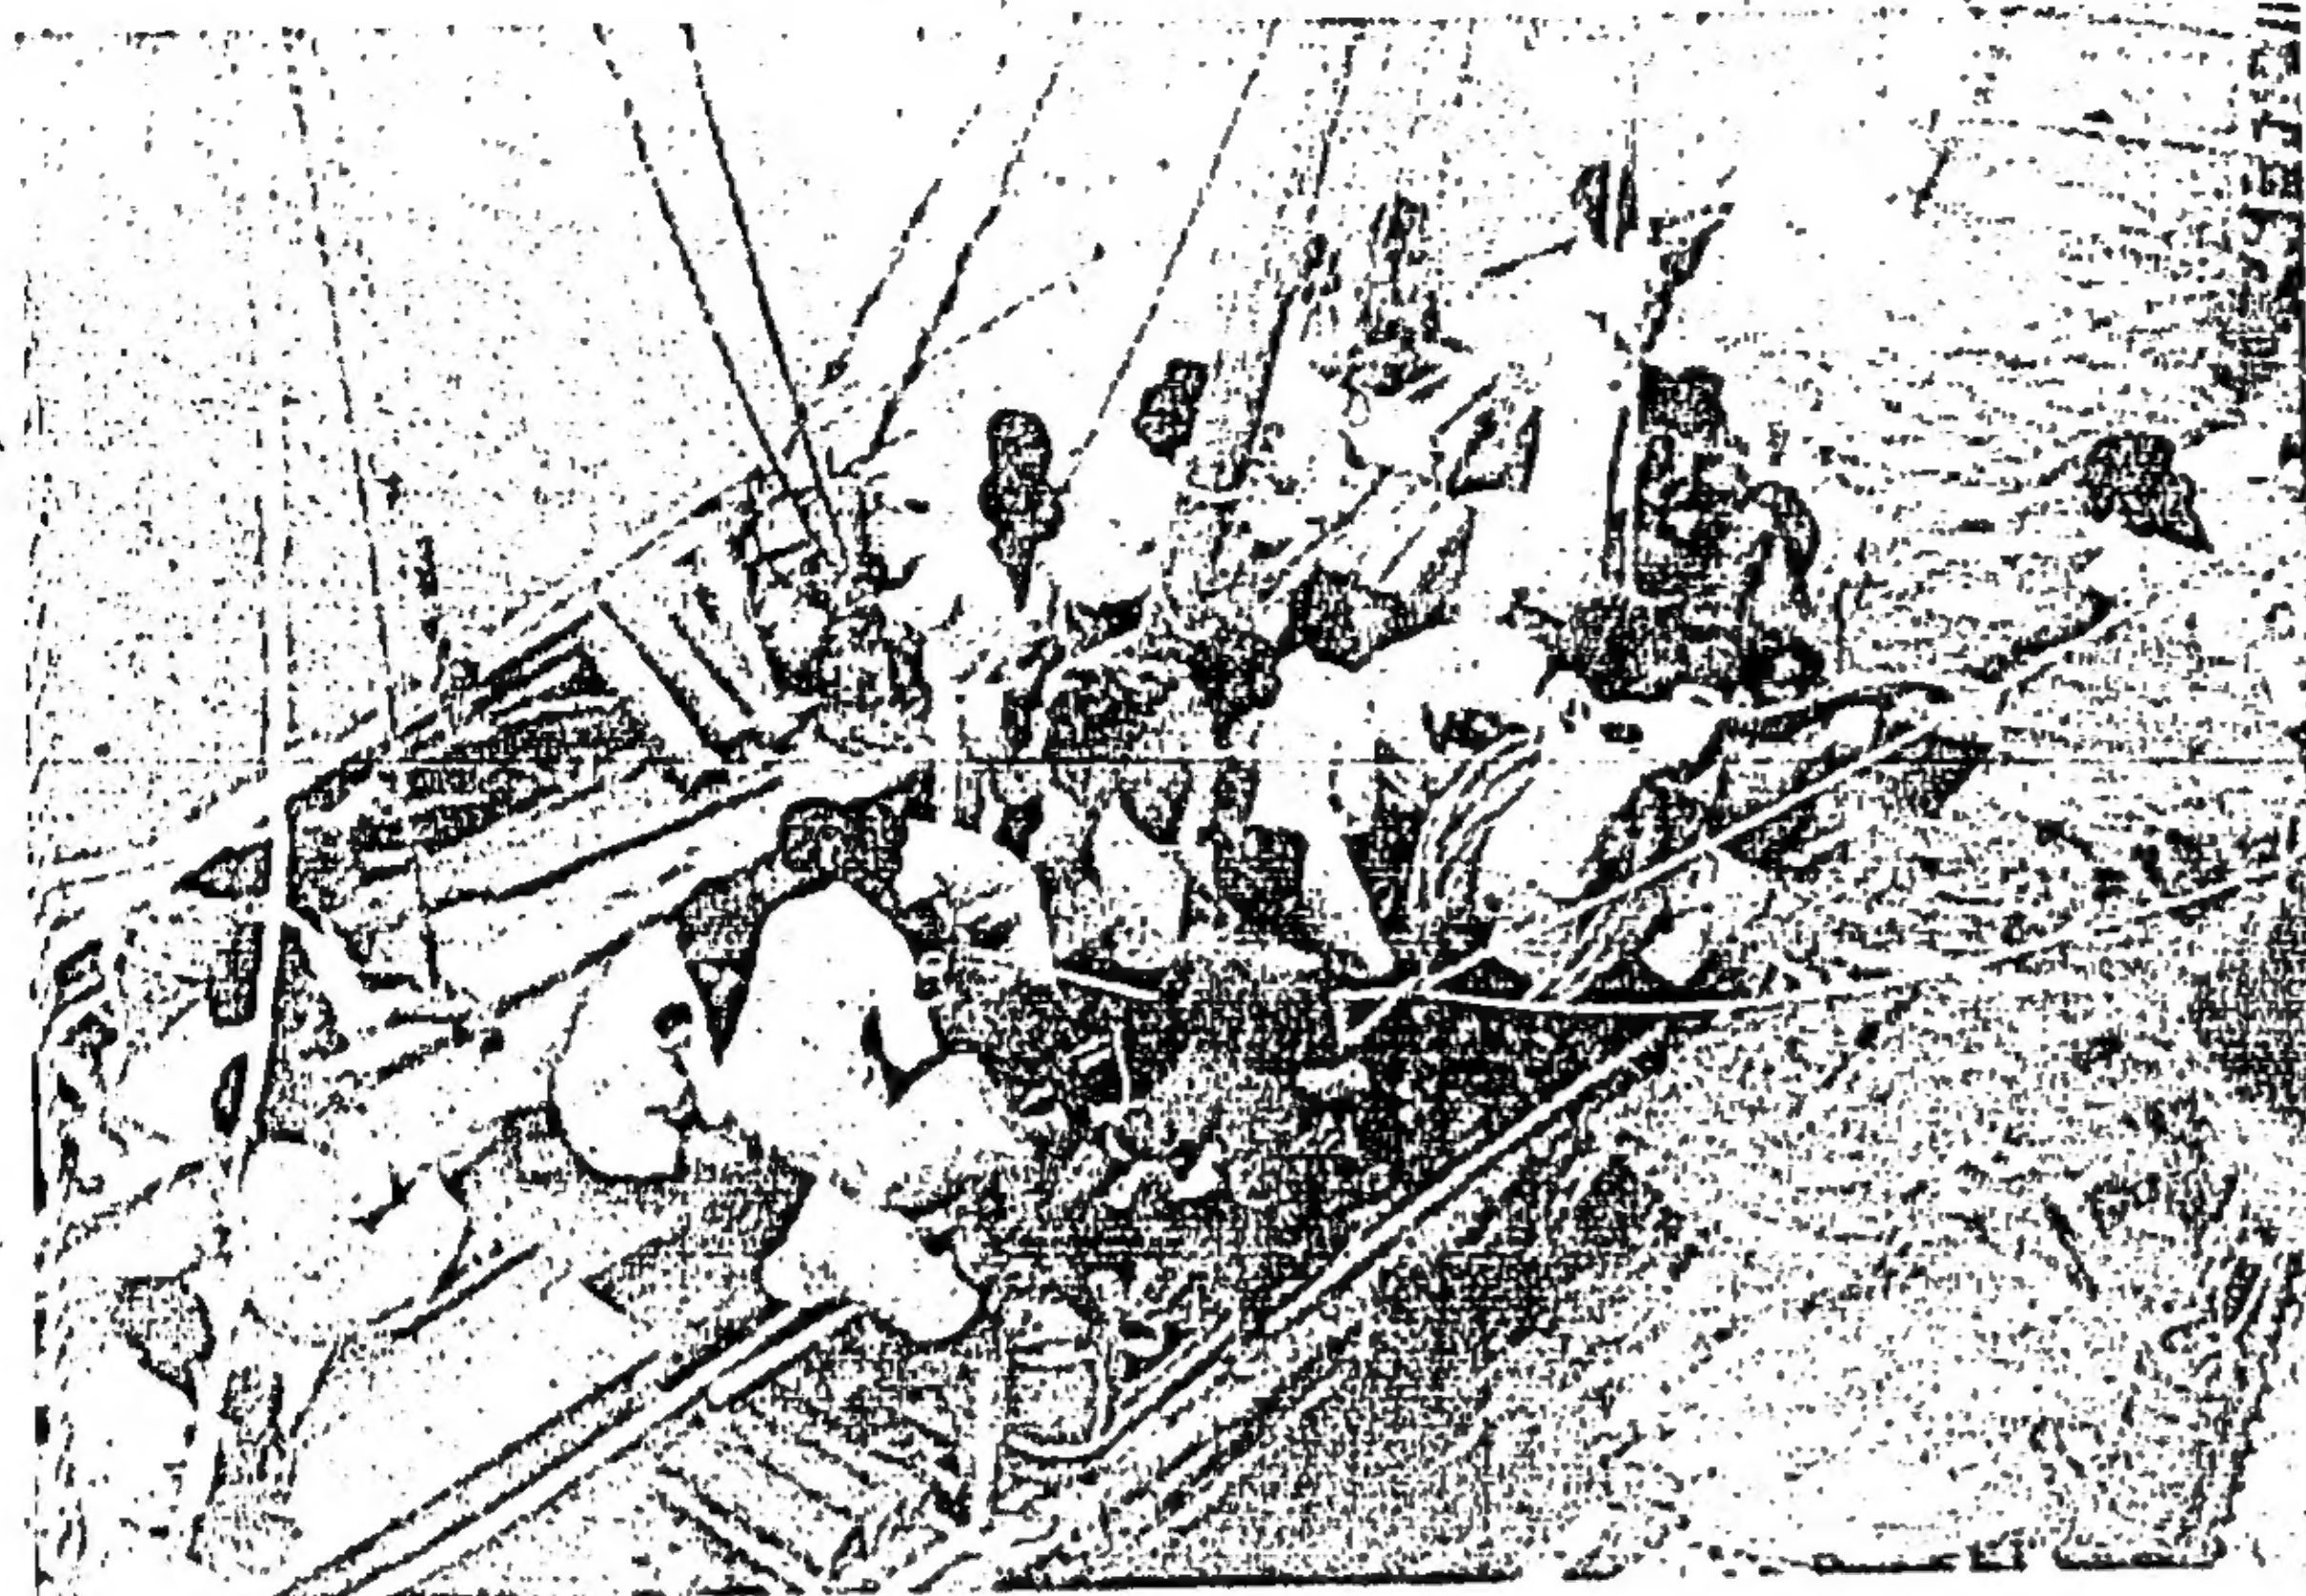

The first of these is, that both companies declare they cannot undertake any new construction, until it is absolutely certain that the labour situation on the Pacific coast has been regulated in such a manner that it will not interfere either with the construction of new ships or the operation of them after they are completed.

The second is to ascertain first the policy of the newly created United States maritime commission and to ascertain definitely whether it is genuinely interested in the construction of an American Merchant marine.

The Matsui line is known to have under consideration the modernisation of the Malolo at a cost of U.S.$500,000 and the construction of two new freighters at a cost of U.S.$4,000,000.

FORCED TO ACT

However, this tentative programme as well as that of the Dollar line will be held in abeyance until the above two points are clarified. Despite this delay, however, shipping experts on the Pacific coast declare that the American lines will not only be forced but probably able under the new governmental system of direct subsidies to meet the foreign com-

When the A.O. Liner Taipei was crossing the Banda Sea en route to Hongkong distress signals were observed from a native passenger sampan, which had 30 people on board including women and children. The sampan was given a supply of water and provisions by the Master of the Taipei Capt. A. M. Frame.

FILMING CORONATION IN COLOUR

WITHIN six days of the Coronation a colour film of the procession will be shown in Hongkong theatres.

The films will be rushed from London to all parts of the Empire.

Normally colour films take a week or more to develop, but by a special process and day and night work the time interval can be reduced.

Efforts will be made to bring it down to 24 hours, but the expense may prove prohibitive.

A PANORAMA

"Four different locations along the line of march have already been selected as most suitable from the colour point of view," said Mr. K. Harrison, managing director of Technicolour, the company which will take the film.

"Cameras will be set at different heights to get a colour panorama from various angles."

"We have approached the authorities for permission to film the actual ceremony in the Abbey, but are doubtful of obtaining it."

"This historic ceremony with all its tradition and dignity is held so sacred that spot-lights and camera-men might be thought to mar its beauty."

The company studied the Abbey, especially the spot where the King will stand to be crowned, and decided that, due to the dimness, it would be necessary to use very high-powered studio-lights to get the colours in their full richness and glory.

Rain, of course, will spoil all plans, but the colour-film men are putting their faith in King's weather.

Widows Segregated In Hankow

Hankow, Nov. 3.

The existence here of a charity institution in which more than 600 Chinese widows are kept in continual confinement was revealed in a recent government report.

With the Canadian Pacific, the Japanese mail line and the Canadian-Australian line, constructing boats that will have speed from 24 to 26 knots an hour and a tonnage above 25,000, the American lines will be obliged to meet these standards in order to maintain their share of the trans-Pacific travel.

Indications just given out, however, by the newly created United States Maritime Commission, and which will permit of direct subsidies to the American lines, the same as the European governments do, instead of the old time indirect subsidy for carrying the mails, indicate that the American lines will be able to do so.

As already announced by the newly created commission all mail subsidies will end on June 30, 1937, and definite contracts for the carrying of the mails will be let.

The new U.S. Marine Commission has at its disposition an appropriation of $100,000,000 to expend as it sees fit in the furthering of an American merchant marine and Pacific coast lines count definitely on receiving their just share of this.

Refugee Ship In Singapore

Woman Who Was Forced to Stab Her Husband

Fleeing the barbarism of civil war in Spain, 85 refugees were taken from two southern Spanish ports to Genoa by the Hamburg-America line's 7,389-ton vessel Duisburg which reached Singapore recently.

The refugees included about 45 women and children. The refugees had lost almost all their belongings. Women had been stripped of jewellery; wealthy manufacturers and business men lost their money. All that remained was the clothing they wore and a small bundle of personal effects.

PITIFUL CASE

One woman was in a state of hysteria. Her husband had been shot, and she said that as he was still alive the mob had forced her to stab him to death with a knife. Although all the passenger accommodation had previously been filled the Duisburg's officers and crew slept on the hatches, on deck and in the saloon—to provide comfortable quarters for the refugees.

When the Weather Forecast Says "Mainly Fair"

By A Weather Expert

IF this evening's weather forecast says that the weather to-morrow will be "mainly fair," what kind of weather are we to expect?

The mental picture of "mainly fair" weather is of blue skies, light breezes and plenty of sunshine; but that is not the only type of weather associated with this somewhat vague term.

Officially, we may have several distinct types of weather varying from dull, dry conditions, with a strong breeze, to cloudless skies and absolute calm, all coming within the meaning of the words "mainly fair."

We may have a cloudy and oppressive day with a hint of fog, and perhaps slight drizzle locally, followed by a clear and bracing day with no rain anywhere. The words "mainly fair" may be applied to both types of weather.

NO GENERAL BREAK

When large anti-cyclones cover the East, and there is no immediate risk of rain-bearing depressions, the term "mainly fair" may be used in the "further outlook" for several consecutive days to convey that there will be no general break in the prevailing type of mainly dry and quiet weather.

Actually the weather may vary tremendously even in the central regions of an anti-cyclone. This has happened times without number over a limited area.

From records of the weather when an anti-cyclone predominated for a week and the "further outlook" on each day was "mainly fair," here is a description of the weather for seven days:

- (1) Fine to dull. No rain
- (2) Cloudy. No rain, no sunshine
- (3) Fine. Sunny
- (4) Overcast. Slight local drizzle
- (5) Overcast. No rain
- (6) Fine. Sunny
- (7) Fine to cloudy. No rain

Sometimes we see the forecast "mainly fair, apart from local showers." If the reader of such a forecast contemplated a day at Fanning, or a long jaunt in the open air, he would be justified in expecting the worst and hoping for the best.

"LOCAL SHOWERS"

In the particular district in which he wished to travel, the "local showers" might become so frequent as to make conditions unpleasant, while at no great distance the showers might be slight and interspersed with long sunny intervals.

The forecast proves correct, but is of little value as a guide to the precise weather changes in limited areas.

Another elusive weather term probably used more often than any other, is "unsettled." Just what kind of weather this term is meant to imply, nobody knows. The general weather situation may be "unsettled" when the sun is shining brightly from a cloudless sky.

This is particularly the case when a short interval of fair weather is being followed by a new depression.

The word "changeable" covers a multitude of weather conditions. If a forecaster each day predicted that the weather would be "changeable," with "fair periods," he would attain an accuracy of about 80 per cent.

DOG CHAINED TO TREE AND LEFT TO DIE

ALIVE AFTER TEN DAYS

Said to have chained a dog to a tree in the middle of a wood and left it to die, Henry Arthur Smith, a carter, of Winters Hill, Bishop's Waltham, a married man with five children, was sentenced to a month's hard labour at Dorothea, Hampshire, last month.

He was also disqualified for life from taking out a dog licence. It was stated that the dog was found by a farmer after it had been left for ten days. It was too weak to stand and had had to be destroyed. Smith, who pleaded not guilty, said that he gave the dog to a man who handed it to another man who was to take it to Andover.

Future Of "Big" Amateur Tennis Is In The Balance

TSUI IS INVITED TO MANILA

For The Championship REPRESENT COLONY

(By "Veritas")

Tsui Wai-pui, singles tennis champion of Hongkong, is to be invited to visit Manila next year to participate in the Philippines All-Corner tennis championship.

An official invitation has been received by Mr. L. R. Hefonso from Dr. Ylanan, head of the P.I.L.T.A., but it is not yet definitely known whether Tsui will be able to accept.

It has been decided by the Philippines L.T.A. to invite two Japanese ranking players, two Malayan players and the Hongkong champion down to Manila for this event in 1937.

Their passages will be paid each way and they will be guests of the Association.

Tsui Wai-pui has already been approached about the project and he is hopeful that he will be able to accept the invitation.

If this is possible Hongkong will be officially represented at the Philippines All-Corner championship for the first time.

It is also possible that if Tsui goes, he will be invited to take part in a tennis tour of the provinces.

CONFIRMATION

Perry To Tour The United States Soon

New York, Nov. 9.—Jack Kridler, treasurer of a group of sportsmen, announced today that he had signed up Fred Perry to tour the United States as a professional. He would be playing with Ellsworth Vines. The first appearance, it was stated, would be in Madison Square Garden early in January.

Kridler stated that he doubted if Perry would later join Tilden.—United Press.

VINES'S ACE SERVING

"Where Did That One Go?"

TILDEN'S AMAZING RANGE OF SHOTS

(By "Veritas")

FIFTEEN hundred pairs of eyes moved eagerly up and down the specially prepared stand court at the Hongkong Cricket Club yesterday watching "Big Bill" Tilden and Ellsworth Vines flashing out shots with their tennis rackets which veritably took one's breath away.

Service deliveries of incredible speed, searing forehand and backhand drives, cheeky cross-court drop shots, and vicious cut strokes were exploited in rapid succession and contributed towards one of the most entertaining displays of lawn tennis Hongkong has yet been privileged to enjoy.

It would be foolish to suggest that either Tilden or Vines touched peak form during their two sets which Vines, aged 25, took from Tilden, aged 43, by scores of 14-12, 6-3. Errors there were in plenty. Some of them startling in their simplicity. But there were sufficient number of dazzling shots and scintillating rallies to compensate for any of the lapses.

COURT DIFFICULTIES

I think it is fair to the players to suggest that they utilised the occasion chiefly to become accustomed to the court. Actually they haven't played each other on a grass surface for the better part of a year, and it was palpably clear from the mistakes both men made off the ground in the opening games that they were finding the varying pace of the court a little disconcerting.

Not that the court played badly. It was in excellent condition and a great credit to the H.K.C.C. ground staff. But after playing on clay, wood, rubble, cement and other types of hardcourt surfaces for the last few months, it was natural that the players should be affected in their immediate return to lawn. Tilden essayed the majority of his extensive repertoire of strokes, although he favoured the slice and undercut, especially on the backhand. Only once or twice, as a very successfully spectacular gesture did he whizz over his famous "cannon-ball" service. Mostly he relied on the ordinary slice, although there was enough pace on the balls to make the swiftest service by local players look "dolly" shots by comparison. On the other hand Vines, after a quiet opening, brought his service guns into active and highly effective use. He finished off the first set with three absolutely untakable service deliveries. Tilden could only nod his head in admiration, while the crowd breathed "where did that one go?"

BASELINE TACTICS

Both players showed preference for the baseline and the rallies were usually conducted from this position. In the second set Vines did a bit of net storming and scored with one or two gorgeous volleys. But he made a sad mess of his first attempt to "kill" from half court, and his second effort was not clean.

Vines usually had Tilden groggy when he got him running to his backhand corner. The tall Californian, once he had obtained a fair measure of control over the balls, was constantly forcing the pace with remarkably low-trajectory drives on either hand, which Tilden faced de-

RUGBY "EXPENSES" MAY BE QUERIED

Rugby football pavilion gossip and suburban tea-party talk have much in common. Subjects for smiles and head-shaking discussed at both.

(By Len Munroe)

Pavilion topics this season include amateur status, unsatisfactory arrangement of club fixtures, and—perhaps in rivalry with our Soccer friends—rough play. Mention of near-professionalism is not a hardy annual, but getting on that way. Latest revival hints at official action being taken here and there in the matter of expenses and so forth.

Governing powers are well armed if necessary. Take, for instance, the booklet of by-laws issued with authority of the Rugby Union. Fourteen pages of "Rules as to Professionalism" included. Pretty comprehensive, too.

The allegation about fixtures is that occasionally one club drops the other, without much warning, in order to take on opponents deemed more attractive.

Justifiable, of course. But everything should be done to avoid inconvenience for the club dropped.

THRUST-OUT ELBOW

As for rough play—well, use of thrust-out elbow or foot is not confined to Soccer. Sometimes employed by winging forwards, beaten for the heel, to check breakaway by the opposing scrum-half.

Early action was taken by the referee in one game which was watched. Would-be stoppers penalised for obstruction. No further trouble.

English clubs scored off the Welsh "Big Three" on balance last weekend. True, Swansea beat Richmond as expected, but Blackheath 21, Newport 6, and Gloucester 13, Cardiff 0—these indeed, were surprising results.

It looks as though Cardiff, even with Cliff Jones and Wilfred Wooller playing, can be held by determined team work.

And Blackheath would appear to be getting over their forward weaknesses.

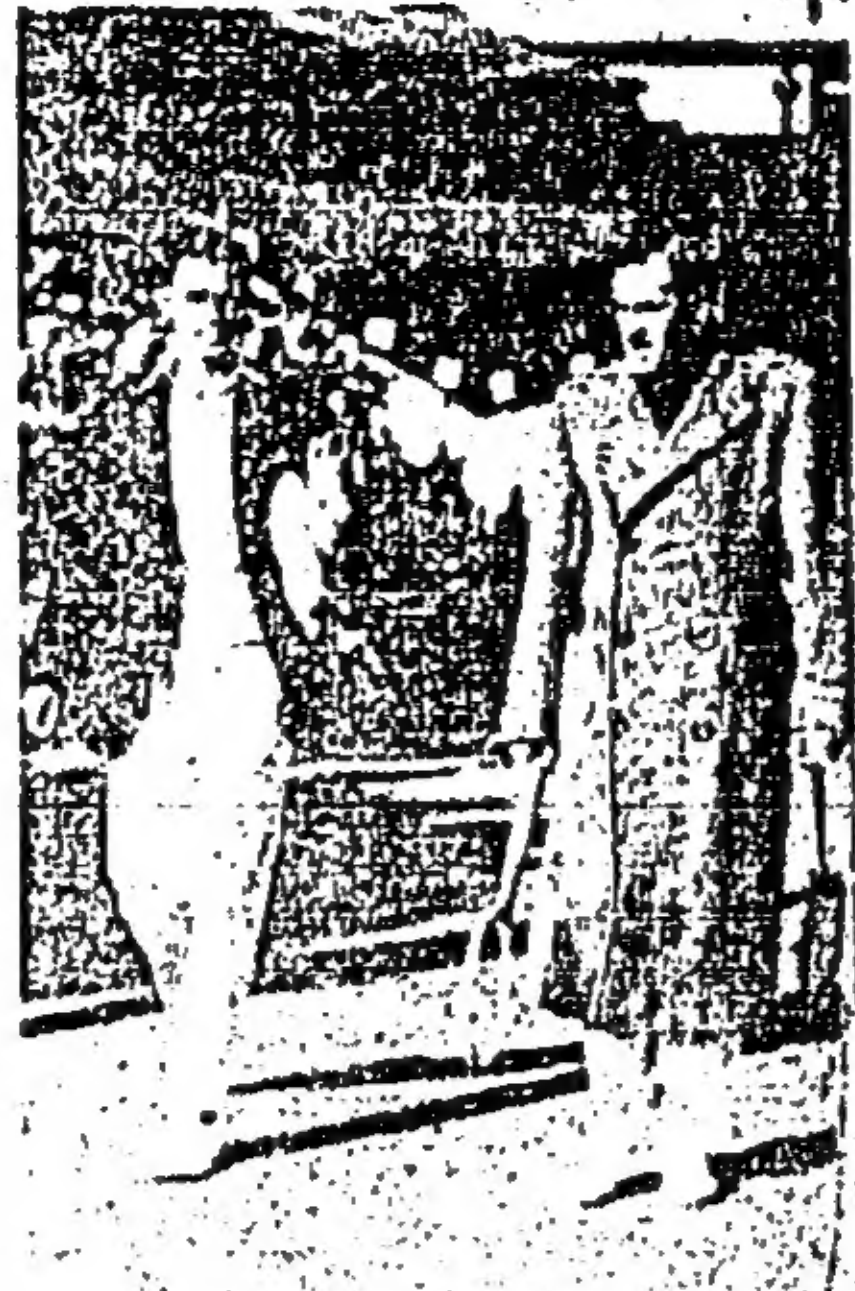

Blackheath outside A. F. Coombe promises to be Johnny Kemp-like as a player who can fill many posts.

He was a wing in R.M.A. team two years ago, centre three-quarter for the club, without this season, stand-off half against Newport in the absence of G. A. Walker.

The rival Services, Devonport and Portsmouth, should be value for a great games at Devonport next Saturday.

Both appear to be stronger than they were last season. U.S. (Portsmouth) revival particularly welcome after their bad time in 1935-6.

The return of Lieutenant W. Elliot as captain and stand-off half has made a lot of difference. I am told that he is in great form—which suggests cheery news for England. Portsmouth may have advantage outside, looking to next Saturday, and Devonport forward.

Ireland's Football Team

TO PLAY ENGLAND THIS MONTH

London, Nov. 9.

The Irish International football team to meet England on November 10 was selected to-day as follows.

Green (Belfast Celtic); Cook (Everton) and Fulton (Belfast Celtic); McCullough (Manchester City); Jones (Hibernian) and Mitchell (Chelsea); Brown (Coventry); Stevenson (Everton); Davis (Oldham); Doherty (Manchester City) and Kelly (Derby City).

There are four changes in the forward line which played recently against Scotland, and players from no less than six English clubs and one Scottish club have been included in the team.—Reuter.

OPEN TOURNAMENTS INEVITABLE

(Special To "Telegraph" By "Veritas")

SPEAKING with great earnestness, and choosing his words carefully and deliberately, William T. Tilden, the famous professional tennis player last evening told guests at a dinner held by the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association that the day of open tennis tournaments in which amateurs and professionals played together must surely come;

that as an ex-amateur and now a professional he was convinced that the growth and betterment of tennis depended on the future co-operation between the amateur and professional players throughout the world;

that unless the International Federation and its members were prepared to drop their attitude towards professionalism and to withdraw their present ban on the professional players, the large stadiums and playing arenas in which had been invested huge sums of money, would become White Elephants. National championships were in danger of being played before empty stands;

that he believed the time had come when the powerful voice of thousands of players all over the world would be lifted against the small body of officials of the International Federation which would demand open tournaments, and that possibly the holding of the tennis matches in Hongkong between himself and Vines, which were being conducted under the auspices of the Hongkong L.T.A., an amateur body, would be the thin edge of a driving wedge which would have its effect all over the world and make an important contribution towards open tournaments.

Mr. Ng Sze-kiang, President H.K.L.T.A., presided at the dinner held in the Roof Garden of the Hongkong Hotel at which W. T. Tilden, Ellsworth Vines and Mr. Vines were the guests of honour, and in proposing the health of the two distinguished players, Mr. Ng said how gratified they were that Mr. Tilden and Mr. Vines had been kind enough to give public exhibitions. He felt sure that as a result of what they had seen, and also from what they had heard from Mr. Tilden at his lecture, that tennis players in Hongkong would derive considerable benefit. Years ago tennis in Europe and America was regarded as a "lady's game," but since the advent of players like the Doherty brothers, McLoughlin, Tilden and others it had become a game of great science and demanding perfect physical condition. It was a game which could be easily described, but the putting into effect of the principles of play was another thing. Nevertheless he could assure Messrs. Tilden and Vines that their demonstrations in Hongkong would have a lasting effect on the game in the Colony.

After expressing appreciation of the gesture of the Hongkong L.T.A. sponsoring the matches between him and Vines, Tilden said that such a game opened the way to the real solution of the amateur-professional problem.

"It has always been my belief both as an amateur, and now as a professional, that the game of tennis is a game to be played as much as possible, and that whether that game is played by amateurs or professionals does not make a great deal of difference so long as the traditions of the game are upheld."

TILDEN'S WARNING

Mr. Tilden continued that they who were amateurs, and had now become professionals, certainly had a very sincere desire to aid the growth and betterment of tennis both amateur and professional, and the only way that could be successfully done was through co-operation between the amateurs and professionals to the betterment of both games.

The present-day trend was that the young amateurs were turning professional, and with the loss of these great stars the standard of the top flight amateurs deteriorated. The only way in which the standard of amateur tennis could be upheld was by making it possible for the rising young amateurs who were going to be great players in the very near future to meet those great amateur players of the immediate past who were now in the professional ranks.

"Young players such as Budger, Quigley, McCall, Henkel, and several young English players like Hare, Wilde and Tuckey, if they are ever to become the players they really should become, must meet, in competition, such masters of the game as Cochet, Vines and Perry—because Perry passes from the amateur ranks this year."

"Even such stars as Austin and Von Cramm cannot improve if their sole competition is going to be between themselves."

Mr. Tilden went on to say that unless the national Lawn Tennis Associations were prepared to co-operate between the amateurs and professionals, the large investments made in such places like Stade Roland Garros, Forest Hills, and so forth, and the huge stadiums they had built would be empty and would prove to be nothing but White Elephants. He was convinced that more and more leading amateurs

UNIVERSITY BOAT RACE

CHANGE OVER

London, Oct. 19.

Cambridge rowing now shows a tendency to swing back again to the position from which Oxford has veered. The 1936 race was not a satisfactory performance from a domestic point of view. There was much imperfect achievement partially hidden under the charitable smearing that swivels can provide in the case of men who are not wholly convinced of their efficiency, or else not really versed in their use.

The fact that the Olympic crew under the Cambridge President's direction reverted to fixed pins for the Berlin Games is significant of this uneasiness, and it is highly probable that 1937 may see Cambridge on fixed pins and Oxford on swivels.

It is a thousand pities that Laurie will not be able to carry out this absorbing experiment, for Cambridge had in him an outstanding President as well as a superb oarsman.

But Lennon (Third Trinity), who now takes the reins, may be regarded as a definitely convinced adherent who will carry out the tactics and strategy envisaged by his late chief.

An unofficial view of the coaching is that it will be a blend of ideas which have gone to the making of Harg Thomas regime, and of the two which followed.

SCHOOL HOCKEY

Ellis Kadoorie Beat Queen's College

The Ellis Kadoorie Indian School hockey team defeated Queen's College in an exciting game played on the Radio Sports Club ground at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon by two goals to nil.

In spite of their small stature, the Indian School players put up a fine show and led by a goal to nil in the first half.

Telok Singh, their centre-forward, was the outstanding player in the team. Sarwan Singh and Naranjan Singh were the best players for the losers.

Remarkable Speech By Tilden

and Forest Hills; nor by those two or three little Associations in France and elsewhere, but by those tennis players all over the world, who will tell the International Federation that the time has come for open tournaments.

"And I believe that in this holding here in Hongkong of these matches by the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association is the slight edge of an entering wedge which may have an effect all over the world and be the means of giving us open tennis tournaments."

VINES PLEASED

Mr. Ellsworth Vines also replied to the toast, saying what a pleasure it was to Mrs. Vines, Tilden and himself to visit Hongkong, to play here. They were greatly indebted to the Hongkong L.T.A. for such an excellent entertainment as they had had that evening and he hoped that before they finally said goodbye to Hongkong they would be able to give them some enjoyable tennis to watch.

Mr. H. R. B. Hancock also spoke briefly, saying what pleasure it gave the Lawn Tennis Association to receive and entertain such distinguished players. He recalled seeing both Tilden and Vines at Wimbledon, and emphasised that in Hongkong we had much to learn in the way of restraining feelings during the rallies. It was essential in the modern game of high-speed tennis that the players should not be distracted during the rallies, and he hoped that Hongkong and other places would one day learn to realise the importance of this.

termined until one, usually a bit faster off the ground and slightly more angled, caught him unprepared.

Tilden was never all out, but he gave a delightful exhibition of stroke production, and an object lesson in methods for obtaining deceptive flights, varied paces and changing angles.

Vines was rather more straightforward and relied chiefly on his attacking drives which at times were so speedy as to be practically impossible to follow in flight.
Tilden also provided some pleasant showmanship which went down well with the crowd. "Oh, Baby" he called out once when a lovely return of his just cleared the translins, and later, when Vines caught him running all the wrong way, Tilden reproved himself with "Oh Your feet!". The match was played in an ideal atmosphere. Both players remained happy despite a few lucky shots which went against each other at times.

In other respects too the exhibition was an excellent affair. The crowd was large and appreciative the umpiring and lining was efficient and satisfactory, and the weather perfect.

It was certainly a nice curtain-raiser for the big match which will be the best of five sets. I think this afternoon we shall really see how tennis should be played.

DECORATED BY ANNAM
UNIQUE CEREMONY IN HONGKONG

An interesting and probably unique ceremony for this Colony took place at the residence of the French Consul-General M. J. Leurquin yesterday, when His Excellency Vice-Admiral J. P. Esteve, Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far East, bestowed orders conferred by His Majesty Bao Dai, Emperor of Annam.

Excellent arrangements had been made for the ceremony of investiture and the band of the French Flageolet, the cruiser Lamotte Piquet provided a musical programme throughout. The presence of the Flageolet with Vice-Admiral Esteve aboard was singularly opportune and the officers of the Admiral Charnet, Argus and Lamotte Piquet, supplemented the gathering of the French and Chinese communities.

The Admiral and the Consul General were supported by the presence of Capt. R. Bastard, Lamotte Piquet; Capt. R. de Baudens, Gunboat Argus and Commander of the West River Flotilla; and M. C. Renner, Vice-Consul. The recipients stood before a table on which the certificates and decorations were lying as M. Leurquin addressed the assembly.

The Consul General said: "Admiral, Ladies and Gentlemen, I beg to be forgiven by my guests of honour as well as by my countrymen, if I use the English language instead of their own or our own; but, it will be a means to associate in some way our British friends with the ceremony we are holding in this beautiful Colony."

If it would be too pompous to say that this ceremony is a historic one, it is fair to assume that it is an unprecedented one, as never before, if I am correct, were five gentlemen in Hongkong, nor in China, invested at the same time with Indo-Chinese decorations.

These five gentlemen, as you know, are:

Captain Major, Chief of Police of Macao, made an Officer of the Order of Million Elephants and White Parasol.

M. Chan Sul-ky, distinguished scholar, as well as prominent business man, made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Kwok Chun, Comptroller of the Banque de l'Indo-Chine made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Lam Chi-fung, representative of the Charbonnages du Tonkin, made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Sequin, Chief of Criminal Intelligence Service of Macao, made a Knight of the Order of Million Elephants and White Parasol.

Polley Of Peace.

To each and all of them, on behalf of H. E. the Governor-General of Indo-China, as well as of the French Community, I extend my warm congratulations.

It would certainly be against the wishes of these gentlemen to enlarge upon the length for the work they have performed and the services they have rendered to Indo-China; but I will certainly meet with their desire if I invite this distinguished gathering to see, through their persons, meritorious as they are, the great nations of which they are the representatives, above the decorations, the spirit which has prompted their bestowing.

One single word sums up all the foreign policy of France: peace; peace; not dealt out with a bludgeon, but instilled in the hearts by genuine friendship.

This programme is very easy to announce; we must admit that it is sometimes difficult to be put into practice. At last, it is gratifying to see how it is endorsed and received among others by our friends of Great Britain, Portugal and China.

Nor in Europe, nor in Asia, have Portugal and France any common frontier; but, much better, they have in common their Latin ancestry.

Moreover, in this part of the world, Portugal is entitled to the gratitude of all, foreigners and Chinese, for the splendid spirit of energy and wisdom of the great navigators who, many centuries ago, opened to European thought and business new roads towards the then quite unknown Cathay, Whites or Yellows, we are indebted to the pioneers who founded and maintained Macao.

Geographically, the situation is absolutely different as far as China is concerned. Over thousands of li, she has a common border with the France of Asia, with Indo-China. On no other of her frontiers have less incidents occurred during the last years. The calm which prevails there derives from deliberate spirit of cordiality which inspires both the local Chinese and Indo-Chinese authorities, both the Chinese and French Governments.

To be real friends, and must first know of each other perfectly well. Allow me to take this opportunity of expressing the wish that Chinese as well as French make a serious effort in that direction. Of course, I am aware of the interest extended by the Chinese community towards the economic development of Indo-China; but, still, I think that more should be done to discover and appreciate the true French spirit; and on the other hand, I hasten to add, as a deep conviction, that many more Frenchmen from Indo-China officials or unofficials, would have much to learn and profit by a direct study of the conditions in South China. A trip to Hongkong, Macao and Canton is a pleasure to the eye and a benefit to the mind. Let me wish that what is now a mere wish will soon become a daily reality, and that better knowledge will lead to better understanding and better understanding to ever increasing amity.

Ladies and Gentlemen, — We are honoured to-day by the presence amongst us of the Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far East, Admiral Esteve. To the Frenchmen abroad, the arrival of a ship hoisting our glorious tricolor is always a matter of emotion and rejoicing; it means for them a maternal caress of their beloved country; it means, for the foreign peoples a message of goodwill and friendship. But nowhere more than in the Far East is the French Navy so closely associated with the glory and influence of France. Nobody amidst us could ignore how the great Admirals of the last century organised Cochinchina; nobody could forget what heroism the French sailors, when necessarily arose, displayed to protect their countrymen; nobody could overlook that the friendly spirit extended to France by China is for a good part, the result of the cordial relations existing in the great ports between the local authorities and our Naval Officers; here as in the Metropole, the both powerful but pacific French Navy is with the Army, the sacred pillar of the Fatherland.

Therefore, it is but fair to have the Navy participating in the friendly gathering of to-day; and, since Admiral Esteve has very kindly consented to present himself to the incumbents of the insignia of the Indo-Chinese Orders, I dare say, Gentlemen, that it is really France herself who will just now bestow on you the decorations you have so well deserved.

Admiral's Speech.

His Excellency then planned the decoration on each of the recipients and congratulated them warmly.

The Admiral said: "I am very pleased to be here this afternoon, because this ceremony is in itself a manifestation of friendship and amity between the countries of France, China, Portugal and Britain. I wish with everybody else that the nations of the world will come together in good agreement."

Recently I was at lunch in Shanghai when the Royal Air Force Association President made a speech and in answer to him I said that the best asset of a Nation was peace. We must all—Army, Navy and Air Force—do all we can to this end and, it was inevitable, it is our duty to act so that our Governments will have confidence in us. The best way to enforce peace is to convince the other Nations of our good faith and of our determination to play fair in all our negotiations, diplomatic and commercial. We must not try to gain peace by violence or by annexing the wealth of other Nations. I am sure that the many British Officers with whom I am acquainted will agree with me as will those of other nationalities."

This concluded the official part of the ceremony and the guests then dispersed to partake of the refreshments which had been provided.

Amongst those present were the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotevill, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, Dr. Mrs. Li Shiu-fan, Mr. Peter H. Sin, Miss Helena Yue, Mr. Kun Tong-po, Mr. and Mrs. Fung Ping-fan, M. Laborinho, relatives of the recipients and many others.

Mr. Lam Chi-fung was graciously pleased to acknowledge the splendid services of Mr. Lam Chi-fung in negotiating the China-Indo-China Commercial Treaty which replaces the old Treaty expired in 1935. With that Treaty came to an end, China and Indo-China were constantly raising tariff walls against each other causing ill-feeling and hampering trade considerably.

Under the sponsorship of the Swatow Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Lam spent three weeks in Nanking and, in collaboration with Mr. Wang Ching-wei, China's Minister of Foreign Affairs, and other officials, successfully concluded a new understanding which has benefited thousands in both countries. Mr. Wang Ching-wei expressed his appreciation of Mr. Lam's help by presenting him with a eulogistic scroll.

Keenly interested in the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Mr. Lam was one of those who welcomed His Excellency the Governor to this Colony. At present vice-President of the movement here, he is also one of the Trustees of the Pui To Girls' Middle School, a Trustee of the Pui Ching Boys' Middle School of Canton, and maintains from his own funds the Kin Kay Free Schools at his home district of Swatow.

Amongst other interests, Mr. Lam is founder of the China Motor Bus Company, the New Asia Hotel Co., Ltd., a partner in the large rice firm of Yong Hong Long and managing director of Messrs. Sze Wai and Co.

Mr. Chan Sul-ki is the Managing Director of the Kwong Hang Hing which has rice mills in Saigon. He is the son of the late Mr. Chan Ching-wei and a native of Sun Wui District of the Province of Kwangtung. He is known as one of the leading importers and millers of Saigon Rice but is not only a rice merchant but an inventor, as he has invented the To Tee System of short-hand which a foreigner can learn in three hours. He has also invented artificial jade, marble, etc., and his latest invention is artificial silk made from a Chinese fibre or plant. His charities over a period of years amount to over one million dollars and he recently donated over fifty thousand dollars for the Hoang Ho Flood Relief.

Mr. Kwok Chan, the second son of the late Mr. Kwok Shiu-lau, is well known in sporting circles, being twice President of the Chinese Bathing Club. He has been Comptroller of the Banque de l'Indo-Chine since 1929, having entered the Bank's service in 1924. He is also Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Chinese Police Reserve Finance Committee, a member of the Committee of the Street Boys' Club, Joint Hon. Secretary of the University Women's Hostel Committee, a member of the Committee of the Comptrollers' Association and the Committee of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Vice-President of the St. John Ambulance Brigade and Association, a former director of the Tung Wah and Eastern Hospitals, an ex-director of the Po Leung Kuek, and Joint Hon. Treasurer of the Hongkong Society for the Protection of Children.

CINEMA NOTES

One of the most uproarious laugh riots of the year is now at the King's Theatre, with the release of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Piccadilly Jim," starring Robert Montgomery. Of all the hilarious comedies written by the brilliant British humorist, P. G. Wodehouse, "Piccadilly Jim" has been proclaimed his funniest. The picture brings together for the first time in three years the romantic team of Montgomery and Madge Evans. They were last seen together in "Lovers Courageous." Directed by Robert Z. Leonard, who made "The Great Ziegfeld," the new picture gives Montgomery and Miss Evans a stellar supporting cast that includes a new comedy team, Frank Morgan and Billie Burke, in addition to Eric Blore, Robert Denchley, Ralph Forbes, Cora Witherspoon, Grant Mitchell, Aileen Pringle and Billy Bevan. "Piccadilly Jim" is the story of a young American caricaturist in London who plunges into romantic difficulties by unknowingly becoming involved in a comic strip the family of the girl with whom he is in love. The settings of London and New York and the trans-Atlantic steamer backgrounds are described as among the most beautiful ever designed by Cedric Gibbons. Harry Rapf was the producer.

"The Road to Glory"

The great love drama of the great war, "The Road to Glory," 20th Century Fox production closes to-day at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres, reveals itself as one of the outstanding cinema achievements of the year. Painted against a background of the seething kaleidoscope of battle, no-man's land, and war-torn France, the film depicts love in all its phases—love of heart-starved fighting men; love of women who can only wait; love of a soldier father and hero-son; love of a cause they all must serve; love of what our world calls glory. Vibrantly enacted by an impressive cast including Fredric March, Warner Baxter, Lionel Barrymore, June Lang and Gregory Ratoff, the film tells a robust, dramatic story, and maintains an intense suspense from beginning to end. You don't "see" "The Road to Glory"—you live it. All the strangeness of this drama, the might of its emotion, the fire of its stars, get you, deep down inside. Directed by Howard Hawks.

"Singing Kid"

The new Al Jolson musical comedy "The Singing Kid" is now at the Majestic Theatre. To those who know their movies in general and Al Jolson films in particular, nothing more is needed than this brief statement, for Al, like good wine, gets better as year follows year—retaining all the youthful vigour for which he has been famous for decades, and gaining in whimsicality, stage craft and qualities of entertainment. Never was Jolson in better voice, nor has he ever shown more pep and vivacity, than in singing the tuneful airs of this piece and in frolicking through the riotous comedy situations. Among others, he sings with little Sybil Jason, the six-year-old child wonder, who not only has an excellent voice, but is a rare imitator and a capable and understanding actress. Beverly Roberts, who plays opposite Jolson in the feminine lead, is new to the screen, having just recently been a sensation on Broadway. Claire Dodd is capable and coldly beautiful in the role of the siren whose gold-digging proclivities and fickleness puts the singing kid on the rocks. Edward Everett Horton, as Jolson's secretary, Allen

Tilden and Vines, who made use of the latest model Cadillac Convertible Phaeton, for their personal transportation during their two-day visit to Shanghai.

CHARITY FUNDS RESPONSE TO THE POPPY DAY APPEAL

The British Legion Employment Department has persevered in its efforts to obtain openings for disabled men as car park attendants under the British Legion schemes. There are now some 50 towns throughout Britain where these schemes are in operation.

The local Poppy Day Fund stands as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$4,307
H.K. & Shanghai Banking Corporation	50
K. S. Morrison	10
Alfred Morris	5
Club Lusitano	3
Total	$4,402

Further contributions will be gratefully received by Mr. F. G. Maumder, Secretary to Earl Haig's Fund, York Bldg., Hongkong. Cheques should be made payable to Thomson & Co., and crossed "Poppy Day Fund."

Jenkins, as his valet, and Jack Durand and Frank Mitchell, the famous Broadway comedians, furnish much of the rollicking fun of the piece.

"Blockade"

Destroyers, torpedo boats, cruisers, tramp steamers, choppers, liners, dirigibles and submarines are included in the cast of the new British film, "Blockade," whilst the most outstanding personality appearing in the picture is Earl Jellicoe, who kindly consented to make a personal appearance in this New Era owing to the great importance of the subject with which it deals—the British Mystery Fleet, which did so much towards breaking the back of the U-boat menace. Other outstanding scenes in this film are the landing in Ireland of the first U.S. officer on active service; the sinking of the "Amy" by gunfire from a submarine; and the sinking of the U-boat 98 by the crew of the "Stockforce"; the blowing up of a submarine in the Scapa Flow minefield; and the spectacular scenes caused by the firing of depth charges. The film is now showing at the Central Theatre.

VISIT TO SHING MUN OUTING OF EURO-AMERICAN RETURNED STUDENTS

The members of the Euro-American Returned Students' Union of Hongkong paid a visit to the Shing Mun Dam on Sunday. Special permission for the visit was issued by Mr. G. B. Gifford-Hull, resident engineer of the Shing Mun Valley water scheme. A total of 28 cars started from the Star Ferry car park, Kowloon, at 2.30 p.m., led by Mr. J. P. English of the Shing Mun water works, and arrived at the works at 3 p.m., being met by Mr. Hercovitch and Mr. Sanderson, two of the engineers.

The party then split up into two groups, one led by Mr. Sanderson and the other by Mr. Hercovitch, both of whom must have had a busy time answering questions by those members who were interested in the engineering projects, and who were obviously graduates in engineering from Europe and America. A feature of the outing was the large number of ladies present.

After inspecting various parts of the works, the party of some 130 people set down to tea at 4.30 p.m., and had a most enjoyable afternoon. They left at 5 p.m. The entire committee and almost every member of the Union attended the picnic.

The next function of the Union this season is a dinner dance to be held at the Hongkong Hotel on Wednesday, December 9, and the committee are also arranging a hiking picnic and other outings to take place some time in January.

The Oriental Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, is a sparkling happy comedy, and contains all the famous song hits associated with this play. Bing Crosby, the singing star, is the feature attraction, and carried off honours with his breezy style of acting and singing. The high point of the picture, vocally, is a set of parodies on "You're the Top," which he and Ethel Merman sing, and which evoke surprise and delight. Others in the cast of players are Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bradley. In addition to the song hits associated with its name, the picture has new songs by Cole Porter and others. The direction is by Lewis Milestone, and the dance routines were elaborated by LeRoy Prinz.

Guide to buying a pipe

WHAT sort of pipe do you usually buy? If you are a young blood you probably buy a light, round-bowled one. Parsons like S-shaped stems and large bowls. The King smokes a small apple-shaped bowl.

General tendency is to buy heavier pipes as you get older, ending up with something massive on the end of a curved stem.

But it does not matter much about the shape, the important thing is the grain. The ideal pipe has a grain running straight from top to bottom of the bowl all the way round ending in a bird's eye at the bottom.

These are made by hand from specially selected wood. If they were made by machine you would not get more than about one really first-class straight-grained pipe in ten gross.

Not more than one in twelve machine-made pipes is of premier quality.

Absolute minimum to pay for a good straight-grained pipe, unless you are very lucky, is about $5. In swank shops you pay $25.

Breaking-in

Good pipes are often sold without being coloured. That is, because they are a dark, rich colour after being smoked. Cheap pipes have to be stained.

Good pipes are often massive to look at, but always light in the mouth. That is because every drop of sap has been allowed to drain out.

Straight-grained pipes break in quickly. They do not char, but develop a thin layer of carbon which helps the smoke.

Some manufacturers break pipes in artificially with machines which smoke them. Others paint a layer of carbon round the bowl.

In filling your pipe use the third finger to press the tobacco down. It is the weakest in your hand and is more likely to give the correct pressure.

You can learn plenty about buying pipes from watching them being made. In one little East End shop they make them in the window.

Watch the putty

Most pipes are made from briar-wood, which comes from the roots of small, bush-like trees in Algeria, Corsica, and Spain.

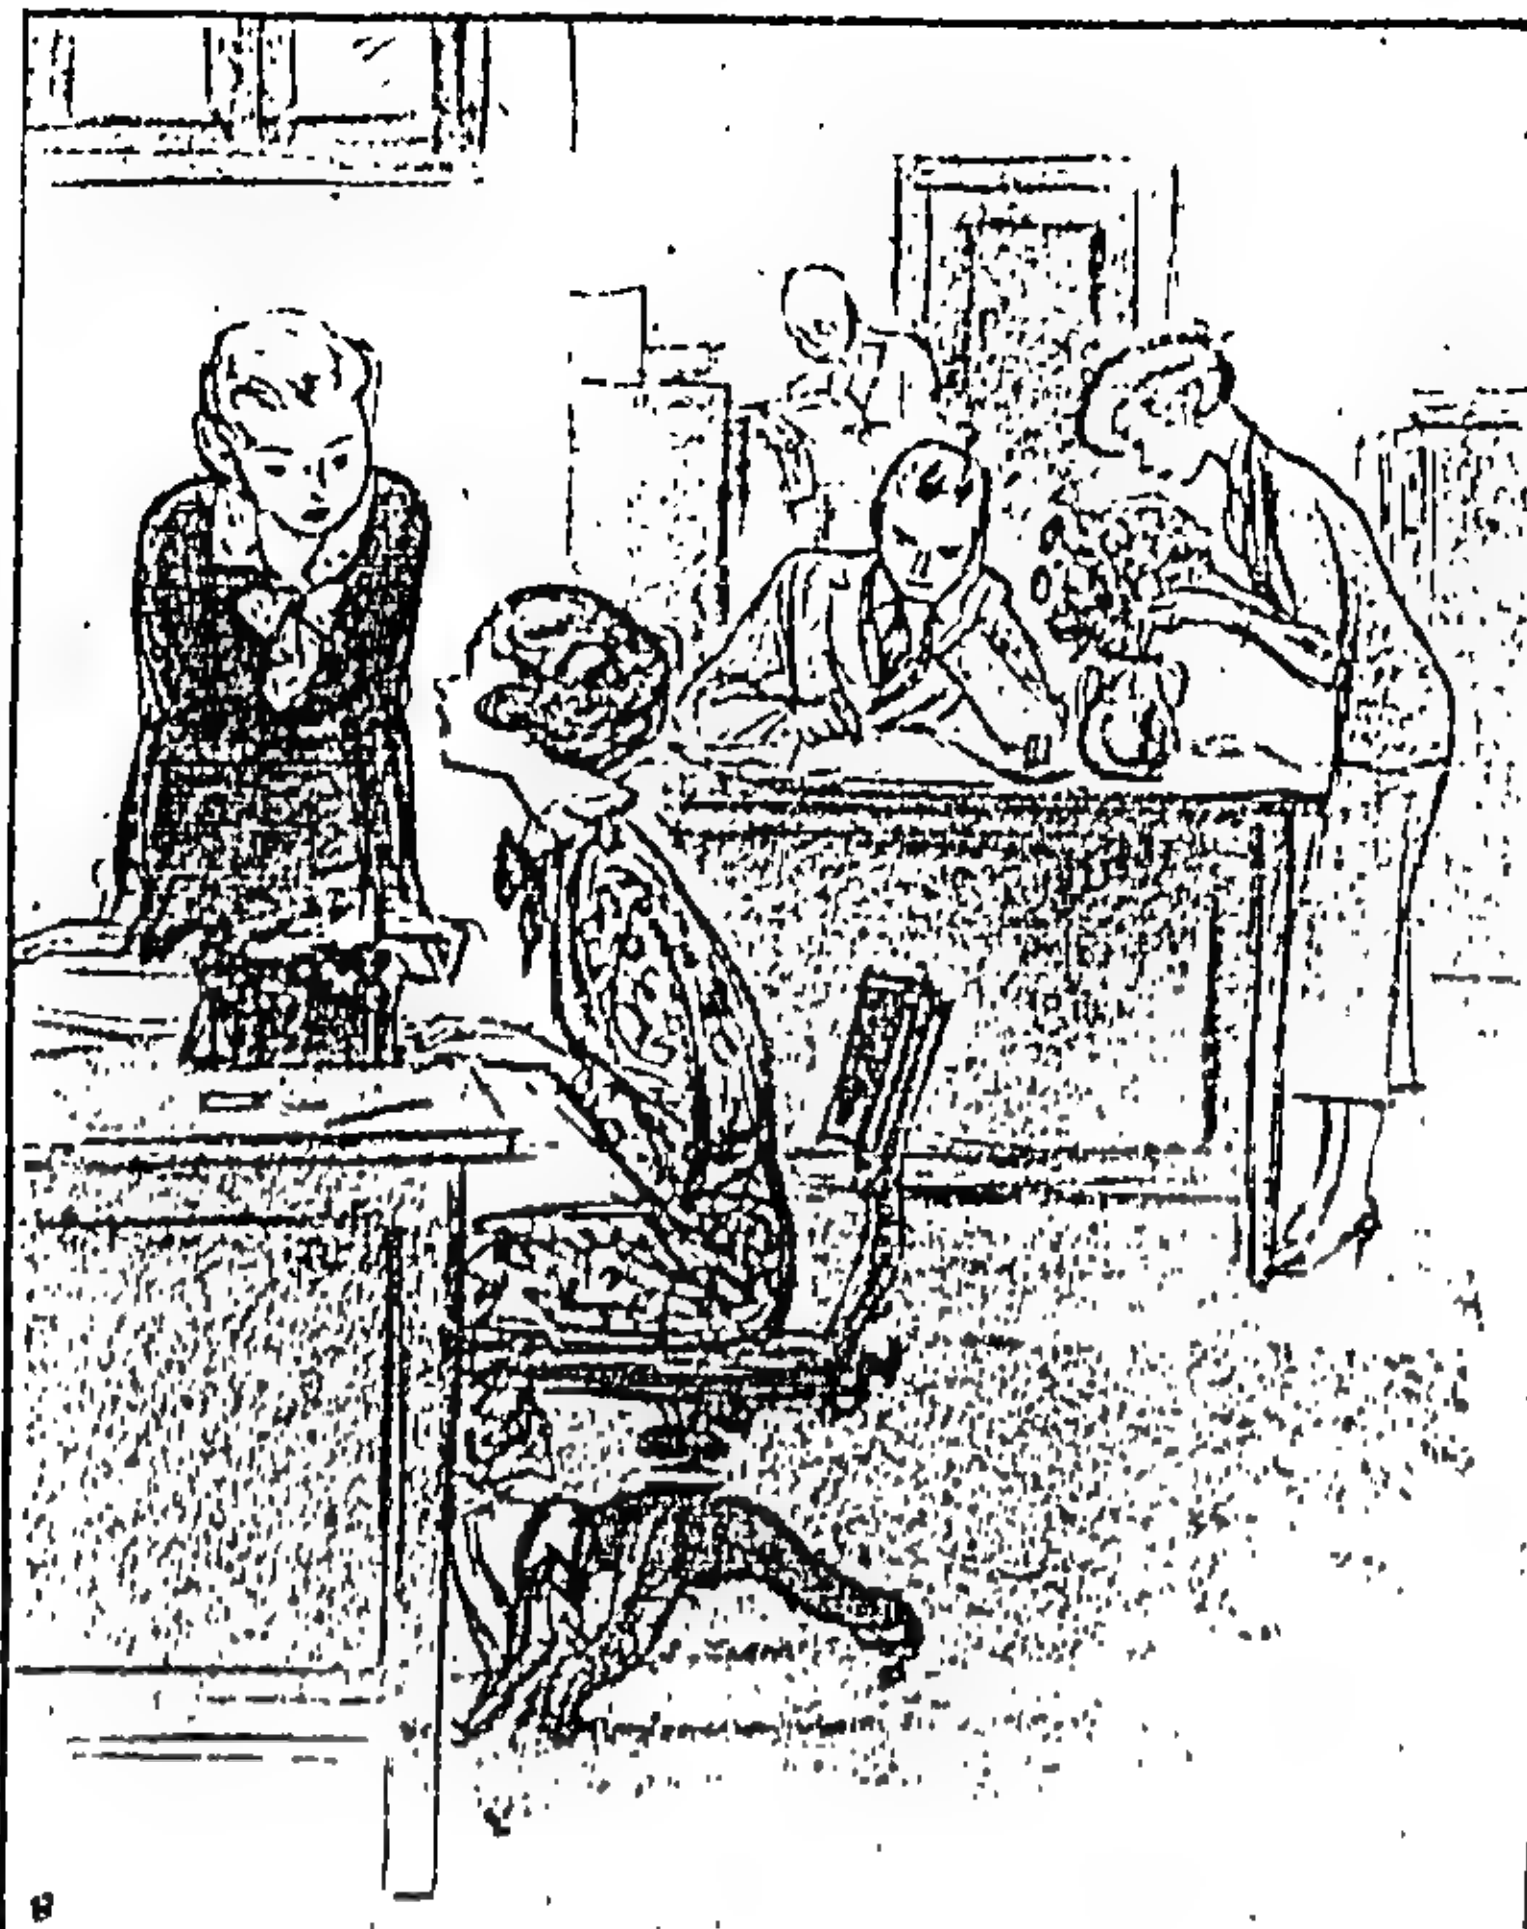

When you ask for a briar-wood pipe the joke is on you. There is no such thing. "Briar" is a corruption of briarwood. Good briarwood is not so plentiful as it was.

If you buy a cheap pipe pick one with as little putty in it as possible. Holes are filled with putty, and it makes the pipe smoke hot.

If any one tries to sell you a "hand-made" pipe with four grip marks inside the bowl, tell him that he has been misled. Grip marks mean machine made.

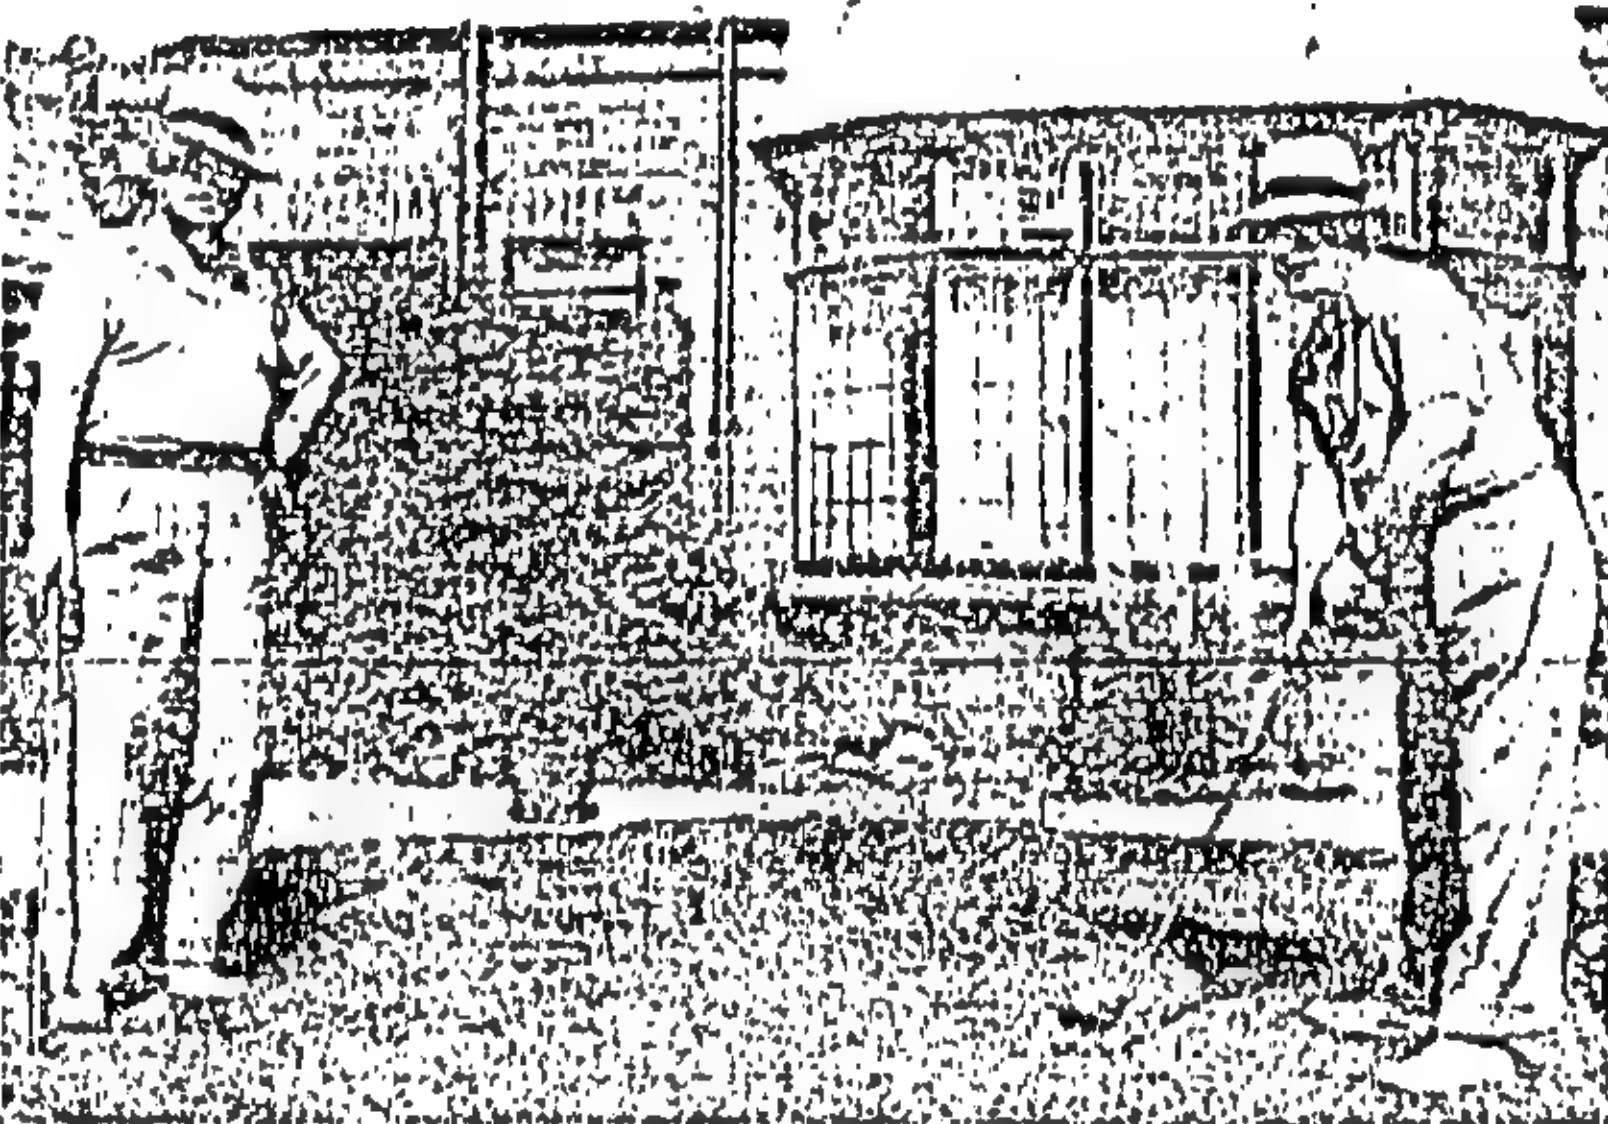

"Tendency is to buy heavier pipes as you get older, ending up with something massive."

"It's his own fault! When they were first married, he thought it was cute of her to hang around the office all the time."

How to snap yourself looking at yourself

FOR men whose hobby is photography here is an amusing trick worth trying. The trick is to make two exposures on one negative.

The only thing that is necessary is a cover to fit over half the lens. This can be made out of cardboard or a tin bottle stopper. It fits loosely over one side of the lens.

Take your snap, then swivel the cover round to the other side of the lens and take another snap.

Of course, to get the correct continuity of the background the camera must be placed on a stand.

Inquisitive

NEWS FROM TARTARY, by Peter Fleming (Jonathan Cape, 12s. 6d.). Excellent story of a most enterprising journey over the shoulder of Asia, from Peking to Srinagar, in India. Makes you feel at home in what for most of us is just a stroke on the map. Mr. Fleming was accompanied on his adventures by Miss Ella Maillart, a fellow journalist. They got on well because she had "a certain friendly contempt" for him, and he "a sneaking respect" for her. The "news" is contained in a discussion of Russia's aims in the province of Sinkiang.

Idle

BOOKSMITHS, by Seldon Trass (Hodder and Stoughton, 7s. 6d.). Blackmail, murder and love. Not too convincing, but passable. The Elder Statesman speaks "in suave tones." The girl in called Ann, and her name sets heavily humming.

THE BARK WALLS, by William

Corcoran (Hodder and Stoughton, 7s. 6d.). Fantastic thriller of American gangsters running arms to Hungary, revolutionary European State. Smuggling, water-front piracy, gang feuds, and killings in low New York saloons.

ROUND ABOUT

by
The Showman

NOW I know why people do not pelt me with roses and climb, screaming, over policemen to ask me to sign their autograph books. It is because I lack navy blue eyelashes.

A beautiful French actress has arrived in London. She is described as having a face "as naturally beautiful that it needed but the slightest frame, the slightest trace of make-up." Well, that is my face all over. My face, too, is "heart-shaped, with a pale luminous skin and greenish eyes." But it is stated that this actress would be "unrecognisable as a film star" were it not for "her navy blue eyelashes."

Just that little touch! And its absence has deprived me all these years of the glamour I crave. . . . Oh, I wish I had navy blue eyelashes!

Real Hollywood make-up-all-right! I would then have a chance of some flaming romance instead of Fate's usual-style ashes!

Note for Mars

WHENEVER a novel old story comes true, I hasten to crown it with rosemary.

Years ago General Sir Archibald Porter-Doddie, who counted no battle won with dirty buttons, remarked: "Now that the war is over we can get back to real soldiering."

And his week a staff officer is quoted as saying that, if the First Division stays in Palestine for more than a few months, next year's Tattler may be seriously interfered with. "Among the minor effects of this exit is the disruption of the whole of the Army, sporting calendar."

Will the Martian observer kindly note the British temperament as reflected in the above? And will he also compare it with the prevailing military mind on the Continent?

Figures At Forty

ROUND about forty you probably did, with, or do feel more than a little apprehensive about the future of your figure. You should not gain more than ten pounds between the ages of forty and fifty-five. If you gain much more than that it means you are eating more than is warranted by the amount of exercise you take. Up to twenty-five excess weight does not matter much. After thirty it is bad for you to be more than fifteen pounds overweight. After forty the relation between overweight and mortality rates becomes unpleasantly marked. That layer of fatness over your body may be comfortable, but do not encourage it. It weakens the muscles and gives a lot more work to the heart. Try to diet and exercise your way back to normal.

Hongkong Telegraph PHOTONEWS

HAPPENINGS AS SEEN BY THE CAMERA'S EYE

This unusual view of Sydney Harbour Bridge was taken by Mr. S. Farrell, crack staff photographer of the Sydney "Sun," who is in Hongkong on a visit. The polished back of a motor car headlamp was used as a reflector.

Autumn was crowded out of the picture in the Rocky Mountain region when a sudden storm with wind and heavy snow blanketed the area. Here is a typical scene in Denver, when the heavy snow-fall broke limbs off trees and camouflaged many automobiles that had been parked at the curb overnight. Many had to dig their cars out from under fallen branches.

52 RACING MOTORISTS IN SMUGGLING PLOT

New Cars Brought Into France and Changed for Old Ones

A monument has been erected in Paris on the second anniversary of the death of King Alexander of Yugoslavia. The picture shows the unveiling ceremony at which the French president and the Yugoslavian War Minister were present.

Paris, Oct. 25.

DETAILS of a car-smuggling plot on the Riviera, in which over 50 well-known racing motorists are said to be implicated, have been discovered in Paris following investigations by the Customs authorities.

Hundreds of racing cars and touring cars have been smuggled into France from abroad by the gang behind the plot, and the Customs authorities have lost a considerable revenue.

None of the gang has yet been arrested, but further investigations now under way are expected to lead to early developments.

Under a French Customs arrangement, foreign touring and racing cars with proper authorisation papers are allowed to enter the country and remain for a limited time without payment of Customs duties.

The customs authorities began investigations, and M. Rene Marchal, a leading inspector of the Customs authorities in Paris, travelled specially to Nice.

As a result it has now been discovered that a gang with international connections has been bringing new and expensive cars into France altering them, changing their number plates, and then selling them. When the time came for their departure home under the time limit of an old car, which had been overhauled and given the number plate of one of the new cars, was driven back across the frontier.

Thus according to the official registers car number no-and-so entered France and later departed—without having paid duties.

ON OTHER FRONTIERS

While the plot was apparently mainly carried out on the Riviera, it is believed in Paris that the gang also operated along other French frontiers, and investigations are proceeding in this direction.

The number of racing motorists already known to be implicated is fifty-two.—Central News.

MISS MERLE OBERON ILL

Hollywood, Nov. 8.

MISS MERLE OBERON may not be able to leave for England on Friday as she plans. She is suffering from a severe cold and cannot complete her current film, originally called "Love Under Fire," and now renamed "Beloved Enemies."

Behind this change of title lies a story. A newspaper correspondent reported that Miss Oberon, and David Niven, the English star, whose romance has frequently been in the news of late, are no longer friends—to which a film executive retorted: "If they're not friends, they're beloved enemies."

Mr. Samuel Goldwyn chuckled immediately, and ordered the picture to be renamed.

George Raft is planning to marry Virginia Pine within six weeks. Mrs. Raft has agreed to get a Reno divorce. They have been separated for years.

Virginia Pine is an heiress in her own right, and formerly the wife of Edward Lehman, a rich Chicago man.

Priest Prays For £3,000: It Comes

Prayers by a Princes Risborough (Bucks) priest for £3,000 to build a new church have been answered speedily.

A stranger, hearing of the prayers, walked into St. Theresa's Church, asked Father Drives.

"Do you really expect to get the money through your intercessions?" he asked Father Drives.

"I do," replied the priest.

"Pray no more," said the stranger. "You shall have the money."

A little later the stranger—asking that his name should be kept secret—sent a letter guaranteeing the £3,000.

Father Drives said: "The poverty and impossible condition of our church have distressed me. I have no influential friends, so I prayed to our patron saint, Theresa."

FIGHT FOR MADRID IN FOURTH DAY Rebels Break Through At Several Points BUT PRINCIPAL GOVERNMENT POSITIONS STILL HELD

Cuatrocientos, Nov. 10.
The close of the third day of the battle for Madrid, in which the defenders were subjected to very hot all-day air and artillery bombardment, the heaviest experienced hitherto, left the insurgents still west of the Manzanares River, though they have advanced at some points. They are not yet inside Madrid proper.
The Government troops' resistance continues stubborn, despite a fearful pounding from high explosive during this most confused action. The defenders are reported to have dynamited the Segovia bridge and continue to command its approaches with machine-guns posted in houses on the Madrid side of the river.
Militiamen still hold buildings east of the river near the Talavera road, which have been subjected to a ceaseless pounding by insurgent six-inch batteries, firing a shell every minute.

Ragged Front Line
The front is a most ragged line, so though the Government troops still hold many positions on the side of the river further from Madrid, in other sectors they have already retreated to factory buildings on the Madrid side, whence they will try to make it impossible for the insurgents to cross the Manzanares.
Fighting continues to rage in the Casa del Campo woods, with some success for Moslem troops and Legionnaires, who may well have captured already the King's Bridge, their immediate objective.—Reuter.

Guns Silenced
Seville, Nov. 10.
Early this morning a radio broadcast from the rebel headquarters here stated that aircraft had silenced all the loyalist artillery defending Madrid and that the surrender of the city is imminent.—United Press.

Premature Reports
Gibraltar, Nov. 9.
The rebel broadcast from Seville to-night, admitted that no rebel troops had crossed the Manzanares River and criticised the insurgent radio stations for the broadcasting of premature reports of fighting in the streets of Madrid.—United Press.

Causes Of Delay
Avila, Nov. 9.
Resistance by the Spanish Government forces and General Francisco Franco's desire to do as little damage to Madrid as possible, are considered the reasons for the delay in the capture of the capital; but insurgent circles here state that the Nationalist pressure is growing minute by minute.—Reuter Special.

Will Fight To Grim End
Madrid, Nov. 9.
Instructions have been issued by the militia commanders that in the event of the insurgents entering the capital every inhabitant must be provided with bottles of petrol which must be set alight and thrown from the roof-tops against the invaders.
Secondly, it is ordered that persons belonging to the Fascist "column" still remaining in Madrid must be immediately annihilated if the rebels enter the city.
Civilians must organise street fighting and assist in trench digging and barricade building and the inhabitants must convert their houses into fortresses which must only be sold dearly.—Reuter Special.

Embassy Statement
London, Nov. 9.
The Spanish Embassy here has made contact with the Government in Madrid, and at 2 p.m. to-day was informed that the insurgents had made no appreciable advance during the past 24 hours.—Reuter.

Methodical Occupation
Rabat, Nov. 9.

ORGANISING AIR ATTACK

Major Ramon Franco, brother of the rebel commander-in-chief in Spain, who has sailed for Casablanca, via Naples, with a view to organising an air squadron to attack Barcelona, it is reported from Lisbon by the United Press.

Enlargement Of Italian Air Fields MAY INDICATE FEAR OF JUGO-SLAVIAN-BRITISH ACCORD

Rome, Nov. 9.
It is reliably reported that Signor Benito Mussolini, the Italian dictator, has ordered the speedy construction of 14 new air fields and the enlargements of four others at a total cost of £1,470,000.
This programme will bring the total of Italian Stukkas and Sardinian flying bases to 130, including aviation camps and 25 flying boat and seaplane ports.
It is noteworthy that several of the new bases are expected to be built on the Adriatic coast.
There is speculation that their construction may be connected with the recent visit of King Edward to Jugo-Slavia, which may indicate closer Anglo-Jugo-Slavian relations.—United Press.

FINE WEATHER
The anticyclone has moved into the Pacific to the east of Japan. Pressure is relatively low over the south part of the China Sea. Local Forecast:—N.E. winds, moderate; fine generally.

Tilden Advocates "Open" Tourneys Otherwise Amateur Sport Will Probably Decline

"I believe the time has come when a voice, and not a weak one will be raised, not by the International Federation; not by Great Britain, who naturally desires to protect its Wimbledon; nor by the little group of clubs in New York and Forest Hills; nor by the two or three little Associations in France and elsewhere, but by those tennis players all over the world, who will tell the International Federation that the time has come for open tennis tournaments with amateurs and professionals competing together."

NANKING PARLEYS RE-OPEN

WILL KAWAGOE SET TIME LIMIT? CRITICAL DAYS AHEAD

Nanking, Nov. 10.
With both sides apparently unwilling to make negotiations, an atmosphere of uncertainty surrounds the plans for the seventh meeting here of Mr. Chang Chun, the Foreign Minister, and Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, the Japanese Ambassador, scheduled to commence this afternoon.

This will be the first meeting since Consul-General Sumita's return from Tokyo with instructions from the Government to the Ambassador.
It is expected Mr. Kawagoe will indicate decisively whether any agreement can be expected or if Japanese and Chinese views will remain widely divergent as hitherto.

Reports that Mr. Kawagoe may set a time limit for the carrying out of certain of Japan's requirements, are current here, but they are at present not confirmable.—Reuter.

INVASION DELAYED
Peiping, Nov. 10.
It is reported locally that the invasion of Suiyuan by the Manchukuo and Mongolian armies may be delayed pending the outcome of the Sino-Japanese negotiations scheduled to recommence in Nanking between Mr. Chang Chun and the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe.

It is felt the future of Suiyuan being involved in Japan's proposals to China with respect to the government of North China, the invasion cannot be pressed without embarrassing the Nanking negotiations.
The Manchukuo-Mongolian leaders from Changhai are reported to be visiting Tientsin with Japanese military leaders for conferences in this matter.—Reuter.

MONGOLS ATTACK
Peiping, Nov. 10.
Apparently with the intention of testing the strength of the Chinese defences in Suiyuan, the Mongol irregulars made several attacks from the direction of Pailingmiao yesterday, according to Chinese reports.
They are said to have been easily repulsed.
It is reliably estimated that the Manchukuo-Mongolian forces threatening Suiyuan total 30,000 men, assisted by tanks and armoured cars.—Reuter.

ONE SURVIVOR PICKED UP
CABIN BOY SAYS WHOLE CREW PERISHED
A message from the captain of the Western Land says the survivor picked up from the Hamburg-America freighter, Isis, is a seventeen-year-old cabin boy.
The boy reports that the Isis has foundered, about 200 miles from Land's End, and it is believed that the crew of 39 is drowned.—Reuter Special.

WEATHER SPOILS CRICKET

COLD SLOWS UP AUSTRALIANS SCORE ONLY SIX RUNS

Melbourne, Nov. 10.
Bitterly cold weather, accompanied by a gale and a hail storm, marked the resumption of the match between M.C.C. and Victoria here to-day.
With an overnight score of 204 for 5 wickets, the home team only added a further six runs before the lunch interval, without the loss of further wickets.
The score was thus 300 for 5, which is 44 behind the M.C.C. total. Gregory is not out with a score of 110, only having added one run to his overnight total. The 200 was sent up after 202 minutes' play.
Voce is not playing to-day. He saw a doctor yesterday and is undergoing diathermy treatment and is unlikely to be able to play for a week or two.
Barnett is receiving massage treatment for a blow to the ribs, received by a ball from McCormick on Friday. His injury is not serious however.—Reuter.

LEWIS WHIPS HARVEY CORNISHMAN FAILS IN TITLE BOUT OUTPOINTED BY NEGRO

Wembley, Nov. 9.
In the Empire Stadium to-night, before a crowd of 12,000 persons, Len Harvey, the Cornish veteran, fought through 15 gruelling rounds with the American negro, John Henry Lewis, for the light-heavyweight championship of the world, and lost the decision. He was outpointed by the title-holder.
Lewis weighed 172 and Harvey 173 pounds. Harvey started the fight with an advantage; Lewis had a damaged right eye before he came into the ring and it was heavily plastered.
The Cornishman led off with a straight left and hooked and boxed confidently. Lewis was several times warned for holding, infringing during the first six rounds, and Harvey was warned when, after the referee had spoken to both men, he hit out at Lewis.
Harvey at first concentrated on his opponent's head, causing the negro's seconds to work over his eye between rounds.

Lewis changed his tactics, finally, and concentrated on Harvey's body, for the other was boxing superbly and allowing few openings. Lewis fought in close, where he was slightly quicker than the challenger.
Harvey, with a long, hard left, prevented many of the American's rushes, but Lewis twice got through and knocked back the Cornishman's head, following up with a right hand hook that was just off the mark. The challenger was boxing beautifully all this time, and particularly in (Continued on Page 5.)

PLANS TO SAVE LIFE IN MADRID BEFORE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

London, Nov. 9.
The Prime Minister was asked in the House of Commons whether the Government would give facilities to an all-party delegation of members of Parliament to proceed to Madrid in order by their presence, to provide some check on the possibility, in the event of an insurgent victory, of heavy loss of life amongst the civil population.
Mr. Baldwin replied that the British Government was in full sympathy with the desire expressed that the loss of life among the civil population, including hostages in Madrid might, as far as possible, be avoided. The Government had taken at the outset of the dispute, all possible steps, both at Madrid and elsewhere, to mitigate sufferings and loss of life.
Moreover, it had a representative in Madrid in whose activities in this and other matters they had complete confidence. He did not think, therefore, that the further action suggested, in the existing circumstances, would be likely to serve any useful purpose.—British Wireless.

Scots Steal Wallace's Great Sword

Stirling, Nov. 9.
Four masked Scottish Nationalists to-day locked the curator in a room of the National Wallace Monument, smashed the glass of the case and stole the great sword Sir William Wallace used when he expelled the English from Scotland after the Battle of Stirling Bridge in 1297.—United Press.

MACDONALD COLLAPSES AT BANQUET

BALDWIN SPEAKS AT LORD MAYOR'S ENTERTAINMENT

London, Nov. 9.
Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the former Prime Minister, collapsed in a faint at Mansion House to-night, during speeches at the Lord Mayor's banquet.
He received attention from Lord Dawson of Penn, and thereafter was able to walk to his car leaning on the arm of a policeman, and to drive to his home.
Traditional magnificence characterised the Lord Mayor's banquet. Loud cheers were given for Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Prime Minister, as he made his way through the brilliantly uniformed crowd of guests.
In a speech after dinner Mr. Baldwin said that Great Britain would support all attempts made to reduce the obstacles in the way of international trade. She had already made a contribution to this end by undertaking not to indulge in competitive devaluation and by her non-exclusive imports policy.

200 CLAIMS RESULT OF GAS BLAST

TRAGIC EXPLOSION RECALLED COMPENSATION ARBITRATION

Tragic memories of the disastrous gas explosion at West Point on May 14, 1934, are recalled by the payments of compensation now being made by the Hongkong and China Gas Company to the victims of the catastrophe.

There are over 200 claimants, it is learned, but the exact amount of their claims cannot yet be ascertained, as they are being settled one by one by arbitration. The first settlement, it is understood, was made a few days ago.
Mr. Edgar Davidson, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist are representing all the claimants.
In connection with the disaster, there had been considerable litigation, necessitating the taking of evidence on commission from experts at Home. The proceedings were concluded recently in the Chief Justice's Chambers, and at one time it was thought the matter would be fought out in open Court.
The explosion, it will be recalled, claimed a total of 40 lives and caused considerable havoc to houses nearby.

Fisheries Convention Achieved RUSSO-JAPANESE AGREEMENT

Moscow, Nov. 9.
It is learned that the Russo-Japanese Fisheries Convention will be initiated to-morrow, and probably signed on November 20.
The conclusion of the Convention after two years of the most difficult negotiations is regarded as an important step towards the improvement of Soviet and Japanese relations.—Reuter.

OPPOSITION'S CRITICISM

London, Nov. 9.
The House of Commons, by 369 votes to 125, rejected the official Labour amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.
The amendment, inter alia, denounced the means test and regretted the absence of proposals necessary to create a Socialist Commonwealth.—Reuter.

WATCH ON BRITISH INTERESTS REPRESENTATIONS TO JAPAN

London, Nov. 9.
Questioned whether, in view of the recent demands by Japan on China, any representations had been made by the British Government to the Japanese Government for the safeguarding of British rights and interests and for the maintenance of Chinese sovereignty, Lord Cranborne, for the Foreign Secretary, said His Majesty's Government had expressed to both the Japanese and Chinese Governments the hope that a settlement may be reached on a friendly basis. This naturally implied that Chinese sovereignty would be preserved unimpaired.
The Government had also expressed its expectation that British interests would not be adversely affected by any settlement that may be reached. The Japanese Government had recently given an assurance that it had no desire to harm these interests in any way.—British Wireless.

Tichborne Case

ARTHUR ORTON, reputed son of a London butcher, in 1865 announced himself Roger Tichborne, heir to rich Tichborne estates, believed lost at sea, 1854. Roger's mother persuaded herself claimant was her son. Chancery action ended 1874 with non-suiting of plaintiff, who was sent to penal servitude for 11 years. Many of his contemporaries still believe he was Roger Tichborne.

BRITISH PLANES FOR TURKEY Benefit To Trade After The King's Visit

NEGOTIATIONS are in progress between the Turkish Government and British aeroplane manufacturers for the supply of British aircraft for the re-equipment of the Turkish Air Force.

"The negotiations have followed the King's recent visit to Turkey," it was stated at the Turkish Embassy in London recently, and there is every reason to believe that there will be further developments in Anglo-Turkish trade.

When Prince of Wales, the King, speaking at a dinner of the Royal Society of Arts, and referring to his world travels, declared:

"I am very proud of having been called Britain's commercial traveller."

The present negotiations are of the greatest importance, as since the war trade with Turkey has been difficult.

Although there have always been a number of British-made aeroplanes in the Turkish Air Force, the greater number have been supplied by France and the United States.

Attempt On High Record PLANE WITH SPECIAL ENGINE

By An Aeronautical Correspondent

An attempt to improve upon the height record figure established by Squadron Leader F. R. D. Swan last month, will be made during the next three or four weeks.

A second aeroplane, which has been built for high flying, is being prepared; but it may not be used for the attempt. It differs from the first machine in many ways, and is fitted with a Rolls-Royce Kestrel Special liquid-cooled engine.

The calculated service ceiling of the first machine is 55,000 ft. At this height the rate of climb should fall below 100 ft. per minute. It should, therefore, be possible to obtain a height of over 55,000 ft. if the conditions are good, and everything goes according to plan. The existing record is a little below 50,000 ft.

ECHO OF GREAT LAWSUIT

By CLIFFORD LEWIS

ALONE in a dingy bed-sitting-room, a sad-eyed woman of 70 told me a story that brought back echoes of the greatest sensation of Victorian times—the Tichborne case.

She is known as Mary Agnes Theresa Doughty Tichborne and is the daughter of Arthur Orton who was sentenced to 14 years penal servitude for claiming to be Sir Roger Doughty Tichborne and to have the right to the family fortune, title and estates.

From May, 1873, to February, 1874, this famous case filled the newspapers and excited our parents, and running up a bill of £250,000.

This woman who has so close a connection with one of the most expensive litigations known, opened her purse before me. Three coppers fell out.

"That's all I have in the world," she said, "except my memories—and my story. Let me tell it to you."

Fight for Father

And then this grey-haired woman who lives in a bed-sitting room in a quiet village outside London told me how for 50 years she has been fighting to prove the innocence of her dead father.

"I was seven when my father went to prison," she said. "When he was released I kept house for him and later, as his secretary, I toured theatres and lecture halls. After that we had very little money, so I decided to go on the stage."

The 70-year-old daughter of Arthur Orton smiled wistfully. "I was a beautiful girl, then," she said, "fair, with good colouring and a fine figure."

She told me of the times when she sold flowers outside Burlington Arcade, carrying a basket with her name upon it.

"People used to argue with me in the street about my father's case. I did not mind."

Refused to Marry

She never married. "I did not want to," she explained. "I wanted to devote my whole life to my father's case."

Duce Names His Successor—Count Ciano

Berlin, Oct. 25. Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Mussolini's son-in-law, is to visit Berlin shortly, to see Hitler.

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt publishes to-night the statement that Count Ciano is to be appointed Italian Prime Minister in the near future. Mussolini holds the titles of Prime Minister, "Duce" (leader), and head of the Government.

"Count Ciano," says the newspaper, "whom Mussolini thus indicates as his successor, will also continue to hold the office of Foreign Minister."—Reuter.

FILM ACTRESS INJURED

Hollywood, Oct. 14. Miss Claudette Colbert received a slight basal fracture of the skull when she collapsed to-day on return to work after a motor-car accident last month.—Reuter.

"Life to establishing my father's innocence."

This tragic woman, even in recent days, has saved her scant coppers so that she might visit London and consult museum records in the hope that she might alight on some clue which would prove her father's case.

For the last 15 years she has worked as a sempstress and lately, as a cook. "I am too lame now to be a cook," Arthur Orton's daughter looked up at me with a tragic gesture. "God knows," she said, "what I can do now."

Insured Persons' "Bottle Habit"

MILLIONS MORE PRESCRIPTIONS

An increase of millions in the number of prescriptions dispensed for insured persons, attributed to the growth of the "bottle habit," was mentioned by Sir Kingsley Wood, Minister of Health, at the conference at Bournemouth recently of the National Association of Insurance Companies.

In 12 years, he stated, the number of prescriptions issued in England and Wales had increased to 62,000,000, and the total cost from £1,325,000 to £2,100,000. The increase was out of all proportion to the increase in the insured population. The matter was being considered jointly by the Ministry of Health and the British Medical Association.

The country was still a long way from a condition of things with which a Minister of Health could be satisfied.

"The steady increase in the number of open spaces and places for recreation is one of the best signs of the times," it is a good thing in my judgment, that some millions were spent on recreation grounds and swimming pools last year. We want more of both.

BODILY FITNESS

"All these things help to bring about that cult of bodily fitness which is in the interest of a healthy race and a happy and profitable life."

He believed that when the Government's plans for the coming session of Parliament were announced, a Bill to deal with the gap between school-leaving and the entry of youths into insurance would be included.

Sir Kingsley Wood gave the conference "a first-hand account" of the recent serious outbreak of enteric fever at Bournemouth, Poole and Christchurch. The outbreak caused the illness of over 500 people and about 40 deaths.

"The outbreak is now ended," he said, "and, except for a few secondary cases, we have seen the last of this tragic occurrence. Within a few hours of the arrival of Dr. Shaw, of the Ministry, it became established that milk was the cause of the infection. All primary cases of typhoid fever in the three boroughs consumed raw milk from one dairy which received milk from several farms. Pasteurisation of the milk immediately cut short the outbreak."

Gigantic switches and transformers will soon control the world's greatest flow of low-cost power from Boulder Dam across 200 miles of mountain and desert into Los Angeles. In above photo the final connection is being made on one of the huge transformers, six of which have been installed.

BRITAIN GAINS LEAD IN VAST FILM MERGER

By A Special Film Reporter

TWO statements, issued last month, have brought to a climax the four-months' battle for control of the £13,000,000 Gaumont-British Corporation.

Said Mr. John Maxwell, chairman of Associated British Pictures:

"Negotiations" between Messrs. Ostree and Associated British Pictures in regard to Gaumont-British have been proceeding for some time, with a view to preventing it from passing under foreign control. Negotiations are now practically completed and a joint statement of the position will be issued on Monday."

Said Gaumont-British: "It is not accurate to say that a deal has been completed between Gaumont-British and Mr. John Maxwell. Discussions are proceeding. The outcome of these will, it is expected, be the subject of a joint statement early next week."

The proposed £50,000,000 film merger between Gaumont-British, Fox-Twentieth-Century, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has been the subject of statements and counter-statements since the end of June, when it was first announced.

The Atlantic has been crossed alternately by the Schencks (American interests) and the Ostrees (British).

Details have been announced, only to be denied. Questions have been asked in the House of Commons.

All-British?

Latest statements at least seem to indicate that British interests have finally replaced American interests, though it is still possible that a count of a may follow an all-British deal.

The whole transaction has been a case of the tortoise and the hare—John Maxwell being the tortoise.

Four years ago, any one suggesting that John Maxwell, with his relatively small and struggling business, could possibly negotiate with the Ostrees for control of Gaumont would have been laughed at.

But year by year Mr. Maxwell has plodded on, gradually improving his position; reducing bank loans; strengthening his finances.

Associated British now have an invested capital of around £15,000,000, against £13,750,000 in the case of the Gaumont company.

The transaction involves the purchase by Mr. Maxwell's company of the controlling share interest owned by the Ostree Brothers in the Metro-Goldwyn and Bradford Trust.

The trust owns 2,915,000 Ordinary shares of 10s. each of the Gaumont Company.

More On Monday

Mr. Sidney Kent, president of Fox-Twentieth-Century, is in London. He told me that he, too, would be making a statement later.

Gaumont-British Picture Corporation own 350 cinemas and cafes in England.

Cinemas owned or controlled by Associated British Picture Corporation number 263. It is also the parent company of British International Pictures at Elstree.

The Secret of "NATURAL" appeal

Chic women know that beauty, like style, must be natural. That lips should not "show" paint. That's why Tangee is so popular—it isn't paint! It blends with your own natural coloring... makes you more appealing to men. For those who require more color, especially for evening use, there is Tangee Theatrical.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE
MARKET UPWARD YESTERDAY
New York, Nov. 9.
S. C. & F. Dow Jones summary of yesterday's market:—The market today was irregularly higher. The business background, however, continues to be bullish due to Christmas buying, which is likely to be the best for any year since 1929. The advance in the price of bar silver continues. Favourable dividend action made for continued good interest in the market. The Bonds Market was irregularly higher, while stocks on the Curb Exchange were also higher.

S. C. & F. Wall Street Journal morning comment:—General Motors are expected to increase their dividend to-day and Chrysler and several steel companies very soon. Easy money, subsidies and consumer demand remain the market's build factors. Brokers say that the political news should stimulate the buying of Amco and Kennecott. Copper shares. It is gossiped that the buying of telegraph and telephone company shares is due to plans of expansion next year.

S. C. & F. New York office cables:—Stocks: Sentiment to-day is chiefly mixed, but the undertone continues to be strong. General Motors sales to consumers for October amounted to 44,274 units as against 68,500 units for October of last year. The Times Business Index for the week amounted to 101.1, which was unchanged from last week, but which compared with 90.4 for the same week of last year. Bonds on the Big Board of the New York Stock Exchange were valued at around $43,179,000,000 as of November 1st.

Cotton: The Government crop estimate of 12,400,000 bales was unexpectedly high, but the effect was minimised by heavy Trade buying, reports of excellent mill business and rumours that the Brazilian crop had been over-estimated.

Wheat: Sentiment was moderately bullish, but Europe is not pressing purchases. Frost reports from the Argentine were without effect. There has been a visible decrease of 825,000 bushels.

Corn: Unfavourable weather continues to stimulate cash demand, delays the movement of the crop and accelerates December short covering. There has been a visible increase of 331,000 bushels.

Rubber: There is a tendency towards profit-taking on any upward Dutch exports for October amounted to 27,810 tons. Exports' stocks amount to 0,007 tons. There has been a decrease in English stocks of 2,542 tons.

MUI-TSAI CASE

TWO HUNDRED DOLLAR FINE IMPOSED

A 29-year-old married woman, Siu Pui-hing, appeared before Mr. Y. Keen at the Central Magistracy this morning, when she pleaded guilty to a charge of having employed an unregistered mut-tai, Cheung Yan, alias Chan Hui, 14, to do her house work.

Inspector H. W. Fraser, of the S.C.A., was the complainant. Relating the facts of the case, Inspector Fraser said the mut-tai was seen crying in the street about midnight on Saturday, by a Chinese constable who asked her what was the matter. The girl told him that she was a mut-tai of defendant, who lived in No. 16 Wah Yin-fong Street, and that she had been scolded for not having done some work well. She was taken to the Central Police Station.

On Sunday, Inspector Fraser saw the girl and learned from her that she was given to defendant's mother by her mother for $130 (Canton money). She was brought down from Canton where she was handed over to defendant. Her work in the house consisted of washing clothes, sweeping floors and looking after the children of the house. The girl was well fed and there were no signs of her having been whipped, although she had complained of being severely struck some time ago. She had many dresses, although they were not new. Concluding, Inspector Fraser said that when the girl was sold to defendant's mother there was an understanding that if the girl was dissatisfied she would be returned to her mother, in which case defendant's mother would receive $280. The girl now wanted to return to her mother.

In reply to Mr. Keen, Inspector Fraser said the case was not a serious one, but the girl had not been ill-treated.

Defendant, who was on $200 bail, was fined that amount.

Although a statesman and economist, Oliveira Salazar is a great connoisseur and lover of French literature and political and moral philosophy. He admits drawing inspiration from Maurras, at present the most active and bellicose exponent of the royalist ideal in France. He does not share Maurras' "royalist obsession" but agrees with him on the difference between democracy and demophilia and the evil wrought by the confusion of these two terms. "We all love the people," he said, "but just because we love it we cannot allow the dispersion of government. Social science teaches that regimes change and vary with times and conditions. There is no ideal political order good for all times and all peoples. On the other hand, there are certain fundamental principles without which true government is impossible and which are applicable in all regimes."

I wanted to know his explanation of the fact that all modern dictators came from the ranks of the people. "It may be a simple coincidence," he said, admitting, however, that this fact raised a number of interesting problems. "It is just possible that the upper classes have exhausted their mission. For the rest, no social class forms a closed community today. The nobility is rejuvenating by drawing fresh blood from the lower classes."

He feels that we pay too much attention to learning to-day. Learning does not necessarily make for happiness. One may be illiterate and yet be very happy. "They mistake learning for intelligence," he deplored, "and crudition for culture. Erudition is within everybody's reach but it does not mean much. Culture, on the contrary, is the development of intelligence which alone can teach man how to cope with the fundamental problems of life."

Mr. Salazar shares the view of many statesmen that the study of the classics is an essential element of true culture. The linguistic perfection of Greek and Latin is a moral teaching by itself. The ancients knew how to think well and how to write down their thoughts well. One cannot study Latin without thinking logically. And it is most essential for men to think well because they can but know everything. Mr. Salazar believes. According to this principle the Portuguese dictator thinks a long time before he writes something, but once he sits down to write it is the final version. He very seldom corrects anything in his proofs. "True culture," he concluded, "does not consist in stuffing the brain with notions but in shaping the mind and teaching it to observe, think and draw its own conclusions. I excuse my younger secretaries from knowing much but I insist that they think."

DISMISSEDNAZI TEACHING PURGE
SCRAPPEDMunich, Oct. 30.
The so-called "Communist" compromise reached by Nazis and Roman Catholics in August, utterly collapsed here today with a Cabinet order dismissing 1,676 Catholic Sisters from teaching positions.The vacancies will be filled by unemployed members of the Nazi Party —from the Radical "Nazi Teachers' League."This sweeping Nazi action affects the foremost 400 Catholic "cloister schools" in Bavaria—among them the world-famous institutes of the Franciscans, Dominicans, Benedictines, Ursulines, Claretians, and the Order of the English Friars.
Formerly founded by English Catholics, in effect it suddenly transforms the garb of teachers in these schools from black robes and sashes to brown skirts and swastika badge. All the new instructors are men possessing brown Hitler uniforms.The action has drawn a vigorous formal protest from the Catholic Church, that it is a particularly flagrant violation of the Concordat.
Nothing may be expected to come of this, however, since the Bavarian order is issued "with the full approval of Herr Hitler's Minister of Education in Berlin."

"FREE VOTE" FARCE ENDED

To-day's seizure of cloister schools marks a new departure in Nazi methods. Hitherto Catholic confessions have been made only after "a free vote"—as prescribed by pre-Nazi laws—had been played to show that a majority "preferred" a Nazi school. Any school is now liable to appropriation by the State at any time.The reasons officially announced as behind the action are illuminating.
They are as follows:(1) "To ensure that the youth of our united new Reich will have unfettered training—in marching, tenting, &c., and in our new principles in history, racial science and biology (sterilisation)."(2) "To provide instruction equally acceptable to Protestants and Catholics in all State-supported schools."(3) "To give jobs to the many unemployed lay teachers who are Nazis through and through."The greatest significance of the sudden clean sweep of sisters, nuns and monks from age-old Catholic institutions is that it marks the scrapping of the "August truce." At that time the Catholic bishops of Germany, in emergency council assembled, resolved to lend all Catholic pupils to Herr Hitler's anti-Nazi propaganda. In return radical Nazi legislation prepared for the Nuremberg congress—banning all monks and nuns from teaching German youth because of their proven immortality in recent trials—was quashed.But that legislation has now arrived. Bavarian Catholics, distressed and nervous, feel that the cloister schools "purge" is the opening barrage of a new anti-Catholic offensive.

Madras, Oct. 28.
Abdulla, Gandhi's son, has been fined by the Madras bench for being drunk and disorderly.—Exchange.FIGHT FOR MADRID IN FOURTH DAY

Seville radio despatch, which says that although the Government militia is putting up a determined resistance, the insurgent advance guards have taken the principal bridges across the Manzanares River, and have entered the capital proper from the south-west.—Reuter.

Complete Panic

Madrid, Nov. 9.
Reuter's correspondent here states that the inhabitants of the capital are now in a complete state of panic, generally. Shell are falling at the rate of three per minute around the Government's defences. Both the War Office and the Opera House are packed with high explosive and a direct hit on either building would mean the end of a large portion of Madrid.The Casa de Campo, the former private park of the Kings of Spain, is now largely in the hands of the insurgents.
Aircraft have lately dropped 17 bombs on the Salamanca quarter, and 27 were killed or wounded during the bombing of Vallecas, five miles to the south-west of Madrid.—
Reuter.

Fresh Troops

Gibraltar, Nov. 9.
An insurgent cruiser and aéroplanes are transporting thousands of fresh, regular troops from Morocco to the Spanish mainland.—Reuter Bulletin Service.

Convicts To Fight

Hendaye, Nov. 9.
A Madrid radio message says the Government intends to open the gaols and release convicts, enabling them to join in the defence of Madrid.Rightist planes are reported to have bombed Bilbao, one missile striking a crowd leaving church and killing many casualties.—United

Oil Tanks Afire

Gibraltar, Nov. 9.
Flames over 500 feet high can be seen leaping from blazing oil tanks at Almeria. It is believed that the tanks were set on fire by a bombing by insurgent aircraft and causing many casualties.—United Press.It is stated that four large tanks containing roughly a million gallons of petrol and Diesel oil are blazing in the north mole, owned by the Campa-Company, which carries a monopoly for all distribution in Spain.
Bombs are also reported to have fallen on the Company's gasometers and power station which supply Almeria with gas and electricity.—
Reuter.

New Flag In Berlin

Berlin, Nov. 9.
The National red and gold flag has been hoisted at the Spanish Embassy here, where the former Ambassador, Señor Agramonte, who resigned representation of the Madrid Government in July, has again assumed control on behalf of General Franco.
It is officially stated that Señor Agramonte will for the present be regarded merely as "a foreigner of distinction."—Reuter.

Commander Wounded

Lisbon, Nov. 9.
Colonel Castañon, commander of one of the insurgent columns attacking Madrid, is reported to have been wounded. He is, however, said to be recovering.—Reuter Special.

Convicts As Defenders

Hendaye, Nov. 9.
A Madrid radio message says it is reported that the Government intends to open the gaols and release convicts for the purpose of enabling them to join in the defence of the capital.
Meanwhile it is reported that the Northern Rightists bombed Bilbao, one bomb falling among a crowd leaving church and causing many casualties.—United Press.

Pope May Recognise

Rome, Nov. 9.
It is reported that His Holiness the Pope intends to recognize General Franco's Government shortly after the occupation of Madrid, after which he is likely to open negotiations for the conclusion of a Concordat.—United Press.

Salvador's Decision

Mexico City, Nov. 9.
It is learned officially that El Salvador has announced the recognition of the Nationalist regime in Spain.—United Press.NO PERMIT FOR ACIDTWO YOUNG MEN
CHARGEDPleading that they were only shop boys, two young men, Chun Kwan, 20, and Wong Chan, 20, appeared before Mr. Macdadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's court this morning, charged with the possession of sulphuric acid at 100 Took Wing Street on November 9 at a distance from the Inspector General of Police.Det.-Sgt. Riddell said there was an owner for the acid but he could not be traced. First defendant was found in the back yard at the time of the raid, and his companion was in the act of diluting kerosene, of which there were 100 gallons in the house. The acid was also in the same room as second defendant. The youths were not being charged with the possession of the kerosene.First defendant was discharged because there was no evidence to show that he had anything to do with the acid, and the second was bound over in the sum of $50 for one year.

TRAFFIC CASES

BATCH OF OFFENDERS
FINEDWong Cheuk-fai, driver of lorry
No. 3038, was summoned before Mr.
W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's court this morning for driving without due care and caution along D'Aguilar Street on October 28.
Sanitary Inspector A. W. White was the complainant.Inspector White said that about 3.45 p.m. on October 28, he was driving his car down Wellington Street and when he was nearing the junction of D'Aguilar Street and Queen's Road Central, he signalled the traffic constable that he was about to turn, and received the right of way. Witness then observed the lorry on his side of the road, and had to brake hard to avoid a collision.Traffic-Sergeant G. Youe said defendant had a previous conviction for dangerous driving in 1932, when his licence was suspended for three months.A fine of $30 was imposed, with the alternative of one month's hard labour.Lui Fat, driver of lorry No. 623, summoned for driving without due care and caution on October 29, was fined $20, when he admitted the summons.Sergeant Youe said he was going along Connaught Road Central from east to west when defendant shot out of Man Wah Lane at a fast speed, causing witness to stop.

TOOTING NUISANCE

For sounding his horn unnecessarily in D'Aguilar Street, Tam Lai-yu, driver of public car No. 778, was fined $7.
Sergeant Youe said defendant was sounding a loud horn in fairly long blasts. A similar fine was imposed on Lo Ying, driver of lorry No.
4423, for the same offence.A fine of $25 was imposed on Wong Shi-won, driver of taxi No. 566, when he admitted a summons of dangerous driving before Mr.
Schofield.Traffic Inspector S. Saunders said that about 6.20 p.m. on October 30, he was following defendant up Lyndhurst Terrace, and defendant was going at a speed just over 20 miles per hour, which was excessive in that locality. The road was crowded at the time, and there was no need for defendant to hurry at all.A. Abbas, of No. 25 Johnston Road, and driver of private car No. 3975, was summoned with driving along Barber Road, which was prohibited to traffic, on November 1. He pleaded not guilty, and hearing of the case was fixed for 11.30 a.m. on November 12.ARMISTICE DAY
CELEBRATIONSBRAHMS' REQUIEM
BY H.K. SINGERSThe Hongkong Singers have already established a tradition of performing on November 11 each year a work in keeping with the spirit of Armistice Day. This year
"Brahms' Requiem" has again been chosen and will be sung in St.
Andrew's Church, Kowloon, tomorrow at 9.15 p.m.There are undoubtedly a number of works other than Brahms' suitable for this occasion, but no apology is made for repeating the Requiem this year, since it will not only be the first performance of the Singers under the baton of their new Conductor, Mr.
Lindsay Lafford, but of the soloists, Miss Eva Turner, soprano, will be making her debut in the colony. The baritone solos will be taken by the Rev. H. W. Barnes and at the organ will be Mr. Rupert Baldwin, neither of whom need any introduction to musical Hongkong.As is customary at all performances of the Singers, the proceeds will be devoted to charity, and this year it has been decided to take up a collection in aid of the Ministering Children's League and the St.
Andrew's Benevolent Society.
It is confidently believed that the combination of such deserving causes, the spirit of Armistice Day and the fact that this is the first performance of the Singers in Kowloon, will lead to a record congregation in St.
Andrew's Church.MISS MERLE OBERON ILLHollywood, Nov. 8.
MISS MERLE OBERON may not be able to leave for England on Friday as she plans.
She is suffering from a severe cold and cannot complete her current film, originally called
"Love Under Fire," and now renamed "Beloved Enemies."Behind this change of title lies a story. A newspaper correspondent reported that Miss Oberon and David Niven, the English star, whose romance has frequently been in the news of late, are no longer friends—to which a film executive retorted: "If they're not friends, they're beloved enemies."
Mr. Samuel Goldwyn chuckled immediately, and ordered the picture to be renamed.George Raft is planning to marry the eight round when he checked the American's offensive.

GUARDS HIS EYE

Lewis was guarding his damaged eye closely, now. Harvey, after manoeuvring, feinted and struck when Lewis dropped his guard, and landed an inch or two under the bad eye, on the cheek.The tenth and eleventh rounds were fought at very close range. Harvey had a damaged left eye, which was badly swollen and almost closed.
Lewis blocked and cuffed with open gloves.

FOUGHT TOE-TO-TOE

In the fourteenth round they stood and slugged toe-to-toe. Lewis had the better of the exchange in the first furious spell, but Harvey stung his opponent with straight lefts to the face. The pace was terrific, Harvey landed a left and right to the champion's jaw. The Cornishman hooked repeatedly and perfectly into the American's jaw.The fifteenth started in whirling fashion. Harvey landed a right with a sickening thud and Lewis staggered and appeared badly dazed. Harvey continued to punch him with lefts and rights to the head.The verdict was announced amid considerable hooting.—Reuter.Lewis was a worthy champion, who displayed all-round boxing ability and solid punching.
Harvey, 29 years of age, put up one of the gamut battles of his career.
Though seven years Lewis' senior, he revealed surprising strength and stamina.The earlier rounds were not inspiring, resembling a wrestling bout, but the last three were most thrilling.
The Cornishman's pluck, endowing him to the crowd and accounting for the hoos which greeted the decision, although Lewis' victory was very decisive.Lewis was taken to hospital for attention to his eye injury immediately after the fight.—Reuter.AMAH STEALS BRACELETSPRISON SENTENCE
IMPOSEDHurrying to catch the early morning train for Canton, Lau Ping, a married woman, living at 433 Portland Street, forgot to put on her valuable gold bracelets which she had taken out of the safe to wear, leaving them on her dressing room table. Remembering the oversight at the railway station, she sent her son, who had come to see her off, back to the house with instructions to lock them up again. When she got home, the bracelets had disappeared.Appearing before Mr. Macdadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's court this morning, an amah, Tam Oi, 44, was charged with the theft of the bracelets, which were valued at $50.
Det.-Sergeant Cunningham said complainant had informed her to take the bracelets with her to Canton, where one of her sons was being married.
When her other son discovered that they were missing, he sent a folk to Canton to tell his mother about it.
The amah, when the folk, and questioned her servants, without success.
The police were then called in, and their enquiries revealed that defendant had stolen them.Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed.VICTIM CHASES

STOLENKwong Shing, 42, unemployed, was brought before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistrate's court this morning, charged with having snatched a gold and jade neck chain from a single woman, Yuk Nui, in Connaught Road Central yesterday afternoon.Det.-Sergeant Cashman said that at 1 p.m. yesterday complainant and her friend were walking along Connaught Road when defendant came up from behind her and snatched the chain from her neck. She chased defendant, and after a short run, defendant was stopped and arrested by two Chinese detectives.Pleading guilty to the charge, defendant was remanded for 24 hours, during which time he will undergo

The TELESPEC

(ENGLISH MADE)

"Pay for the Gallery
but be in the Stalls."

Whatever it is that is being watched—cricket, racing, the stage, boxing, yachting or tennis—a TELESPEC, by bringing things nearer, virtually puts the user into a better seat than he has paid for. More than that, it does it without the arms aching and the neck being cricked through the hands having to be kept up to the eyes all the time—as with an ordinary binocular. The TELESPEC is worn like spectacles. It leaves the hands free and enables moving objects to be followed just as easily as if ordinary spectacles were being worn.

Note—TELESPECs are supplied complete in English made solid "London Colour" leather, velvet lined cases with nickel clasps and shoulder straps.

ITALY'S TRADE WITH ABYSSINIA

It is not easy to ascertain many of the facts about the administration by Italy of her newly-occupied territory in Abyssinia, for communications have never been good, and to-day Italy is exercising a very thorough censorship of the news that is allowed to get abroad. But in certain matters the purpose, or, at any rate, the result of her policy is being very clearly revealed. She has, for instance, officially fixed the exchange rate of the lira to the native dollar at 5 to 1, although the "natural" value of the dollar is at least twice as great. It has, moreover, been declared to be a criminal offence to change currencies at a rate more in accordance with intrinsic values. Two results follow at once. In the first place, internal trade is continually hampered. The peasant tends as far as possible to withhold the dollars, and the lira increasingly takes its place. The purpose here might conceivably be to substitute Italian coinage for that of the country in order to strengthen Italy's hold. This, however, can hardly be the objective when the effect on existing foreign trade is considered. It is obviously impossible for the trader to pay for his goods from the producer of raw material in the dollars that the up-country man demands and receive for them from the foreign business man lira at a value only one half of their real one in relation to dollars. It might be clear to the Italian rulers that the result of their artificial rate is very rapidly to destroy the existing foreign trade altogether and to expel the foreign trader. With what purpose? Can there be any other than to clear the ground for a new type of trade, flowing in a single channel exclusively through Italian hands between Addis Ababa and Rome? If that is the goal, it affords a second recent striking illustration of the world's economic policy of Fascist States. The

Our Men In Australia Have Started
A. P. F. Chapman's Final Words to the Test Team

THE popular Kent skipper who captained England's team when we won the Ashes in 1926, and also on the victorious visit to Australia in 1928-29, here sums up our chances during the forthcoming Test tour.

THE M.C.C. team now in Australia has not less than an even chance of regaining the Ashes. It is solid in batting strength; it has variety in bowling; it should be exceptionally good in the field.

The five Test Matches, the first of which will begin at Brisbane on December 4, are each likely to last six days.

They will be tremendous trials of endurance, and although on the face of it an Australian team in its own country should be better able to stand up to a gruelling ordeal of this kind, actually and disadvantage to the visitors tends to disappear as the tour progresses.

Physical Strain

THE way in which a touring team fits together, becomes a well-knit unit, gets an intimate knowledge of its own strength and weakness—these are factors which help to cancel out any difficulties of climate, and each week shows the balance in these matters more favourable to the visiting side.

When the team captained by A. E. R. Gilligan was in Australia in 1924-25 we played three Test matches in succession—at Sydney, Melbourne, and Adelaide, with only one up-country match in between.

Two of these Tests lasted into the seventh day and the other was completed in six. The 30 days spent in the field and travelling involved a physical strain which was almost unendurable.

The present tour has been arranged with much greater care, and in my opinion the England team has been chosen with discretion and judgment. The selectors have shown much patience and devoted considerable time to their task.

I would have preferred to see Todd, the Kent all-rounder, among the seventeen, but that apart, the Selection Committee, at a period when English cricket is not on a very high plane, has done its work admirably.

Australian wickets, under normal weather conditions, are the best in the world. They are faster than ours, do not lend first, of course, was given at Nuremberg, when Herr Hitler announced his four-year plan to make Germany self-sufficient. Signor Mussolini aims similarly at making his new colony a jealously-guarded Italian preserve. The contrast is expressed in theory in the recent Reports of the Economic and Finance Committees of the League of Nations—who advise exchange stabilisation with the exact opposite ideal of encouraging trade between nations on the basis of the world being one open market for all—and in action by the recently-concluded agreement for this purpose reached between Britain, France and America.

the middle, and whatever form our Test teams take there should be plenty of runs down to Number 9.

are much less at any time towards the last two hours of the day, with bowlers tired, they are capable of scoring so rapidly as to make all the difference between losing and winning a match.

Hammond is quite able to put up the shutters at one end. It is imperative, in my view, that this policy should be carried out by others of our bowlers during the last two hours of the day.

The fact that 17 players are making the tour need not worry us. Form in the early matches—six against States or representative eleven will be played before the first Test—will solve some of the difficulties of selection, and there is no question of the loyalty or keenness of any of the men chosen.

It will, I imagine, be found that as many fast bowlers as possible, without weakening the batting unduly, will be included in the Test sides; and if all goes well the following may be found in the first Test in December (though not in this batting order):

G. O. Allen	Ames
R. W. V. Robins	Fishlock or
R. E. S. Wyatt	Hardstaff
K. Farnes	Barnett
Hammond	Fage
Levland	Verity

Even though it means the omission of that brilliant wicket-keeper Duckworth, the recovery of Ames, who has been batting splendidly and seems to have shaken off all the effects of his early season illness, is, I am sure, going to be most opportune for England.

The team has left England with our best wishes: there is an exceedingly good chance that they will return to receive our heartiest congratulations.

themselves to spin; and, unless there is a thunderstorm followed by hot sun—the type of wicket on which Verity would be unplayable—are full of runs.

Two Decisive Hours

THE only Australian I know who could spin the ball dangerously on these wickets was Arthur Mailey. He was infinitely a greater thorn in our side out there than Grimmer could ever hope to be, in spite of his immaculate length and untiring persistence.

In bowling we appear to be much better off than Australia, although the State matches may reveal something which we do not yet know.

In batting Australia will be tremendously powerful, but the M.C.C. side looks impressive in

There is one aspect of the game in which the Australians have always had the whip hand, and that is in the vital hours between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. each day.

In that time it is essential that the batsmen should be so tied up that the minimum of runs are scored. Australian bowlers succeed very well at these tactics; whatever has gone before they seem able to adapt

MYSTIC DICTATOR

E. Frederic
Lefevre

I HAD an appointment with him at 9.45 p.m. Every evening, Mr. Oliveira Salazar, former university professor and now Portugal's mystic dictator, takes a long walk in the suburbs of Lisbon and on that night I was to accompany him. The car was already waiting in front of his modest cottage when I arrived. A young servant girl opened the door. There were no guards and none of the precautions with which the apprentices in dictatorship like to surround themselves. As we were shaking hands I felt that our interview would be different from what I had imagined—more significant. As soon as he had said a few words I ceased feeling the dictator. Before me was a man in whose eyes burned the flame of superior resignation and absolute disinterestedness and honesty, such as may be found only in a few very great mystics, the fire of Sacred Surrender to a mission he had not chosen himself and from which he derived neither profit nor pride and perhaps not even joy. Quite naturally he had given up his chair at the University of Coimbra to serve his country and one felt that he would just as naturally take it up again tomorrow.

Just now, however, Salazar is ruling Portugal and to this work he gives himself unconditionally, without regrets and without any shadow of doubt on the goodness of his policies and attitude. And because he so generously gives himself to his country, the mystic dictator demonstrates much also from his people. We spoke of the crisis, the menace suspended over the world and its various causes. Salazar does not clothe his ideas in concise formulae but I gathered from his words that, of all crises, he considered the moral crisis as the most serious and that it was to him first and foremost a crisis of religious conscience.

A staunch Catholic, Salazar believes that Catholicism is still the only force capable of ending the crisis and victoriously fighting greed and the excesses of luxury. In other words, he believes that only religion can revive in the soul the taste for the true and simple things of life and thereby regenerate mankind. It was apparent, however, that he drew a sharp line between the powers of church and State and did not in the least consider it his task to evangelize Portugal. His sole concern is the maintenance of the financial, economic and political order which he considers the essential premises of moral order.

I mentioned that the Belgian Labour Minister, the socialist Henri de Man, had spoken to me of the necessity of reviving the "spirit of poverty" in the soul. Salazar shares this view but he thinks it is a difficult task requiring long and patient educational work.

"You believe then," I ventured, "that men should be saved in spite of themselves by a strong power, a dictatorship?"

"I am convinced," he replied, "that the economic crisis will become so acute that dictatorship will be a necessity, because it is the only regime which can teach people that they need very little to be happy, after all."

He then proceeded to explain his views on political dictatorship, which becomes a vital need when individual freedom is trampled upon and men surrender to the occult forces of parliamentarism and powerful financial oligarchies. Only a dictatorship can assure the freedom from the State and through that of the individual. Freedom means respect for law and right and if the State is unable to impose this respect there can be no freedom. The State is not free in a parliamentary regime, because the ministers are the slaves of Parliament, and the members of Parliament are the slaves of the electorate, while the members of the political parties are led by financial groups and economic oligarchies. "I don't want to make prophecies," he said, "but I guarantee that in twenty or thirty years hence there will not be one Parliament invested with legislative powers. As a former professor of law I know from theory and practice what a complex task is the elaboration of even the least important law, and I assure you that no assembly can legislate seriously, for this would be contrary to human nature. Moreover, the parliamentary system excludes personal responsibility which is a most important factor of progress and raises men above themselves. In a parliamentary regime nobody gives the maximum of work, initiative and inventiveness of which he is capable because a member of Parliament is not personally responsible."

Portugal, however, Mr. Salazar pointed out to me, is not and is not going to be a so-called "totalitarian state," neither on the economic nor on the spiritual plane. He does not believe that the State should play merchant, manufacturer and bank director. Only controlled private initiative is still the most fecund factor of the economic progress of a nation.

"The modern State demands ascetics," he explained. "Just as saintliness flourished in the most depraved countries, so to-day the statesmen must do penance. But," he added thoughtfully, "I doubt whether many of them realise it and live up to it."

Supremacy In Pacific Is Prize In Fight Between Ships Of Four Nations

Speedier And Bigger Liners

WITH the selection of Tokyo as the site of the 1940 Olympic games, all American, Japanese, Canadian and British steamship lines on the Pacific have launched tentative plans for a large increase in and modernisation of their Pacific fleets in order to meet the vastly increased travel demands which are expected at that time.

Not only will the number of boats in the trans-Pacific service be increased, but they will be of a greater speed, a greater tonnage and up to the latest standards of modernization in ocean travel.

Up to the present time, the Canadian Pacific, according to authoritative sources in Pacific coast shipping circles, has progressed the furthest towards the actual launching of their new programme.

This calls for the construction of five new ships, all with a tonnage of about 25,000 tons and a speed of 25 knots an hour.

Two of the proposed new ships will be placed in the Canadian Pacific service while the other three will be put in the trans-Pacific service for the purpose of replacing the present Empress series. The Empress of Russia, the Empress of Canada, and the Empress of Japan, the three latter ships will either be utilised on other lines or kept in the trans-Pacific service on a lower grade of service according to the demands for travel existing by the time the Olympic games come on.

The next company that appears to have made the most progress towards the construction of new ships for the Olympics service is the N.Y.K. Line. Initiative for the construction of new boats for this line, appears, according to authoritative statements from Japan, to have been taken by the Japanese government itself in an effort to bring all services up to the standard necessary to meet the 1940 demands.

The Japanese ministry of communications is now negotiating with the N.Y.K. for the construction of two 26,000 ton liners for the California Orient service. The proposed ships would have a speed of 24 knots an hour at half capacity load and would be ready for service prior to 1940. These ships would be 10,000 tons larger than the present Chichibu Maru class.

The construction of these two ships, however, is only a part of a building programme which the Japanese government is sponsoring that would put 52 new merchant ships in various trades from Japan.

The British owned Canadian-Australian line, operating out of Vancouver has also made known tentative plans for two new ships to replace the Niagara and the Aorangi.

BUILT IN ENGLAND

Like the Canadian Pacific line, it is understood that these new ships would probably be constructed in English ship yards along the Clyde, but would nevertheless be ready for the increased trade by 1940.

In the meantime, while the Matsun and the Dollar line, the two principal American companies operating in the Pacific have prepared tentative programmes to meet not only the travel rush of 1940 but also the competition of the foreign companies, all of their projects are being held up, pending the settlement of two very vital points that affect American shipping on the Pacific coast.

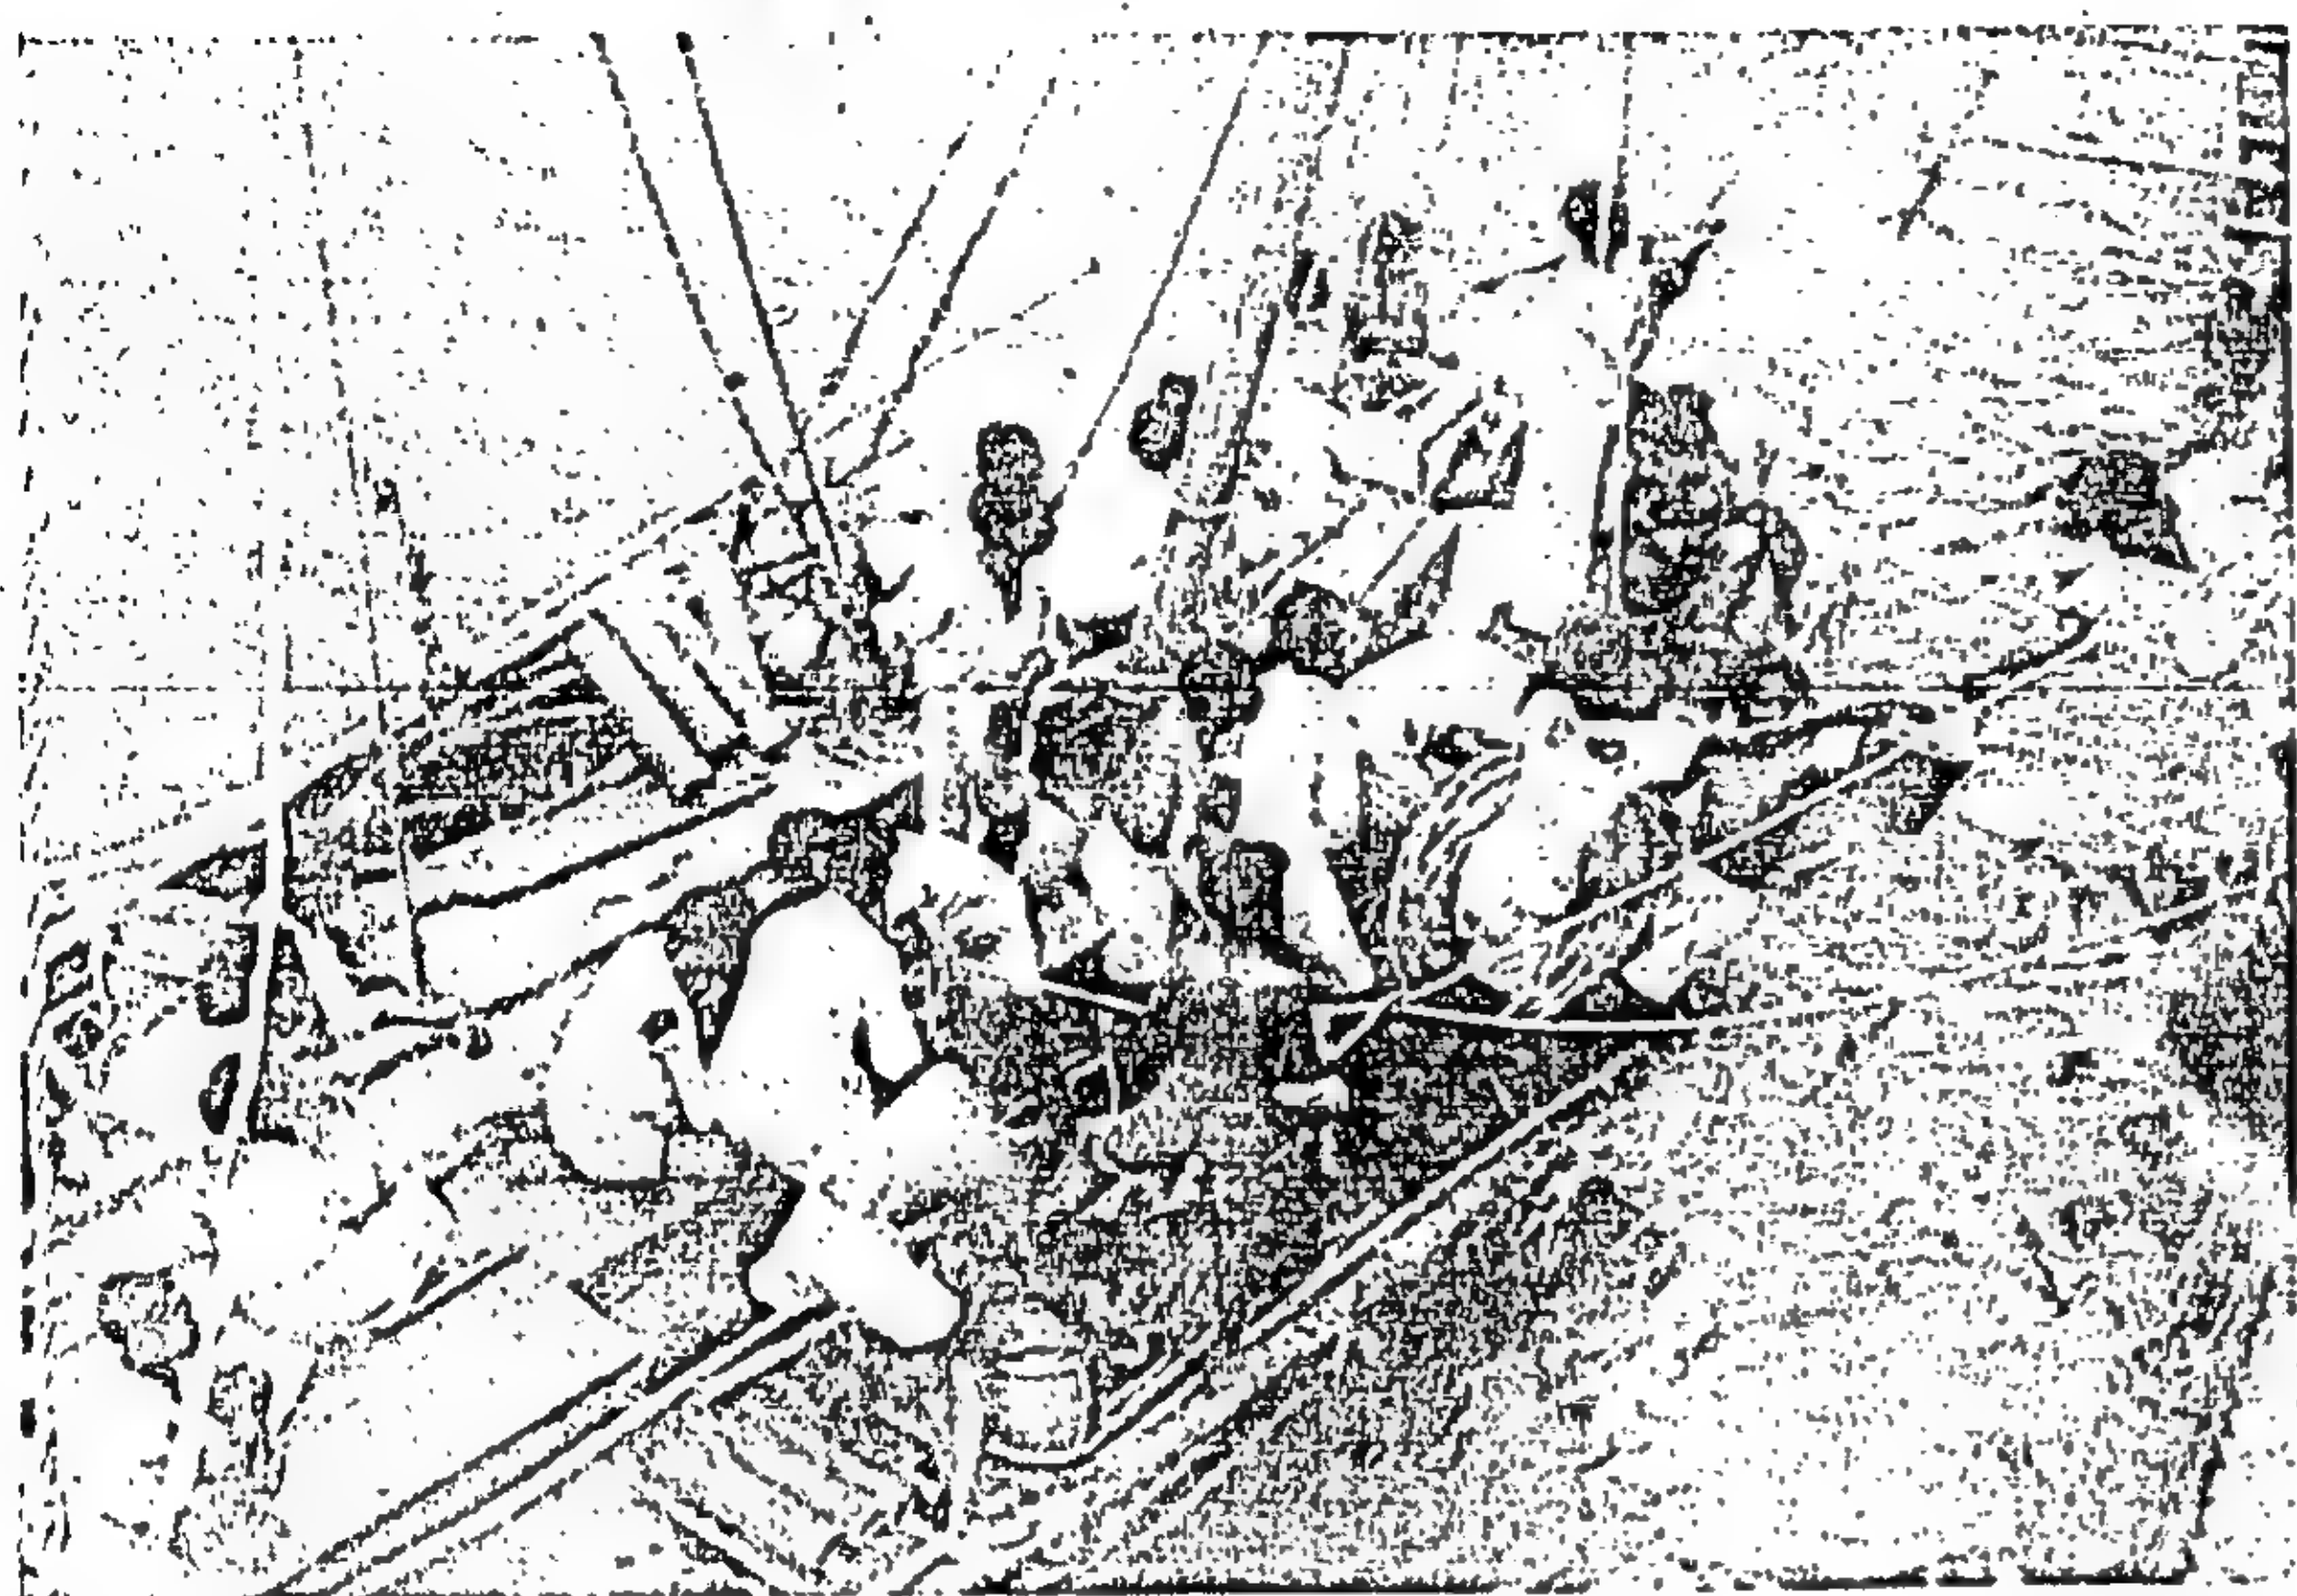

The first of these is, that both companies declare they cannot undertake any new construction until it is absolutely certain that the labour situation on the Pacific coast has been regulated in such a manner that it will not interfere either with the construction of new ships or the operation of them after they are completed.

The second is to ascertain first the policy of the newly created United States maritime commission and to ascertain definite policy. It is generally interested in the construction of an American Merchant marine.

The Matsun line is known to have under consideration the modernisation of the Mingo at a cost of $2,500,000 and the construction of two new freighters at a cost of $2,500,000.

FORCED TO ACT

However, this tentative programme as well as that of the Dollar line will be held in abeyance until the above two points are clarified. Despite this delay, however, shipping experts on the Pacific coast declare that the American lines will not only be forced but probably able under the new governmental system of direct subsidies to meet the foreign com-

When the A.O. liner Taiping was crossing the Banda Sea en route to Hongkong distress signals were observed from a native passenger, sampan, which had 30 people on board including women and children. The sampan was given a supply of water and provisions by the Master of the Taiping Capt. A. M. Frame.

FILMING CORONATION IN COLOUR

WITHIN six days of the Coronation a colour film of the procession will be shown in Hongkong theatres. The films will be rushed from London to all parts of the Empire.

Normally colour films take a week or more to develop, but by a special process and day and night work the time interval can be reduced.

Efforts will be made to bring it down to 24 hours, but the expense may prove prohibitive.

A PANORAMA

"Four different locations along the line of march have already been selected as most suitable from the colour point of view," said Mr. K. Harrison, managing director of Technicolour, the company which will take the film.

"Cameras will be set at different heights to get a colour panorama from various angles.

"We have approached the authorities for permission to film the actual ceremony in the Abbey, but are doubtful of obtaining it.

"This historic ceremony with all its tradition and dignity is held so sacred that spot-lights and camera-men might be thought to mar its beauty."

The company studied the Abbey, especially the spot where the King will stand to be crowned, and decided that, due to the dimness, it would be necessary to use very high-powered studio lights to get the colours in their full richness and glory.

But, of course, will spoil all plans, but the colour-film men are putting their faith in King's weather.

Widows Segregated In Hankow

Hankow, Nov. 3.

The existence here of a charity institution in which more than 600 Chinese widows are kept in continual confinement was revealed in a recent government report.

petition in the matter of speed, size and modernisation of their fleets. With the Canadian Pacific, the Japanese mail line and the Canadian Australian line constructing boats that will have speed from 24 to 26 knots an hour and a tonnage above 25,000, the American lines will be obliged to meet these standards in order to maintain their share of the trans-Pacific travel.

Indications just given out, however, by the newly created United States Maritime commission, and which will permit of direct subsidies to the American lines the same as the European governments do, instead of the old time indirect subsidy for carrying the mails, indicate that the American lines will be able to do so.

As already announced by the newly created commission all mail subsidies will end on June 30, 1937, and definite contracts for the carrying of the mails will be let. The new U.S. Marine commission has at its disposition an appropriation of $100,000,000 to expend as it sees fit in the furthering of an American merchant marine and Pacific coast lines count definitely on receiving their just share of this.

Refugee Ship In Singapore

Woman Who Was Forced to Stab Her Husband

Fleeing the barbarism of civil war in Spain, 83 refugees were taken from two southern Spanish ports to Genoa by the Hamburg-America line's 7,389-ton vessel Duisburg which reached Singapore recently.

The refugees included about 45 women and children. The refugees had lost almost all their belongings. Women had been stripped of jewellery; wealthy manufacturers and business men lost their money. All that remained was the clothing they wore and a small bundle of personal effects.

PITABLE CASE

One woman was in a state of hysteria. Her husband had been shot, and she said that as he was still alive, she had forced her to stab him to death with a knife.

Although all the passenger accommodation had previously been filled the Duisburg's officers and crew slept on the hatches, on deck and in the saloon to provide comfortable quarters for the refugees.

EMPLOYMENT ON UP-TREND

BETTER FIGURE FOR OCTOBER

London, Nov. 9. Official returns show that the number of people in employment on October 20 was 11,102,000, an increase of 21,000 compared with September, whilst the unemployed numbered 1,011,810, a decrease of 12,520.

Improvements were recorded in the coal-mining, engineering, shipbuilding, metal goods, textile and tailoring industries, whilst declines were registered in building, public works, and the contracting, transport and distributive trades.—Reuter Special.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

IF THERE WERE NO CLOUDS WE SHOULD NOT ENJOY THE SUN.—Proverb.

A. Dworjak, of Kowloon, was summoned before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for permitting his white and brown dog on Peking Road at 11.25 a.m. on October 25 without a muzzle, and was fined $10.

A woman, Min So-king, aged 20, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital yesterday, suffering from the effects of immersion. She attempted to commit suicide by jumping off the s.s. Tai Lee which was nearing her wharf in Connaught Road Central in the afternoon, but was rescued by sampan people nearby.

Mr. W. J. Anderson, of the Public Works Department, reported to the police yesterday that while driving his car in Kennedy Town he collided with four Chinese who were carrying an iron girder. As the result of the collision the girder fell and fractured the left leg of one of the men, Wong Lau, who was taken to the Government Civil Hospital for treatment.

A 24-hour remand was granted by Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning in a case in which Wong Ho-tai, 39, stall fold of 303 Lai Chi Kok Road, and Chiu Ha, 37, of 24 Shek Ku Lung Road, were charged with possession of 3,000 heroin pills and a quantity of prepared opium. Det.-Sgt. D. G. McPherson appeared for the prosecution.

DOG CHAINED TO TREE AND LEFT TO DIE

ALIVE AFTER TEN DAYS

Said to have chained a dog to a tree in the middle of a wood and left it to die, Henry Arthur Smith, a carrier, of Winters Hill, Bishop's Walkham, a married man with five children, was sentenced to a month's uncondemned labour at Dorchester, Hampshire, last month.

He was also disqualified for life from taking out a dog licence.

It was stated that the dog was found by a farmer after it had been left for ten days. It was too weak to stand and had had to be destroyed.

Smith, who pleaded not guilty, said that he gave the dog to a man who handed it to another man who was to take it to Andover.

For The Championship REPRESENT COLONY

(By "Veritas")

Tsui Wai-pui, singles tennis champion of Hongkong, is to be invited to visit Manila next year to participate in the Philippines All-Comers tennis championship.

An official invitation has been received by Mr. L. R. Hideson from Dr. Ylanan, head of the P.I.L.T.A., but it is not yet definitely known whether Tsui will be able to accept.

It has been decided by the Philippines L.T.A. to invite two Japanese ranking players, two Malaya players and the Hongkong champion down to Manila for this event in 1937.

Their passages will be paid each way and they will be guests of the Association.

Tsui Wai-pui has already been approached about the project and he is hopeful that he will be able to accept the invitation.

If this is possible Hongkong will be officially represented at the Philippines All-Comers championship for the first time.

It is also possible that if Tsui goes, he will be invited to take part in a tennis tour of the provinces.

CONFIRMATION

Perry To Tour The United States Soon

New York, Nov. 9. Jack Krindler, treasurer of a group of sportsmen, announced today that he had signed up Fred Perry to tour the United States as a professional. He would be playing with Ellsworth Vines. The first appearance, it was stated, would be in Madison Square Garden early in January.

Krindler stated that he doubted if Perry would later join Tilden—United Press.

VINES'S ACE SERVING

"Where Did That One Go?"

(By "Veritas")

FIFTEEN hundred pairs of eyes moved eagerly up and down the specially prepared stand court at the Hongkong Cricket Club yesterday watching "Big Bill" Tilden and Ellsworth Vines flashing out shots with their tennis rackets which veritably took one's breath away.

Service deliveries of incredible speed, searing forehand and backhand drives, cheeky cross-court drop shots, and vicious cut strokes were exploited in rapid succession and contributed towards one of the most entertaining displays of lawn tennis Hongkong has yet been privileged to enjoy.

It would be foolish to suggest that either Tilden or Vines touched peak form during their two sets which Vines, aged 25, took from Tilden, aged 43, by scores of 14-12, 6-3. Errors there were in plenty. Some of them startling in their simplicity. But there were sufficient number of dazzling shots and scintillating rallies to compensate for any of the lapses.

COURT DIFFICULTIES

I think it is fair to the players to suggest that they utilised the occasion chiefly to become accustomed to the court. Actually they haven't played each other on a grass surface for the better part of a year, and it was palpably clear from the mistakes both men made off the ground in the opening games that they were finding the varying pace of the court a little disconcerting.

Not that the court played badly. It was in excellent condition and a great credit to the H.K.C.C. ground staff. But after playing on clay, wood, rubble, cement, and other types of hardcourt surfaces for the last few months, it was natural that the players should be affected in their immediate return to lawn. Tilden essayed the majority of his extensive repertoire of strokes, although he favoured the slice and undercut, especially on the backhand. Only once or twice, as a very successfully spectacular gesture, did he whizz over his famous "cannon-ball" service. Mostly he relied on the ordinary slice, although there was enough pace on the balls to make the swiftest service by local players look "dolly" shots by comparison. On the other hand Vines, after a quiet opening, brought his service guns into active and highly effective use. He finished off the first set with three absolutely untaut service deliveries. Tilden could only nod his head in admiration, while the crowd breathed "where did that one go?"

BASELINE TACTICS.

Both players showed preference for the baseline and the rallies were usually conducted from this position. In the second set Vines did a bit of net storming and scored with one or two gorgeous volleys. But he made a sad mess of his first attempt to "kill" from half court, and his second effort was not clean. Vines usually had Tilden groggy when he got him running to his backhand corner. The tall Californian, once he had obtained a fair measure of control over the balls, was constantly forcing the pace with remarkably low-trajectory drives on either hand, which Tilden faced de-

Ireland's Football Team

TO PLAY ENGLAND THIS MONTH

London, Nov. 9.

The Irish International football team to meet England on November 18 was selected to-day as follows.

Green (Belfast Celtic); Cook (Everton) and Fulton (Belfast Celtic); McCullough (Manchester City); Jones (Hibernian) and Mitchell (Chelsea); Brown (Coventry); Stevenson (Everton); Davis (Oldham); Doherty (Manchester City) and Kelly (Derby City).

There are four changes in the forward line which played recently against Scotland, and players from no less than six English clubs and one Scottish club have been included in the team.—Reuter.

RUGBY "EXPENSES" MAY BE QUERIED

(By Len Munroe)

Pavilion topics this season include amateur status, unsatisfactory arrangement of club fixtures, and perhaps in rivalry with our Soccer friends—rough play. Mention of near-professionalism is not a hardy annual, but getting on that way. Latest revival hints at official action being taken here and there in the matter of expenses and so forth.

Governing powers are well armed if necessary. Take, for instance, the booklet of by-laws issued with authority of the Rugby Union. Fourteen pages of "Rules as to Professionalism" included. Pretty comprehensive, too.

The allegation about fixtures is that occasionally one club drops another, without much warning, in order to take on opponents deemed more attractive.

Justifiable, of course. But everything should be done to avoid inconvenience for the club dropped.

THRUST-OUT ELBOW

As for rough play—well, use of thrust-out elbow or foot is not confined to Soccer.

Sometimes employed by winging forwards, beaten for the heel, to check breakaway by the opposing scrum-half. Early action was taken by the referee in one game which I watched. Would-be stoppers penalised for obstruction. No further trouble. English clubs scored off the Welsh "Big Three" on balance last weekend. True, Swansea beat Richmond as expected, but Blackheath 21, Newport 6, and Gloucester 13, Cardiff 9—these indeed, were surprising results.

And Blackheath would appear to be getting over their forward weakness.

Blackheath outside A. F. Coombe promises to be Johnny Kemp-like as a player who can fill many posts. He was a wing in R.M.A. team two years ago, centre three-quarter for the "Club" early this season, stand-off half against Newport in the absence of G. A. Walker.

The rival Services, Devonport and Portsmouth, should be value for a great games at Devonport next Saturday.

Both appear to be stronger than they were last season. U.S. (Portsmouth) revival particularly welcome after their bad time in 1935-6.

The return of Lieutenant W. Elliot as captain and stand-off half has made a lot of difference. I am told that he is in great form—which suggests cheery news for England.

Portsmouth may have advantage outside, looking to next Saturday, and Devonport forward.

OPEN TOURNAMENTS INEVITABLE

(Special To "Telegraph" By "Veritas")

SPEAKING with great earnestness, and choosing his words carefully and deliberately, William T. Tilden, the famous professional tennis player last evening told guests at a dinner held by the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association that the day of open tennis tournaments in which amateurs and professionals played together must surely come: that as an ex-amateur and now a professional he was convinced that the growth and betterment of tennis depended on the future co-operation between the amateur and professional players throughout the world;

that unless the International Federation and its members were prepared to drop their attitude towards professionalism, and to withdraw their present ban on the professional players, the large stadiums and playing arenas in which had been invested huge sums of money, would become White Elephants. National championships were in danger of being played before empty stands;

that he believed the time had come when the powerful voice of thousands of players all over the world would be lifted against the small body of officials of the International Federation which would demand open tournaments, and that possibly the holding of the tennis matches in Hongkong between himself and Vines, which were being conducted under the auspices of the Hongkong L.T.A., an amateur body, would be the thin edge of a driving wedge which would have its effect all over the world and make an important contribution towards open tournaments.

Mr. Ng Sze-kwong, President H.K.L.T.A., presided at the dinner held in the Roof Garden of the Hongkong Hotel at which W. T. Tilden, Ellsworth H. Vines and Mrs. Vines were the guests of honour, and in proposing the health of the two distinguished players, Mr. Ng said how gratified they were that Mr. Tilden and Mr. Vines had been kind enough to give public exhibitions. He felt sure that as a result of what they had seen, and also from what they had heard from Mr. Tilden at his lecture, that tennis players in Hongkong would derive considerable benefit. Years ago tennis in Europe and America was regarded as a "lady's game," but since the advent of players like the Doherty brothers, McLoughlin, Tilden and others it had become a game of great science and demanding perfect physical condition. It was a game which could be easily described, but the putting into effect of the principles-of-play was another thing. Nevertheless he could assure amateurs and professionals that their demonstrations in Hongkong would have a lasting effect on the game in the Colony.

After expressing appreciation of the gesture of the Hongkong L.T.A. in sponsoring the matches between him and Vines, Tilden said that such a gesture opened the way to the real solution of the amateur-professional problem.

"It has always been my belief both as an amateur, and now as a professional, that the game of tennis is a game to be played as much as possible, and that whether that game is played by amateurs or professionals does not make a great deal of difference so long as the traditions of the game are upheld."

TILDEN'S WARNING

Mr. Tilden continued that they who were amateurs, and had now become professionals, certainly had a very sincere desire to aid the growth and betterment of tennis both amateur and professional, and the only way that could be successfully done was through co-operation between the amateurs and professionals to the betterment of both games.

The present-day trend was that the leading amateurs were turning professional, and with the loss of these great stars the standard of the top flight amateurs deteriorate. The only way in which the standard of amateur tennis could be upheld was by making it possible for the rising young amateurs who were going to be great players in the very near future to meet those great amateur players of the immediate past who were now in the professional ranks.

"Young players such as Budge, Quist, McGrath, Hentel, and several young English players like Hare, Wilde and Tackey, if they are ever to become the players they really should become, must meet, in competition, such masters of the game as Cochet, Vines and Perry—because Perry passes from the amateur ranks this year."

"Even such stars as Austin and Von Cramm cannot improve if their sole competition is going to be between themselves."

Mr. Tilden went on to say that unless the national Lawn Tennis Associations were prepared to co-operate between the amateurs and professionals, the large investments made in such places like Stade Roland Garros, Forest Hills, and so forth, and the huge stadiums they had built would be empty and would prove to be nothing but White Elephants. He was convinced that more and more leading amateurs

London, Oct. 19.

Cambridge rowing now shows a tendency to swing back again to the position from which Oxford has veered. The 1936 race was not a satisfactory performance from a domestic point of view. There was much imperfect achievement partially hidden under the charitable smearing that swiftness can provide in the case of men who are not wholly convinced of their efficiency, or else not really versed in their use.

The fact that the Olympic crew under the Cambridge President's direction reverted to fixed pins for the Herlin Games is significant of this uneasy state, and it is highly probable that 1937 may see Cambridge on fixed pins and Oxford on swivels.

It is a thousand pities that Laurie will not be able to carry out this absorbing experiment, for Cambridge had in him an outstanding President as well as a superb oarsman.

But Lennon (Third Trinity), who now takes the reins, may be regarded as a definitely convinced adherent who will carry out the tactics and strategy envisaged by his late chief.

An unofficial view of the coaching is that it will be a blend of ideas which have gone to the making of Hargraves regime, and of the two which followed.

SCHOOL HOCKEY

Ellis Kadoorie Beat Queen's College

The Ellis Kadoorie Indian School hockey team defeated Queen's College in an exciting game played on the Radio Sports Club ground at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon by two goals to nil.

In spite of their small stature, the Indian school players put up a fine show and led by a goal to nil in the first half.

Telik Singh, their centre-forward, was the outstanding player in the team. Sarwan Singh and Narndin Singh were the best players for the losers.

DECORATED BY

An interesting and probably unique ceremony for this Colony took place at the residence of the French Consul-General M. J. Leurgan yesterday, when His Excellency Vice-Admiral J. P. Esteva, Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far East, bestowed orders conferred by His Majesty Bao Dai, Emperor of Annam.

Excellent arrangements had been made for the ceremony of investiture and the band of the French Flagship, the cruiser Lamotte Piquet, provided a musical programme throughout. The presence of the Flagship with Vice-Admiral Esteva aboard was singularly opportune and the officers of the Lamotte Piquet, Armand and Lamotte Piquet, supplemented the gathering of the French and Chinese communities.

The Admiral and the Consul General were supported by the presence of Capt. R. de Badens, Commandant of the French gunboat Argus and Commander of the West River Flotilla; and M. C. Renet, Vice-Consul. The recipients stood before a table on which the certificates and decorations were lying as M. Leurgan addressed the assembly.

The Consul General said: "Admiral, Ladies and Gentlemen, I beg to be forgiven by our guests of honour as well as by my countrymen, if I use the English language instead of their own or our own; but, it will be a means to associate in some way our British friends with the ceremony we are holding in this beautiful Colony."

If it would be too pompous to say that this ceremony is a historic one, it is fair to assume that it is an unprecedented one, as never before, if I am correct, were five gentlemen in Hongkong, nor in China, invested at the same time with Indo-Chinese decorations.

These five gentlemen, as you know, are:

Captain Major, Chief of Police of Macao, made an Officer of the Order of Million Elephants and White Parasol;

M. Chan Sul-ky, distinguished scholar, as well as prominent business man, made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Kwok Chan, Comptroller of the Banque de l'Indochine made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Lam Chi-fung, representative of the Chatterboxes du Tonkin, made a Knight of the Order of Dragon of Annam.

M. Sequeira, Chief of Criminal Intelligence Service of Macao, made a Knight of the Order of Million Elephants and White Parasol.

Policy Of Peace

To each and all of them, on behalf of H. E. the Governor-General of Indo-China, as well as of the French community, I extend my warm congratulations.

It would certainly be against the wishes of these gentlemen to eulogise them at length for the work they have performed and the services they have rendered to Indo-China; but I will certainly do so with their desire if I invite this distinguished gathering to see, through their persons, meritorious as they are, the great nations of which they are the sons; to discern, above the decorations, the spirit which has prompted their bestowal.

One single word sums up all the foreign policy of France: peace; peace; not dealt out with a bludgeon, but instilled in the hearts by genuine friendship.

This programme is very easy to announce; we must admit that it is sometimes difficult to be put into practice. At last, it is gratifying to see how it is endorsed and reciprocated amongst others by our friends of Great Britain, Portugal and China.

Nor in Europe, nor in Asia, have Portugal and France any common frontier; but, much better, they have in common their Latin ancestry. Moreover, in this part of the world, Portugal is entitled to the gratitude of all, foreigners and Chinese, for the splendid spirit of energy and wisdom of the great navigators who, many centuries ago, opened to European thought and business new roads towards the then quite unknown Cathay. Whites or Yellows, we are indebted to the pioneers who founded and maintained Macao.

Quiet Frontier

Geographically, the situation is absolutely different as far as China is concerned. Over thousands of li, she has a common border with the France of Asia, with Indo-China. On no other of her frontiers have less incidents occurred during the last years. The calm which prevails there derives from deliberate spirit of cordiality which inspires both the local Chinese and Indian authorities, both the Chinese and French Governments.

To be real friends, and must first know of each other perfectly well. Allow me to take this opportunity of expressing the wish that Chinese as well as French make a serious effort in that direction. Of course, I am aware of the interest extended by the Chinese community towards the economic development of Indo-China; but, still, I think that more should be done to discover and appreciate the true French spirit; and on the other hand, I hasten to add, as a deep conviction, that many more Frenchmen from Indo-China, officials or unofficials, would have much to learn and profit by a direct study of the conditions in South China. A trip to Hong-kong, Macao and Canton is a pleasure to the eye and a benefit to the mind. Let me hope that what is now a mere wish will soon become a daily reality, and that better knowledge will lead to better standing and better understanding to ever increasing unity.

Naval Friends

Ladies and Gentlemen,—We are honoured to-day by the presence amongst us of the Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far East, Admiral Esteva. To the Frenchmen abroad, the arrival of a ship holding our glorious tricolor is always a matter of emotion and rejoicing; it means for them a maternal caress of their beloved country; it means, for the foreign peoples a message of goodwill and friendship. But, nowhere more than in the Far East is the French Navy so closely associated with the glory and influence of France. Nobody amidst us could ignore how the great Admirals of the last century organised Cochinchina; nobody could forget what heroism the French sailors, when necessity arose, displayed to protect their countrymen; nobody could overlook that the friendly spirit extended to France by China is for a good part, the result of the cordial relations existing in the great ports between the local authorities and our Naval Officers; here as in the Metropole, the both powerful but pacific French Navy is, with the Army, the sacred pillar of the Fatherland.

Therefore, it is but fair to have the Navy participating in the friendly gathering of to-day; and, since Admiral Esteva has very kindly consented to present himself to the incumbents, the insignia of the Indo-Chinese Orders, I dare say, Gentlemen, that it is really France herself who will just now bestow on you the decorations you have so well deserved.

Admiral's Speech

His Excellency then planned the decoration on each of the recipients and congratulated them warmly. The Admiral said: "I am very pleased to be here this afternoon, because this ceremony is in itself a manifestation of friendship and unity between the countries of France, China, Portugal and Britain. I wish with everybody else that the nations of the world will come together in good agreement."

Recently I was at lunch in Shanghai when the Royal Air Force Association President made a speech and in answer to him I said that the best asset of a Nation was peace. We must all—Army, Navy and Air Force—do all we can to this end and, if war is inevitable, it is our duty to act so that our Governments will have confidence in us. The best way to enforce peace is to convince the other Nations of our good faith and of our determination to play fair in all our negotiations, diplomatic and commercial. We must not try to gain peace by violence or by annexing the wealth of other Nations. I am sure that the many British Officers with whom I am acquainted will agree with me as will those of other nationalities."

This concluded the official part of the ceremony and the guests then dispersed to partake of the refreshments which had been provided.

Amongst those present were the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotevali, Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau, Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, Dr. and Mrs. Li Shiu-fan, Mr. Peter H. Sin, Miss Helena Yue, Mr. Kan Tsung-po, Mr. and Mrs. Fung Ping-fan, M. Laborinhe, relatives of the recipients and many others.

Mr. Lam Chi-fung
The Emperor of Annam was graciously pleased to acknowledge the splendid services of Mr. Lam Chi-fung in negotiating the China-Indo-China Commercial Treaty which replaces the old Treaty expired in 1930. When that Treaty came to an end, China and Indo-China were constantly raising tariff walls against each other causing ill-feeling and hampering trade considerably.

Under the sponsorship of the Swatow Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Lam spent three weeks in Nanking and, in collaboration with Mr. Wang Ching-wel, China's Minister of Foreign Affairs, and other officials, successfully concluded a new understanding which has benefited thousands in both countries. Mr. Wang Ching-wel expressed his appreciation of Mr. Lam's help by presenting him with a eulogistic scroll.

Keenly interested in the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Mr. Lam was one of those who welcomed His Excellency the Governor to this Colony. At present Vice-President of the movement here, he is also one of the Trustees of the Pui To Girls' Middle School, a Trustee of the Pui Ching Boys' Middle School of Canton, and maintains from his own funds the Kin Kay Free Schools at his home district of Swatow.

Amongst other interests, Mr. Lam is founder of the China Motor Bus Company, the New Asia Hotel Co., Ltd., a partner in the large rice firm of Yong Hong Long and managing director of Messrs. See Wai and Co.

Mr. Chan Sul-ki

Mr. Chan Sul-ki is the Managing Director of the Kwong Hing Hing which has rice mills in Saigon. He is the son of the late Mr. Chan Ching-po and a native of Sun Wui District of the Province of Kwang-tung. He is known as one of the leading importers and millers of Saigon Rice but is not only a rice merchant but an inventor, as he has invented the To Tse System of short-hand which a foreigner can learn in three hours. He has also invented artificial jade, marble, etc., and his latest invention is artificial silk made from a Chinese fibre or plant. His charities over a period of years amount to over one million dollars and he recently donated over fifty thousand dollars for the Hoang Ho Flood Relief.

Mr. Kwok Chan

Mr. Kwok Chan, the second son of the late Mr. Kwok Shiu-lau, well known in sporting circles, being twice President of the Chinese Bathing Club. He has been Comptroller of the Banque de l'Indo-China since 1920, having entered the Bank's service in 1924. He is also Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of the Chinese Police Reserve Force Committee, a member of the Committee of the Street Boys' Club, joint Hon. Secretary of the University Women's Hostel Committee, a member of the Committee of the Compradores' Association and the Committee of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, Vice-President of the St. John Ambulance Brigade and Association, a former director of the Tung Wah and Eastern Hospitals, an ex-director of the Po Leung Kuk, and joint Hon. ### CINEMA NOTES

One of the most uproarious laugh riots of the year is now at the King's Theatre, with the release of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Piccadilly Jim," starring Robert Montgomery. Of all the hilarious comedies written by the brilliant British humorist, P. G. Wodehouse, "Piccadilly Jim" has been proclaimed his funniest. The picture brings together for the first time in three years the romantic team of Montgomery and Madge Evans. They were last seen together in "Lovers Courageous." Directed by Robert Z. Leonard, who made "The Great Ziegfeld," the new picture gives Montgomery and Miss Evans the stellar supporting cast that includes a new comedy team, Frank Morgan and Billie Burke, in addition to Eric Blore, Robert Benchley, Ralph Forbes, Cora Witherspoon, Grant Mitchell, Aileen Pringle and Billy Bevan. "Piccadilly Jim" is the story of a young American caricaturist in London who plunges into romantic difficulties by unknowingly burlesquing in a comic strip the family of the girl with whom he is in love. The settings of London and New York and the trans-Atlantic steamer backgrounds are described as among the most beautiful by Cedric Gibbons. Harry Rapf was the producer.

"The Road to Glory"

The great love drama of the great war "The Road to Glory," 20th Century Fox production closes to-day at the Queen's and Alhambra Theatres reveals itself as one of the outstanding cinema achievements of the year. Painted against a background of the seething kaleidoscope of battle, no-man's land, and war-torn France, the film depicts love in all its phases—love of heart-starved fighting men; love of women who can only wait; love of a soldier father and hero son; love of a cause they all must serve; love of what our world calls Glory. Vibrantly enacted by an impressive cast including Fredric March, Warner Baxter, Lionel Barrymore, June Lang and Gregory Ratoff, the film tells a robust, dramatic story, and maintains an intense suspense from beginning to end. "You don't see" "The Road to Glory"—you live it. All the strangeness of this drama, the might of its emotion, the fire of its stars, get you, deep down inside. Directed by Howard Hawks.

"Singing Kid"

The new Al Jolson musical comedy "The Singing Kid" is now at the Majestic Theatre. To those who know their movies in general and Al Jolson films in particular, nothing more is needed than this brief statement, for Al, like good wine, gets better as years follow years—retaining all the youthful vigour for which he has been famous for decades, and gaining in whimsicality, stage craft and qualities of entertainment. Never was Jolson in better voice, nor has he ever shown more pep and vivacity, than in singing the tuneful airs of this piece and in frolicking through the riotous comedy situations. Among others, he sings with little Sybil Jason, the six-year-old child wonder, who not only has an excellent voice, but is a rare imitator and a capable and understanding actress. Beverly Roberts, who plays opposite Jolson in the feminine lead, is new to the screen, having just recently been a sensation on Broadway. Claude Rains is capable and coldly beautiful in the role of the siren whose gold-digging proclivities and fickleness puts the singing kid on the rocks. Edward Everett Horton, as Jolson's secretary, Allen

Tilden and Vines, who made use of the latest model Cadillac Convertible Phaeton, for their personal transportation during their two-day visit to Shanghai.

CHARITY FUNDS RESPONSE TO THE POPPY DAY APPEAL

The British Legion Employment Department has persevered in its efforts to obtain openings for disabled men as car park attendants under the British Legion schemes. There are now some 50 towns throughout Britain where these schemes are in operation.

The local Poppy Day Fund stands as follows:

Previously acknowledged	$4,387
H.K. & Shanghai Banking Corporation	50
K. S. Morrison	50
Alfred Morris	50
Club Lusitano	50
Total	$4,482

Further contributions will be gratefully received by Mr. F. G. Maunders, Secretary to Earl Hall's Fund, York Bldg., Hongkong. Cheques should be made payable to Thomson & Co., and crossed "Poppy Day Fund."

Jenkins, in his valet, and Jack Durant and Frank Mitchell, the famous Broadway comedians, furnish much of the relishing fun of the piece.

"Blockade"

Destroyers, torpedo boats, cruisers, tramp steamers, choppers, liners, dinghies and submarines are included in the cast of the new British film, "Blockade," whilst the most outstanding personality appearing in the picture is Earl Jellicoe, who kindly consented to make a personal appearance in this New Era owing to the great importance of the subject with which it deals—the British Mystery Fleet, which did so much towards breaking the back of the U-boat menace. Other outstanding scenes in this film are the landing in Ireland of the first U.S. officer on active service, the sinking of the "Amy" by gunfire from a submarine, and the sinking of the U-boat 99 by the crew of the "Stockforce," the blowing up of a submarine in the Sempa Flow minefield; and the spectacular sea scenes caused by the firing of depth charges. The film is now showing at the Central Theatre.

VISIT TO SHING MUN OUTING OF EURO-AMERICAN RETURNED STUDENTS

The members of the Euro-American Returned Students' Union of Hongkong paid a visit to the Shing Mun Dam on Sunday. Special permission for the visit was issued by Mr. G. B. Gifford-Hull, resident engineer of the Shing Mun Valley water scheme. A total of 28 cars started from the Star Ferry car park, Kowloon, at 2.30 p.m., led by Mr. J. P. English of the Shing Mun water works, and arrived at the works at 3 p.m., being met by Mr. Bercovitich and Mr. Sanderson, two of the engineers.

The party then split up into two groups, one led by Mr. Sanderson and the other by Mr. Bercovitich, both of whom must have had a busy time answering questions by those members who were interested in the engineering projects, and who were obviously graduates in engineering from Europe and America. A feature of the outing was the large number of ladies present.

After inspecting various parts of the works, the party of some 130 people sat down to tea at 4.30 p.m. and had a most enjoyable afternoon. They left at 5 p.m. The entire committee and almost every member of the Union attended the picnic.

The next function of the Union this season is a dinner dance to be held at the Hongkong Hotel on Wednesday, December 9, and the committee are also arranging a hiking picnic and other outings to take place some time in January.

The Oriental Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. It is a sparkling happy comedy, and contains all the famous song hits associated with this play. Bing Crosby, the singing star, is the feature attraction, and carried off honours with his breezy style of acting and singing. The high point of the picture, vocally, is a set of parodies on "You're the Top," which he and Ethel Merman sing, and which evoke surprise and delight. Others in the cast of players are Charlie Ruggles, Ida Lupino and Grace Bradley. In addition to the song hits associated with its name, the picture has new songs by Cole Porter and others. The direction is by Lewis Milestone, and the dance routines were elaborated by LeRoy Prinz.

Guide to buying a pipe

WHAT sort of pipe do you usually buy? If you are a young blood you probably buy a light, round-bowled one. Parsons like S-shaped stems and large bowls. The King smokes a small apple-shaped bowl.

General tendency is to buy heavier pipes as you get older, ending up with something massive on the end of a curved stem.

But it does not matter much about the shape, the important thing is the grain. The ideal pipe has a grain running straight from top to bottom of the bowl all the way round, ending in a bird's eye at the bottom.

These are made by hand from specially selected wood. If they were made by machine you would not get more than about one really first-class straight-grained pipe in ten pipes.

Not more than one in twelve machine-made pipes is of premier quality.

Absolute minimum to pay for a good straight-grained pipe, unless you are very lucky, is about $5. In swank shops you pay $25.

Breaking-in

Good pipes are often sold without being coloured. That is because they go a dark, rich colour after being smoked. Cheap pipes have to be stained.

Good pipes are often massive to look at, but always light in the mouth. That is because every drop of sap has been allowed to drain out.

Straight-grained pipes break in quickly. They do not char, but develop a thin layer of carbon which helps the smoke.

Some manufacturers break pipes in artificially with machines which smoke them. Others paint a layer of carbon round the bowl.

In filling your pipe use the third finger to press the tobacco down. It is the weakest in your hand and is more likely to give the correct pressure.

You can learn plenty about buying pipes from watching them being made. In one little East End shop they make them in the window.

Watch the putty

Most pipes are made from bruyere wood, which comes from the roots of small, bush-like trees in Algeria, Corsica, and Spain.

When you ask for a briar-wood pipe the joke is on you. There is no such thing. "Briar" is a corruption of bruyere. Good bruyere is not so plentiful as it was.

If you buy a cheap pipe pick one with as little putty in it as possible. Holes are filled with putty, and it makes the pipe smoke hot.

If any one tries to sell you a "hand-made" pipe with four grip marks inside the bowl, tell him that he has been misled. Grip marks mean machine made.

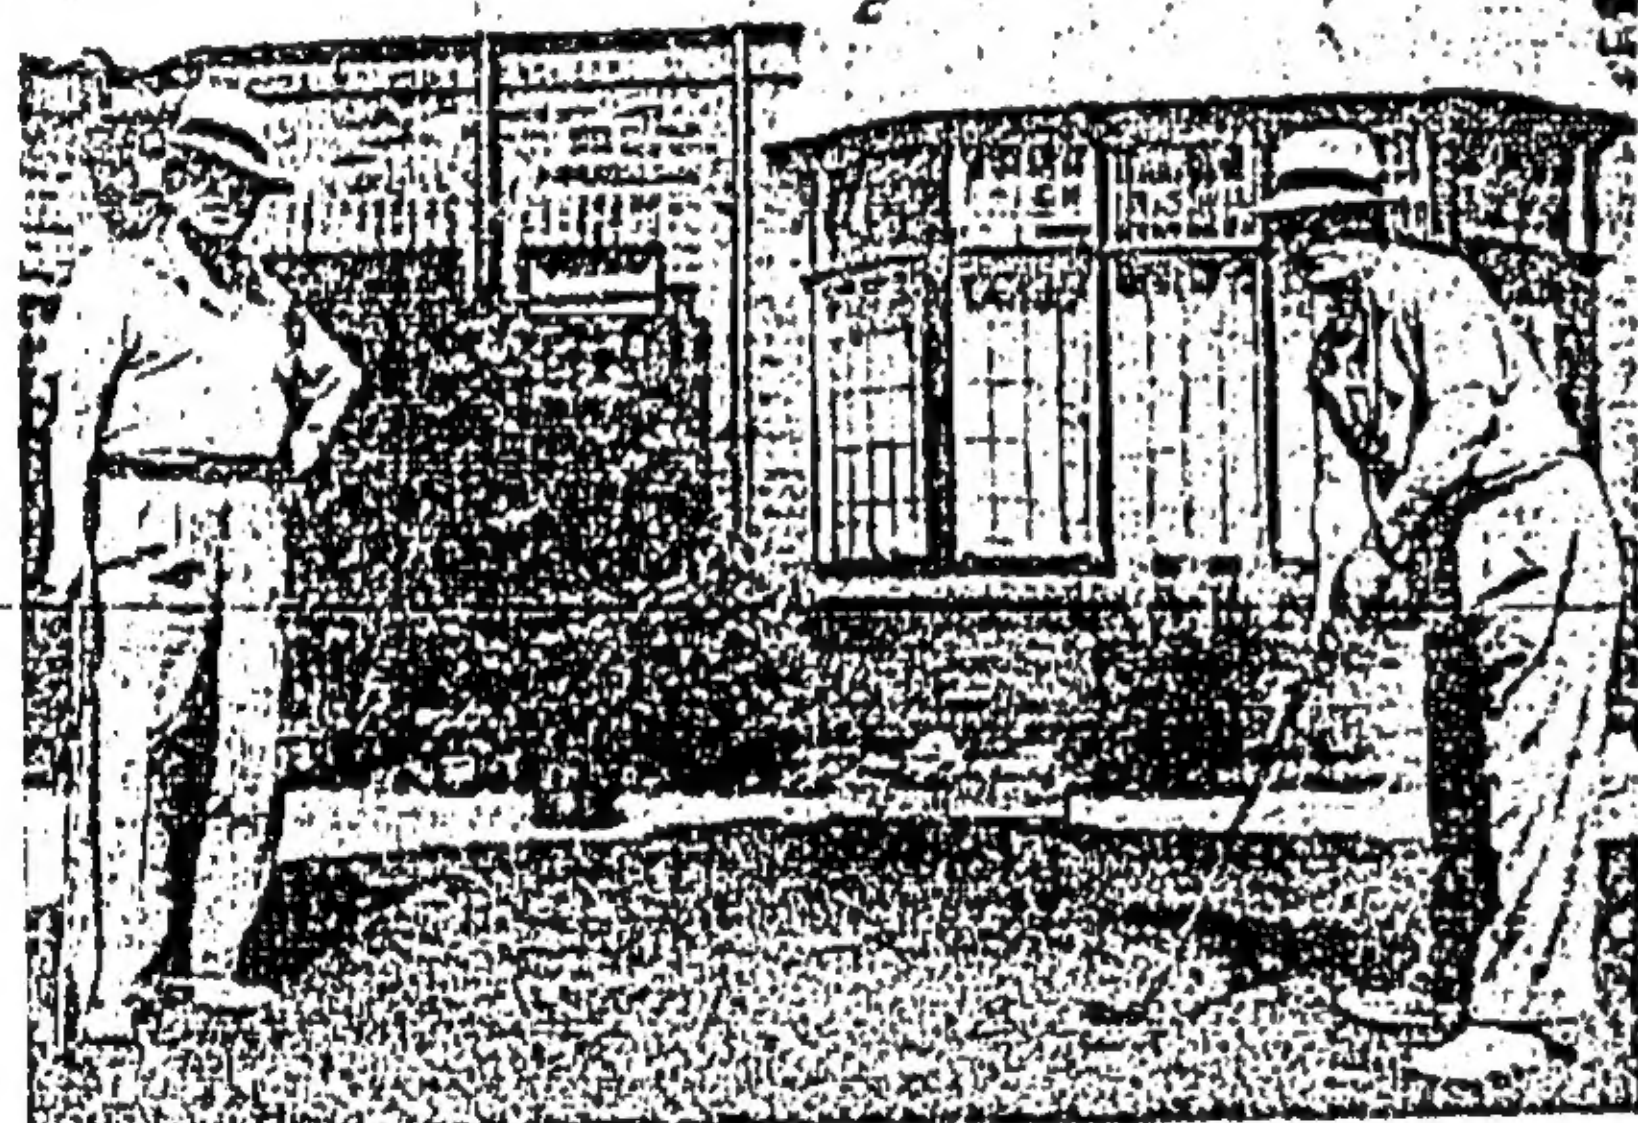

"Tendency is to buy heavier pipes as you get older, ending up with something massive."

How to snap yourself looking at yourself

FOR men whose hobby is photography here is an amusing trick worth trying. The trick is to make two exposures on one negative.

The only thing that is necessary is a cover to fit over half the lens. This can be made out of cardboard or a tin bottle stopper. It fits loosely over one side of the lens.

Take your snap, then swivel the cover round to the other side of the lens and take another snap.

Of course, to get the correct continuity of the background the camera must be placed on a stand.

Inquisitive

NEWS FROM TARTARY, by Peter Fleming (Jonathan Cape, 12s. 6d.). Excellent story of a most enterprising journey over the shoulder of Asia, from Peking to Srinagar, in India. Makes you feel at home in what for most of us is just a streak on the map. Mr. Fleming was accompanied on his adventures by Miss Ella Mallart, a fellow journalist. They got on well because she had "a certain friendly contempt" for him, and he "a sneaking respect" for her. The "news" is contained in a discussion of Russia's aims in the province of Sinking.

Idle

BOOKSMITHS, by Seiden Truss (Hodder and Stoughton, 7s. 6d.). Blackmail, murder and love. Not too convincing, but passable. The Elder Statesman speaks "in suave tones". The girl is called Ann, and her smile sets hearts jumping.

THE DARK WATERS, by William

Corcoran (Hodder and Stoughton, 7s. 6d.). Fantastic thriller of American gangsters running arms to imaginary, revolutionary European State. Smuggling, water-front piracy, gang feuds, and killings in New York saloons.

Criminological

LORD DARLING'S FAMOUS CASES, by Dudley Barker (Hutchinson, 6s. 6d.). A workmanlike reconstruction of outstanding trials before the famous judge who died this year. Dispassionate consideration of murder and other crimes, illumined by the personality of one of the most provocative occupants of the Bench.

ROUND ABOUT

The Showman

NOW I know why people do not pelt me with roses and climb screaming over policemen to ask me to sign their autograph books. . . . It is because I lack navy blue eyelashes.

A beautiful French actress has arrived in London. She is described as having a face "so naturally beautiful that it needed but the plainest frame, the slightest trace of make-up."

Well, that is my face all over. My face, too, is "heart-shaped, with a pale luminous skin and greenish eyes."

But it is stated that this actress would be "unrecognisable as a film star" were it not for "her navy blue eyelashes."

Just that little touch! And its absence has deprived me all these years of the glamour I crave. . . . Oh, I wish I had navy blue eyelashes.

Real Hollywood make-em-all-sigh lashes!
I would then have a chance Of some flaming romance Instead of Fate's usual-style ashes!

Note for Mars

WHENEVER a good old story comes rosenary, I hasten to crown it with

Years ago General Sir Archibald Pottinger-Doddie, who counted no battle won with dirty buttons, remarked, "Now that the war is over we can get back to real soldiering."

And this week a staff officer is quoted as saying that, if the First Division stays in Palestine for more than a few months, next year's Tattos may be seriously interfered with—among the minor effects of this exit is the disruption of the whole of the Army's sporting calendar.

Will the Martian observer kindly note the British temperament as reflected in the above? And will he also compare it with the prevailing military mind on the Continent?

Figures At Forty

ROUND about forty you probably did, will, or do feel more than a little apprehensive about the future of your figure. You should not gain more than ten pounds between the ages of forty and fifty-five. If you gain much more than that it means you are eating more than is warranted by the amount of exercise you take. Up to twenty-five excess weight does not matter much. After thirty it is bad for you to be more than fifteen pounds overweight. After forty the relation between overweight and mortality rates becomes unpleasantly marked. That layer of flabbiness over your body may be comfortable, but do not encourage it. It weakens the muscles and gives a lot more work to the heart. Try to diet and exercise your way back to normal.
